1990 Dairy Of Distinction Families Meet At Ag Progress

The Dairy of Distinction program held their annual fraternal gathering on Wednesday afternoon in the special events building at Ag Progress Days. Persons who attended the meeting had the opportunity to see the color photographic prints taken by members of the local districts and provided by Lancaster Farming. President Dan Baker introduced the 1990 winners and presented the Dairy of Distinction Person-Of-The-Year Award to Everett Newswanger, managing editor, "In appreciation for your work as a founding member of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Dairy Of Distinction."

After the meeting, the families of the 1990 winners gathered on the bank barn hill for this group photograph.

Moore Addresses Government Luncheon At Ag Progress

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

ROCKSPRING (Center Co.) — "The American farmer and the Pennsylvania farmer are the world's most efficient," said Lew Moore, PSU professor of ag economics. "In free markets, I think we could, with good profit, provide the world with food at far lower prices than the taxes paid by Europeans and Japanese to keep their 'peasant' farmers in business."

In a speech to the luncheon meeting of government officials and invited guests during Wednesday at Ag Progress Days, Moore listed competition as one of the eight problems he, as an economist, sees in the future of agriculture.

"I think that's why we are having problems in the GATT talks. Everyone knows this (that we are the most efficient farmers in the world) and they are stalling for time. They know they will lose their agriculture when they take the trade barriers down."

Moore listed seven other factors in the future of agriculture — environment, including water, animal wastes, food safety and ag land preservation — and fat, biotechnology, Eastern Europe, and energy.

—Environment: water has two major problems in the US. Quantity and quality. We now live in an urban society where the farmer still gets most of the water. The old politics of water was where can we build a dam for irrigation at taxpayer's expense. The new politics of water considers the environmental impact on the filled canyon when covered with water. New Mexico did a study that put the val-

Lancaster Man Takes Two Titles In Hay Show

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — A Lancaster County man whose name is almost becoming synonymous with quality hay in his home area has expanded his reputation by showing his skill in hay making by taking two of three section titles during Ag Progress Days competitions this week.

R. Edwin Harnish, of 1586 Georgetown Road, Christiana, took one section champion title with an entry of second-cut alfalfa in the field-cured, hay-making section. He also took a champion title for an entry of second-cut alfalfa in the heat-treated section.

The other section competition was for hay that had been treated with a chemical preservative. That champion entry was submitted by Kenneth Baldner, 3442 Pioneer Drive, Franklin County.

Over the past several years, the Harnish name has been an upcoming name to those attending local Lancaster County hay shows. Now the state Farm Show appears to be his next field of review.

In his 25 years farming this was his second time he entered the Ag Progress show.

Harnish said he has entered hay during the past couple Farm Shows and taken sub-prime placings. But he may fare better this year.

He is well on his way.

According to officials with the Pennsylvania State University, who organize the Ag Progress Hay Show, all entries submitted to them are automatically fowarded and qualified for state Farm Show competition.

However, even though Harnish did well during this past first round of judging, he is not a shoe-in for a top premium placing at the Farm Show. Two different judges have been known to come up with two different results and placings.

Lester Vough, hay judge for Ag Progress Days Hay Show, said he did his decision making on almost three days worth of analysis.

Vough said he judged all 122 entries first on appearance, color to be exact. Then he looked for the amount of leaves still retained in the sample.

Five entries per class were retained for a closer look, the

Visitors Find Wealth Of Research

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROCKSPRING (Center Co.) — The work under way at the Russell E. Larson Agriculture Research Center may one day provide some big answers to some tough questions. Some of the research was presented to visitors at the annual Ag Progress Days this week.

Researchers ask: Can we increase plant yields and quality on cultivars of many vegetables, fruits, and other production crops? Can we do this while maintaining better disease and pest control? And in the end, can we reduce the amount of chemicals used in the production of food?

Keeping the importance of the environment and the quality of the food in balance may be a tough enterprise. But the research being done at the center may shed some light on boosting ag productivity and, at the same time, keep the environment healthy.

The following are a sampling of research projects that visitors to Ag Progress Days saw during regular half-hour tours of the center:

- Trellis systems. Different types of European and American fruit tree trellis systems are under research at the center. A high density orchard features from 622 to 1,400 trees per acre.
- Hulless oats. Hulless oat seedstock is being studied for market viability.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, August 15, 1990

NORTHEAST BROILER/FRYER PARTS: PART 1 OF 2: FEDERAL-STATE Trucklot buying interest slowed and was generally light and cautious. Supplies and offerings of skinned boneless breasts were adequate and in fairly good balance. Whole breasts were adequate to fully adequate and in the tighter supply from yellow shippers; Southern supplies were noted as slow in clearing. Leg items were fully adequate to ample. Wings were at least adequate overall.

Delmarva Broiler Fryer Market

Wednesday, August 15, 1990

Movement of ready to cook whole fryers was good today, better than expected for mid-week, however, some sellers reported trading was slow getting started. Supplies were in good balance with current needs. Less than trucklot asking prices were steady at 56-70 cents. Live supplies were adequate. Average live weights were in a full range. Processing schedules were heavy. The trade sentiment was generally steady. In the parts complex, all items were adequate for immediate needs.

New York & Philadelphia Frozen Eggs

Tuesday, August 14, 1990

Prices trended lower but trading remained light. Buyers continued to limit purchases to immediate needs. Raw materials, though available in instances, were attracting little or no interest as most breakers had sufficient supplies with normal commitments to maintain desired schedules. Floor stocks were adequate to fully adequate.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

AUG. 20-26, 1990

Aug. 24th fair and clear: a prosperous Autumn.

Aug 22, 1816 killing frosts, New England Aug 24, A D 79, Mt Vesuvius erupts in Italy burning the cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum Aug 25, 1635, hurricane hits Plymouth Colony, causing 20-foot tides Aug 26, 1920, women gain the right to vote as the 19th Amendment to the Constitution is ratified When caught by a tempest who ever it be if it lightens and thunders beware of a tree

Ask the Old Farmer: Do you know where or how the saying about cows lying down and it's going to rain came from? E B, N H

Some place where they had cows — they do you know, and it does!

Home Hints In dry hot weather water the lawn well once a week — it s better than several shallow sprinklings

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Rain begins the week, heavy in the south, cool temperatures Rain changing to scattered showers and becoming warmer Finally hot and clear

Greater New York-New Jersey: Heavy rain and cooler with a sudden, midweek switch to clear and hot Showers with locally heavy rain return for the weekend

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Showers in the north change to thundershowers in the west with sprinkles in the east Then seasonable with more rain, heavy west

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal. It's hot and wet this week Hot with rain in the south Then heavy showers regionwide, diminishing to scattered showers

OPINION

Maybe A Home Run

If it's not one thing, it's another. Cholesterol. Avian Flu. Salmonella.

The curve balls, as well as the sinkers and sliders, keep on bean-balling the poultry industry. But now may be the time to swing at something more positive.

Last year, great publicity was properly given to the revision of cholesterol values of large eggs. The USDA Handbook lowered the readings on cholesterol values from 274 to 213 milligrams. That's good news. But in addition, the fat content was lowered from 5.45 to 5.01 grams, an eight percent reduction. According to Dr. W. J. Stadelman, an even more important fact is that the reduction is all in saturated and monounsaturated fatty acids. This is especially important because both the American Heart Association and the American Medical Association have put more emphasis on total fat and shifting to a higher percentage of polyunsaturated fatty acids. To have these associations support what's good about eggs, is good news.

Maybe this positive but not publicized attibute of eggs should now be brought to bat for the egg industry. Who knows. We may get a home run out of this.

Editor:

If you are a person that loves new challenges and opportunities then chances are the grange has something for you. Recently I had the chance to listen to President Bush at the White House and this never would have happened if not for the Grange. The talk was part of a conference for youth leaders and consisted of White House staff talking to us about different problems facing America today.

Judge Reggie Williams, the Associate Director of the Office of National Drug Control Policy, was our first speaker and he gave us an update on the drug problem in America and what we can do to rid this poison from our country.

Lewis S. Crampton, Associate Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency was our next speaker and he reminded us that the environment is a global problem that needs a lot of hard work to turn around. He urged everyone to take action now including precycling, thinking before you buy, and reminding us that the solution to pollution is not dilution.

During Crampton's talk Secret Service agents filled the room and the national press corp started to arrive and everyone knew what was about to happen. A few seconds later President George Bush entered the room and you then knew that the president was very

To Be Alert For Silo Gas

We are fast approaching silo filling time; in fact many farmers are servicing their equipment now. This is one of the best methods of harvesting the corn crop to obtain maximum feed nutrients. With our large tower silos, the danger of poisonous gases becomes more important. We urge our farmers to discuss this hazard with their employees and all family members. These gases can develop from one day to 14 days after the silo is filled. Most of the gases have a chlorine - laundry bleach odor and irritate the eyes and respiratory system. Some are yellow and some are colorless. Don't take any chances — warn all your people of this danger.

Never enter a partly filled silo without running the blower for at least 15 minutes. These gases are heavier than air and will come down the chute and into the barn. Be careful around recently filled silos. For more information on how your lungs are affected, contact the local American Lung Association.

To Be Aware Of Nitrates In Feed

Two main sources of nitrates for animals are feed and water. Nitrates in water seems to get the most attention, but the greatest risk of nitrate toxicity generally is from feed, according to Glenn Shirk, Extension Dairy Agent.

The level of nitrates in feed is affected by a number of things: Soil nitrogen levels, weather conditions and stressors that affect plant's ability to metabolize nitrates and convert them to plant protein.

Our soils are well fertilized and high in nitrogen, so we are more vulnerable. Crops growing on these soils take up large quantities of nitrates, especially plants such as many weeds, and annual crops such as corn, grasses and small grains. Levels of accumulated nitrates in plants can be high a few days after a drought recovery rain. Keep in mind, it takes time for plants to metabolize these nitrates and convert them to plant protein. It takes even longer if plants are stressed and plant metabolism is impaired by cloudy days, drought and injury.

To Apply Lime When Seeding Small Grain

Preparation is being made for fall wheat and barley seeding. This is an excellent time to apply lime. A soil test will indicate how much per acre, if needed. This is doubly important if you plan to seed a grass-legume mixture next spring.

Many times a clover or alfalfa producer will wait until spring to have lime applied to his field. This is not the best way to obtain a good stand. Lime needs up to six months to react in the soil and correct the acidity.

If soil needs lime, it should be worked into the topsoil when the small grain seedbed is being prepared. Legume seedings are costly; be sure the soil is between 6.8 to 7.0 pH so they have a good chance to survive.

To Prepare For Local Fairs

We are rapidly approaching the time for local fairs. These times should be happy events - but once in a while they are not because planning was not done ahead of time. This is the time to take necessary precautions to help prevent the possibility of your taking disease to the fair with your animal or bringing infection home to your farm.

Many fairs require health charts and specific tests or vaccination for animals and poultry. Be sure to read the health requirements carefully. And, it doesn't hurt to be more strict then what the regulations may require.

Animals or poultry with any form of ailment should be left at home.

When animals or poultry leave the fair and go home, it is important to have a place where you can isolate them and observe them closely for a period of time before returning them to their herdmates. If in doubt, consult your veterinarian for advice.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHO'S THE WISE GUY?

August 19, 1990

Background Scripture:
James 1:1-8; 3:1 through 4:12
Devotional Reading:
Isaiah 40:1-11.

Recently, we were vacationing in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico. I was looking for a particular program on satellite television. By chance, I picked up a program from the USA featuring a well-known television evangelist ministry. The host of the program was in the process of introducing a man he described as "a very learned, knowledgeable and wise scholar of religion." I decided to linger on this channel for a few moments to hear this man. The speaker, a distinguished man with several important academic degrees, read a passage of scripture and then launched into a tirade of abuse directed at the followers of some other religious groups and persuasions. He seemed to delight in finding obscure passages from the Bible upon which to skewer these people, their beliefs and practices, which he scorned.

HOW LEARNED?

So, when I read the designated passages from the Epistle of James, I couldn't help remembering this man and his billing as "a very learned, knowledgeable and wise scholar of religion," for he seemed to violate everything that James says. For example, this man completely overlooked the good things that were done by those whom he criticized.

James wrote: "Every good endowment and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights...." (2:17). It is one thing to be critical of what others say and do, but to write them off as worthless in God's sight is a dreadful mistake. One cannot be all that wise if he or she cannot recognize good in whomever and wherever it may appear. To do so would be to deny the presence of God in this world. As James says, God is the source of all good.

The Apostle James also gives us another guideline: "Who is wise and understanding among you? By his good life let him show his works in the meekness of wisdom" (3:13). If a person's "wisdom" is arrogant and haughty — as ours so often is — then it cannot be true wisdom. If anyone is truly wise, then they will be meek and humble. True learning does not puff us up with what we know, but makes us humble in the face of what we realize we do not know. That doesn't keep me from thinking that I have discovered something, so long as I don't assume I have discovered it all and that you have discovered nothing. Once again we measure a person's wisdom by the way he or she treats other people.

REALLY WISE

James goes on to make it even clearer: "But the wisdom from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, open to reason, full of mercy and good fruits, without uncertainty or insincerity" (3:17). The wise person is one in whose relations with other people are manifest the qualities of peacefulness, gentleness, reasonableness, mercy and good works toward others. No person, regardless of how many degrees he holds, can be wise unless this wisdom is manifest in a spirit of reconciling love. When wisdom divides people and sets them against each other, it is not wisdom.

"And the harvest of righteousness is sown in peace by those who make peace" (3:18). That's the difference between the wise guy and the person who seeks God's wisdom.

Bale Accumulator

The Steffen Systems Bale Accumulator conveniently and easily packages up to ten 2-tie bales or eight 3-tie bales into a uniform arrangement which can easily be handled by one of the Steffen Systems loaders. The fully automatic electric over hydraulic controls operate the accumulator without the need of an operator. With its quick and smooth functions, there is no need to slow down the baler to allow for proper functioning of the machine. Also available for use in 2-tie bales is an optional tie bar.

Ag Field Day Centers On Pesticides

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Today's consumer is more concerned than ever about the possible effect of pesticides and fertilizers on the environment.

The annual Western Maryland Ag Field Day on September 6 offers demonstrations of the latest environmentally-conscious agricultural research.

The 1990 field day features concurrent research wagon tours of Agricultural Experiment Station research plots and cooperative extension service demonstrations.

The Western Maryland Ag Field Day is sponsored by the University of Maryland's Agricultural Experiment Station and Cooperative Extension Service, and the Washington County Ag Demonstrators.

In addition to the wagon tours, other activities planned include educational exhibits, farm service displays, and agricultural equipment demonstrations, including haymaking and tillage.

Luncheon reservations, due by August 31, can be made by calling (301) 791-2298.

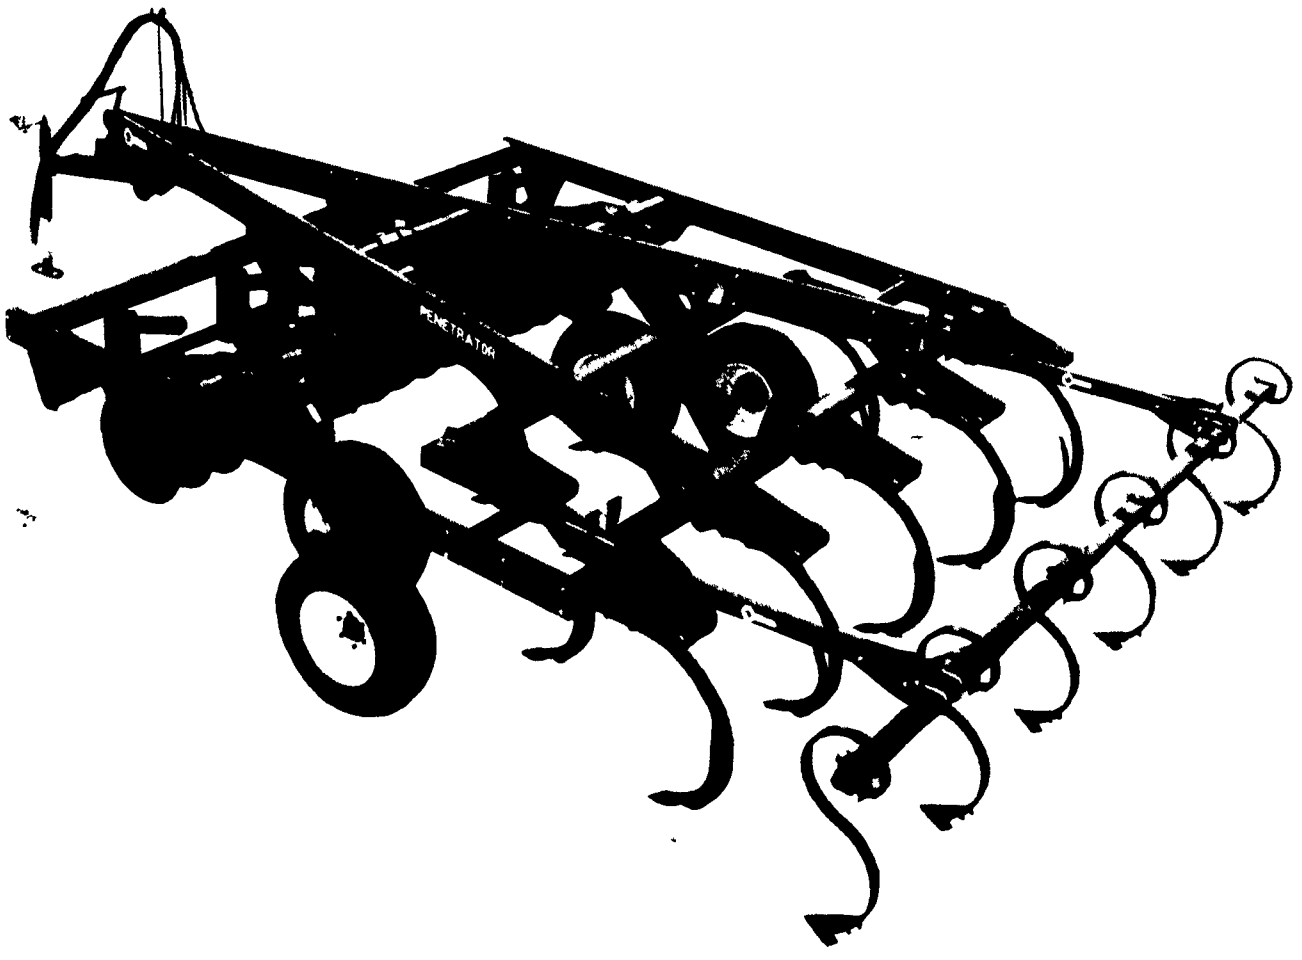
Shatter hardpan and plow conventionally with a single affordable tool.



Don't invest in two separate implements!
Thanks to adjustable working depth and advanced design, Unverferth's Penetrator® primary tillage tool shatters hardpan like the best of the V-rippers and is in a class above the rest as a combination chisel/plow.
Spring loaded design allow each coulter gang to walk over and around obstructions and follow high contours independently. Double shank-spring design assures complete penetration. Several models — widths from 9'2" to 17'6". Available with optional S-tine leveler (shown above).

Bicksler Farm: One In 5 Million

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

WINTERSVILLE (Berks Co.) — Berks County dairyman Ray Bicksler is almost as likely to hit the lottery than have a cow give birth to five live heifer calves in less than two years.

The odds of hitting seven numbers in the Pennsylvania Super 7 lottery are one in 9.6 million — the odds of Bicksler having a cow give birth to twins, and then triplets are one in 5 million.

But not only does Bicksler have five living heifer calves born to him in 370 days from one cow, he has a healthy herd of registered Holsteins in which to add these new ones.

The calves and triplets are more of a freak of nature than something worthy of scientific research, according to a Penn State professor.

He also said that some dairymen might be upset with the result because of the stress that having twins and triplets can put on a cow. Often reduced milk production can occur because of a lack of needed body fat and tissue. There's also an increased risk to the cow, during and after delivery. Infection is more likely.

However, Bicksler said he is happy with the twist of nature.

On July 30, before Bicksler left his farm for a day of helping to show Holsteins at the Lebanon Area Fair, one of his cows, 9-year-old Russelldale Ford Glitter, gave birth to triplets — all heifer calves. All three were on their feet and drinking colostrum within the hour.

At a week old, the triplets were small, but Bicksler, renouned for his line of registered Holsteins, is going to keep them for his milking herd, which averages near 60 cows.

"I want to keep them together to see how they do under the same environmental conditions," he said.

Bicksler said the triplets should give him some indication of what effect the genetic selection of the sire has on triplets.

The triplet calves are not identical, but fraternal. Two are very close in conformation and markings. One has distinctly different markings and is slightly larger and more active that the others.

The twins are also fraternal and should be getting ready to join the milking herd in another year or so. He said they are probably not going to be bred until 18 months.

"I've heard of twins," said Larry Specht, professor of dairy science at Penn State.

"I only know of one set of identical triplets. Fraternal triplets are a little more common. I think this is the third set of triplets this year (nationwide)," Specht said.

Fertility drugs can induce twins or triplets, but such is not the case with the Bicksler cow offspring — they were natural.

"Many farmers don't look at triplets as a blessing," Specht said. "It can cause severe strain on the mother. They can arrive early and many times the placenta is retained, can cause health problems."

However, Glitter is faring well, and her offspring are apparently equally healthy. She is eligible for her third E rating soon.

The sires of the twins and triplets are different. Huberview Bell Promise sired the twins. Apple Notch Jack Daniels is the sire of the triplets.

For the last 10 years, all of Bicksler's breeding has been done by a neighbor, Randy Moyer.

Bicksler's good luck and fortune extends beyond having a cow that produces heifer calves prolifically. His dairy operation is recognized for the high-indexing quality of its cows and heifers and also for the quality of the bulls he produces and sells to artificial insemination cooperatives.

His farm, Russelldale, is located along the western edge of Berks County, just north of the limestone belt. His father, for whom the farm is named, never saw Ray's 100-acre spread. While growing up, Ray's father had a farm in northern Lebanon County and then another near Russelldale, but closer to the thick topsoil and limestone belt that run through the Lebanon Valley.

"We used to get on dad about buying the second place, but he made more money in four years there than he did in the 10 years he spent on the first farm," Bicksler said.

When Bicksler started farming on his own, it was part time. He worked full time for a manufacturing firm in Cleona and started with a high producing grade cow. Later, he bought all registered animals. When his original cow died, he was left with an all registered herd.

He started milking in 1968 and had a little more than five cows when he first went on test. Though the milk production was small, he sold it in small quantities to Hershey Foods, which used to have a small collection point in Myerstown.

He and his wife lived on the farm of Oberholtz Church and in addition to his sexton duties and fulltime job, his herd had grown to 20 milking cows. In 1974, he had to make a choice to either go fulltime milking or fulltime working in industry.

He said sometimes he thinks he made a mistake. But for most of the time he said he is very happy he decided to go into milk production and breeding.

"With farming, you might not have money in your pocket, but you hope that you have something when you decide to call it quits," he said.

The Bicksler herd contains seven homegrown Excellent cows and has been closed for the last 10 years.

"If you breed your own, I feel you accomplished something," he said.

The evidence that he is correct, at least for himself, is the fact that his best bull produced yet has become fairy popular with Atlantic Breeders Cooperative. That bull is Russelldale Promise.

Bicksler recommends that those starting off in dairy business purchase "One. A good one — out of a good cow family and buy a good commercial herd and work off that."

He also said the new farmer should go on test immediately and buy only animals that are on test. In his own case, all the animals he bought were registered, but not on test. He said he basically had to start from scratch to add production information to the pedigree.

It has paid off with a large number of sales of embryos and bulls, in addition to milk.

But most of all, Bicksler said he is lucky to be in farming. And if the odds keep going his way — such as triplets — he expects to be farming for some time.

Youth Captures Fitting Award

MARTINSBURG (Blair Co.) — A 9-year-old-boy, Lee Bailey, from Roaring Spring, and his spotlessly clean Jersey junior calf walked off with the junior fitting trophy at the 4-H Dairy Show held recently at the Morrison's Cove Memorial Park.

Junior showman was Yvette England of Williamsburg. Senior fitting went to Melissa Morrow of Sinking Valley with a well-groomed, tail brushed to perfection, Guernsey. Tom Greenleaf, Martinsburg, was senior showman.

Judge Richard Little, extension agent, Montour County, had only good comments to make about all the fitting and showing show. "There were just big mistakes," he said.

"We are here to advertise milk," he continued, speaking of the fitting show. "And, we want the public to see clean cows. Today, you see just that."

Clinton Black of Altoona RD 3, took the grand champion holstein title with a 4-year-old. Black was also senior champion. Reserve grand champion and reserve senior champion went to Miriam Kelly of Tyrone RD 1.

The Holstein junior herd 1. John Foster III; 2. West Metzker; 3. Eric Frederick.

In other categories it was: Holstein junior calves 1. Rebecca Kelly; 2. Tara Kocher; 3. Lori Baker.

Holstein intermediate calves 1. Renee Baker; 2. Eric Stine; 3. Tom Sollenberger.

Holstein senior calves 1. Audrey Fox; 2. Chris Sollenberger; 3. Roger Stoch.

Holstein summer yearlings' 1. Matt Hawn; 2. Angie Frederick; 3. Eric Sollenberger.

Holstein junior yearlings 1. Kristen Metzker; 2. David Kocher; 3. Ron Wyle. Holstein intermediate yearlings 1. John Foster, III; 2. Eric Frederick.

Holstein senior yearlings 1. John Foster III; 2. Eric Frederick.

Holstein senior 2-year-olds: 1. Eleanor Baker; 2. John Foster III; 3. John David Kelly.

Holstein 3-year-olds: 1. Wade Burket; 2. John Foster III; 3. Matt Black.

Holstein 4-year-olds: 1. Clinton Black; 2. Yvette England; 3. Jennifer Frederick.

Miriam Kelly was the sold exhibitor in the Holstein five-year-olds and over.

Holstein dry cows: 1. Eric Stine; 2. Eric Frederick; 3. Tracy Smith.

Rachel McCutcheon of Altoona RD 3, took all top awards in the Ayrshire division. She took top place honors in the junior calf, senior calf, and 4-year-old division.

Kristi Snider of New Enterprise was the Guernsey senior and grand champion winner with a 3-year-old entry Brandon Snider was reserve grand champion with a dry cow.

The best Guernsey Junior Herd award went to Brandon Snider. Aaron Gable was second; Beth Clark, third.

Guernsey Junior Calves: 1. Beth Clark; 2. Melissa Morrow.

Intermediate Calves: 1. Beth Clark; 2. Melissa Morrow.

Guernsey senior calves 1. Kristi Morrow.

Beth Clark took all the Summer Yearling awards. In the Junior Yearlings, it was Beth Clark, first; Jan Snider, second; and Matt Morrow, third. Intermediate Yearlings, Aaron Gable, first; Apryle Hoover, second.

Junior 2-year-olds: 1. Beth Clark; 2. Melissa Morrow.

Senior 2-year-olds: 1. Beth Clark.

Three-year-olds: 1. Kristi Snider; 2. Beth Clark; 3. Kristi Morrow.

4-year-olds 1. Aaron Gable; 2. Beth Clark.

Guernsey Dry Cows- Brandon Snider took all awards.

Joe Stitt of Martinsburg RD1, took all grand awards in the Brown Swiss division.

Other categories were:

Rachael Fox, first in Brown Swiss junior calves.

Brown Swiss Senior 2-year-oilds, and 4-year-olds 1. Joe Stitt.

Intermediate Calves: 1. Tom Greenleaf; 2. Leslie Bailey.

Senior calves 1. Aaron Frederick; 2. Carrie Hielman.

Senior yearlings 1. Tom Greenleaf.

Two-year-olds 1. Adam Frederick; 2 & 3. Mark McCready.

BAYTAN 30
FUNGICIDE

Powerful, broad-spectrum protection against powdery mildew, rusts and smuts.

No other seed treatment can deliver more protection against major small grain diseases than new BAYTAN 30.

It's EPA cleared for use on wheat, barley, oats and rye, and university test plots over the past few years have proven that, where disease pressure is moderate to heavy, BAYTAN 30 will consistently produce an exceptional return on investment.

Since BAYTAN 30 is systemic, it is absorbed right into the plant's system, effectively controlling or suppressing seedborne and soilborne diseases for several weeks. Researchers from some production areas have reported that BAYTAN 30 will also effectively suppress take-all.

BAYTAN 30 also provides early season protection against the establishment of foliar diseases such as powdery mildew, leaf and stripe rust, and can be used in conjunction with your foliar fungicide program.

This exciting new seed treatment will be available only on seed sold through certified seed conditioners. So, for more information on BAYTAN 30 and the locations of certified seed conditioners near you, please contact the Gustafson office in Dallas, (214) 985-8877.

When you're up against moderate to heavy disease pressure, there isn't a better answer than new BAYTAN 30 Systemic Seed Treatment from Gustafson.

Crop Field Days

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Two crop management field days will be held on Tuesday, August 28, 1990.

The morning program will start at 9:30 a.m. at the farm of Edward Zug, located on Peters Creek Road in Fulton Township, Lancaster County. The program will include the use of the Penn State soil nitrogen quick test, reducing the use of agricultural pesticides with integrated pest management, manure storage and handling for environmental protection, manure spreader calibration, and funding opportunities for conservation practice installation. The morning program will end around 11:30 a.m.

The program will be repeated in the afternoon at the Martin Greenleaf Jr. farm in Colerain Township, Lancaster County, starting at 1 p.m. The program at the Greenleaf farm will include stream crossings for livestock. The afternoon program will end around 3 p.m.

Both programs will qualify for update training credits under the Pennsylvania Pesticide Certification Program. All interested persons are invited to attend.

To get to the Zug farm, take Route 272 south, at Black Bear Structures, turn right on Pilgrims Road, then left on Peters Creek Road. The farm will be on the left. To get to the Greenleaf farm, take the Kirkwood Pike, Route 272, south. Approximately 2-3/4 miles south of Kirkwood, turn right on Mount Eden Road. The farm is on the left. Rain dates are not scheduled for the event.

Professor Charles A. Lassiter, a professor of animal science at North Carolina State University, has spoken out in a recent issue of Hoard's Dairyman about the need for improvements in the DHIA system in the United States.

Reprinted below is Professor Lassiter's article which plainly states that dairy industry leaders need to address DHIA's chronic financial problems. If you have not seen the article, read it and see what you think.

(Reproduced by permission from the May 25, 1990 issue of Hoard's Dairyman. Copyright by W.D. Hoard and Sons Company, Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin.)

CHARLES A. LASSITER

There are many organizations that contribute to the competitiveness of our dairy industry ... effective marketing organizations, breed associations, A.I. organizations, DHI associations, regulatory agencies at both state and national levels, USDA and land-grant institutions. DHIA has been the key to many of the others being effective.

Once dairymen become involved in a testing program, they also tend to become more interested in other aspects of the industry. For example, take milk marketing cooperatives. Generally, the most active members of milk coops are those enrolled in DHI.

All aspects of the industry benefit from DHI involvement, but DHI, A.I. and breed associations have the strongest link, at least as programs operate in the U.S.

Cattle breeding experts tell me that a successful A.I. industry in the U.S. depends totally on an effective records keeping program. Many people say that our DHI record program is the principle reason why the U.S. dairy industry has been able to make the phenomenal progress in efficiency that it has. The program is not perfect, but dairymen have recognized the value of good production records.

However, DHI programs in the U.S. can be more effective. Nearly 40 percent of all DHI records do not have proper identification. An unidentified record is useless to A.I. This tragedy should be corrected.

Another problem with DHI in the U.S. is that it often is underfinanced. Many state DHIA's operate on limited funds.

Must Stay Current

In too many cases, operating funds are so limited that the program cannot make the changes needed to keep abreast of industry developments. This hurts the program and the entire dairy industry.

When a business cannot be innovative and adjust to change, a dying business results. I am not saying that DHIA in the U.S. is at this point. But this situation has existed for a long time, and I think we should address this issue because it affects us all.

There is no easy solution. In many parts of the world, cow testing programs are subsidized heavily by the national government. Already, the contributions of the U.S. government through public funds going into the national sire-proving program and the extension programs are considerable.

In the U.S., DHI has the closest linkage with the A.I. industry and breed associations. It only seems logical that these industries need to work closely, and each needs to be sensitive to the other's needs.

DHI needs a stronger financial base. I am not sure how this could be done, but I am sure some mutually beneficial plan could be developed. The U.S. dairy industry must have a prosperous healthy, innovative and effective dairy record program. Industry leaders need to address this.

Consider New Methods

DHI may need to fine-tune its progra. The present structure has served us well for 80 years but may need some modification. The cooperative nature of the program in the U.S. involving dairymen, USDA and agriculture extension has been a good one but may need to be strengthened in the future.

I want to see the industry accomplish even greater things in the future. To do this, we must have a strong record program which the entire industry needs to support.

Valuable Crop Information Part Of Penn-Jersey Days

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — A very unique opportunity will become available for farmers in the southeast Pennsylvania and New Jersey areas on September 22. A field day for demonstrations of modern crop management practices will be held Saturday, September 22, 1990 from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. on the campus and farms of Delaware Valley College in Doylestown, Pennsylvania. This field day can best be described as a mini Ag Progress Days.

The program will include an ad industry trade show, tillage equipment demonstrations, planting equipment demonstrations, herbicide demonstrations, a nutrient management demonstration on-site nitrate water test, and field tours.

Featured at the Delaware Valley College farm will be a state-of-the-art pesticide handling, sprayer filling and waste water recycling facility. Farmers that mix their own spray material will need a self-contained, environmentally safe storage and loading area. Viewing this practical set-up will help farmers design their own facility.

The field day will focus on conservation tillage, new technologies, and sustainable agriculture. The field day is an outgrowth of the successful Penn Jersey Tillage Conference series held at Lehigh University since 1984.

The field days are sponsored by:

- Cooperative Extension Services of Penn State and Rutgers University.
- Delaware Valley College.
- Pennsylvania and New Jersey Conservation Districts.
- Soil Conservation Service.
- Agricultural industries.

Ticket cost is $4.00 which includes lunch. Tickets must be purchased in advance. They are available from county extension offices or by writing to: Penn Jersey Tillage, Bucks County Extension, Neshaminy Manor Center, Doylestown, PA 18901.

Attendees will be eligible for Pesticide Applicator recertification credits.

MILK AMERICA'S HEALTH KICK

Dairy Associations Market Animal Electronic Identification

BRATTLEBORO, VT. — The Holstein Association of America and the National Dairy Herd Improvement Association have announced an agreement to jointly market a new identification technology promising to provide dairymen significant herd management benefits. Together the two national organizations serve a significant majority of the U.S. dairymen.

Through the organizations' regional and state associations, dairymen will learn about an electronic implant manufactured by Destron/IDI, a Boulder, Colorado firm.

The device, called a transponder, will be implanted just under the skin of dairy cows. It will permanently identify animals and provide automatic ID read-out through milking parlors, feeding stations or by hand-held readers.

Distribution rights have been granted to the two U.S. dairy associations by Anitech Enterprises, Inc., a Canadian firm representing Destron/IDI. Anitech has a similar relationship with the Holstein Association of Canada.

Destron/IDI manufactures over 2,500,000 such individual transponders annually, and markets them throughout the world. Besides Anitech Enterprises, the Holstein Association and National DHIA, other distributors of Destron/IDI transponders for herd identification include: Milk Marketing Board of England and Wales; SPA/SIS (Holland); Kubota (Japan); Animal Electronic ID Systems (Australia).

The technology will help provide permanent identification, disease and residue trace back, health control, genetic improvement and herd management benefits.

Officials of both organizations express optimism over this joint effort and the potential of the technology.

THE NEW LEADER IN BARN CLEANER CHAIN

BARN CLEANERS

Super Drive Power! Super 500 barn cleaner...for pulling up to 550 feet of chain
Super 750 barn cleaner...for pulling up to 700 feet of chain

SUPER 500 DRIVE: The Super 500 spur gear (not roller chain) drive unit handles up to 250 ft of chain with 2 H.P up to 350 ft of chain with 3 H.P. and up to 550 ft of chain with a 5 H P motor.

SUPER 750 DRIVE: The Super 750 drive unit with 7½ H P. motor handles up to 700 ft of chain. The main gear is cast from ductile iron to provide the extra strength required for cleaning large barns
Both units are packed with power and built to last.

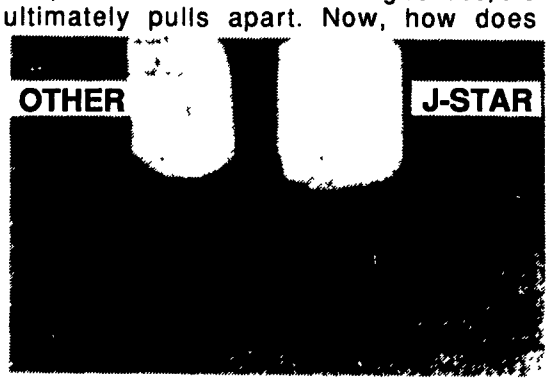
J-STAR BARN CLEANER CHAIN - Face The Facts

FICTION: The Stronger the Chain the Longer it will Last...

FACT 1. The life of barn cleaner chain is not directly affected by its tensile strength. The strength of a new chain considerably exceeds the maximum pull of the drive unit. For example, the pull of a J-Star model 750 drive unit - the heaviest and fastest drive on the market - is only 33% of the tensile strength of J-Star's hook link chain. Enough said!!!

FICTION: All Hook-Link Chain is Basically Alike...

FACT 2. The life of barn cleaner chain, for a given installation, is affected by its wear area and hardness. The greater the wear area, and/or the harder the wearing surface, the longer a link will wear before it ultimately pulls apart. Now, how does J-Star chain stack up?



* J-Star chain is hardened by the same process to the same hardness range as all competitive hook link chain — NO DIFFERENCE HERE!

BUT...

* The first point in a chain to fail from wear is usually the end of the eye. J-Star chain, as compared to the other brand for example, has 35% more area in the hook link eye. Note the graphic difference shown below.

FICTION: The Life of a Barn Cleaner Chain has Nothing to do with the Kind of Drive Unit Used With It...

FACT 3. A chain wears at the point where the links contact one another. The rate of wear for a given installation increases as the amount of "grinding" between hook and mating eye increases. This "grinding" occurs when the chain "bends" going around corners, such as corner wheels, reverse curves, hold-down shoes or wheels, and around drive sprockets. Most competitive barn cleaners are about equal in the degree to which they "bend" the chain going through most of these points. HOWEVER - hook link chain does "grind" less when it goes around the J-Star 5-tooth drive sprocket than when it goes around the other brand 4-tooth sprocket.

All-forged Hook-Link® chain... available on Super 300 and Super 500 barn cleaners

Extra thick steel at all wear points

IMPORTANT: Look for the "parting line" on any barn cleaner chain you buy. It shows where excess metal has been trimmed off. It is your assurance that the link was totally forged, not just punched out of a flat steel bar with grain flow in one direction only.
You want a totally-forged link because forging changes the grain of the steel, causing it to curve in unbroken flow lines around the contours of the link, giving the link greater strength to serve you longer.

• Tomatoes. Three experiments are being conducted with 90 different cultivars to examine varieties, the best use of plant growth regulators and transplant stimulants, and the best methods for shipping transplants from Florida.

• Potatoes. Genetic studies on inheritance traits transferred by genes on chromosomes in the cell. The detail of the research is being undertaken on a microbiological level involving mitrochondrial inheritance traits.

• Raspberries. Viral disease and fungal root rot once resulted in the near extinction of the Pennsylvania raspberry industry. Recent developments in virus-, fungal-, and insect-resistance cultivars make for extremely vigorous varieties. New "vigor management" techniques are being worked on, in addition to trellis systems.

• Strawberries. Irrigation experiments involve the application of fertilizer and herbicides directly to roots of the plants, in addition to frost control and microcomputer monitoring and control of the experimental varieties.

• Cauliflower. Increasing fertilization efficiency of the plant and decreasing the amount of nutrients leaching into groundwater.

• Foreign genetic mutations. Studying the effects of elevated sugar control in seeds and acceptable sugar levels after harvest. In addition, starch research is being conducted.

• Crabapples. A long-term study of diseases on ornamental crabapples, including scab and fire flight, is being conducted.

• Fungicide applications. Research into determining the most effective timing of fungicides for control of tomato defoliation and fruit rot diseases. When can fungicides be most effective on plants? How can chemical use be reduced? Other questions about making disease forecasting more sophisticated and reliable are being asked.

• Soybeans. Research examines what loss is sustained by foliar diseases.

• Sweet corn. A disease study probes cross-pollination of varieties and how to make a more disease- and insect-resistant sweet corn germplasm.

• Alfalfa. A biological control project studies fungal disease of alfalfa, including hay yield and quality. In one instance, the inoculation of plants with a natural bacteria that seems to prevent infection by fungal pathogens is being conducted.

• Potatoes. A cultivar evaluation study examines overall yield, yield of U.S. #1 tubers, dry weather content, line type maturity, and disease resistance.

• Corn. Studies of impact of of moisture stresses on corn growth and yield are under way.

• Alfalfa. A computer model studies the population growth of the potato leaf hopper. The model will be used to predict leaf hopper populations, based on factors such as initial population and dialy temperature and the timing of the insecticide to control the pests.

• Spruce trees. A multi-year study examines diseases of Christmas trees.

• Mushroom compost. Mushroom compost, or mushroom soil, is made of hay, corn cob, and horse manure, and is being used on crops such as corn to study the uptake of nitrogen. Soil fertilized with the mushroom compost appears to provide a healthier, better growing plant.

• Living mulch. Crown vetch and legume crops are being developed as living mulch, and provide good nitrogen-fixing and cover material for the primary crop.

• Corn. A nitrogen source experiment examines dry nitrogen fertilizer, manure, and alfalfa as sources.

• Soybeans. Different varieties may give farmers an accurate representation of yield potential of soybean varieties under Pennsylvania climate conditions.

• Legume crops. Long-range studies of production of nitrogen from legume crops have been developed.

• Sweet corn. Long-term pest management strategies on sweet corn are under way.

• Alfalfa. Studies in how alfalfa recovers from infestations from potato leaf hopper after pesticide has been used. Is there an ideal time for the plant to be sprayed?

• Corn. Experiments on runoff from different tillage system are being compared. According to the guides, the runoff is being collected and measured. Small pits contain collection devices to determine the amount of water that leaves the field. The water is analyzed for soil particles, pesticides, and nutrients. Experiments help researchers determine the best tillage system for reducing water,

Tillage Practices Under Study At Center

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — The residue left over in the soil is the key to protecting the soil and in controlling erosion, said Joel Myers, agronomist with the Soil Conservation Service, at a special conservative tillage presentation Tuesday at Ag Progress Days.

Myers presented an overview of various tillage options for farmers, including no-till, mulch-till, ridge-till, and strip-till.

In addition to the overview, no-till drilling and cropland terracing demonstrations were presented Thursday at the site.

"For us to call it conservation tillage, by our definition, the soil needs at least 30 percent residue," said Myers. "The residue's the key to protecting the soil and in controlling erosion. And corn residue is the best — it stays there longer."

However, farmers can still obtain some conservation benefit with even 20 percent residue. Some of the best residue comes from corn, said Myers, because it is thicker, coarser, has more fiber, and may last longer in the soil that any other type of residue.

Myers explained that when rotating out of corn, soybeans injected with a no-till method directly into the residue provide a good crop. Soil erosion is considerably reduced and nitrogen is retained.

Ridge-till, another option, provides excellent soil retention as well as some of the best root capillary action, because the soil is not compacted.

"We need to get farmers to do one primary tillage and one secondary tillage to reduce cost and also to keep more residue on the surface," said Myers.

Farmers should try to avoid soil compaction using a disk. A disk has a "good place on light-textured soils to mix the residue." As for the small grains, there are "none around that you can't plant with a no-till drill or a no-till corn planter."

On the research center, one test plot contains no-till corn that has been planted with the no-till method, rotated with other crops such as soybeans, successfully since 1968 and continues to thrive.

Visitors to Ag Progress Days examine the holes formed by no-till tillage drilling equipment during demonstrations Wednesday.

Ken Steffen, horticulturist at Penn State, indicates the location of several test plots using synthetic and organic fertilizer and pesticide applications on different tomato plots during a crop management tour at Ag Progress Days.

Conservation terracing demonstrations were provided to visitors at Ag Progress Days.

Takes Top Holstein Awards

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

MARTINSBURG (Blair Co.) — The Charles Hershberger family of Woodbury walked off with most of the all top awards at the closing of the 40th annual Open Holstein Show held recently at the Memorial Park in Martinsburg.

The Hershberger family took the premier breeder award.

The supreme champion was a Holstein owned by Ross Hershberger, son of Charles. Reserve supreme champion was a Guernsey from Snider's Homestead Farm in New Enterprise.

Ross took all top awards in the Holstein show winning the grand champion trophy with a 5-year-old; and the reserve grand champion with a 3-year-old.

The Hershbergers have been farming for 39 years. They live on a 500-acre farm near Woodbury and milk 165 cows.

Ross is a recent graduate of Penn State University. They have entered the show for many years and have taken a number of top awards.

Premier exhibitor was Globe Run Farms owned by John Foster of Petersburg.

Junior Calves: 1. June Corl and H. Hammond; 2. Rebecca Kelly; 3. Tara Kocher.

Intermediate Calves: 1. Eric Stine; 2. Tom Sollenberger; 3. Jay and Deb Metzker.

Senior calves: 1. Melissa Sollenberger; 2. Eugene and June Corl; 3. Matt Knee.

Summer Yearlings: 1. Matt Hawn; 2. Eugene and June Corl; 3. Keith Kennety.

Junior Yearlings: 1. John Foster III; 2. Jennifer Frederick; 3. Joe Stitt.

Intermediate Yearlings: 1. Eugene and June Corl; 2. Kristen Metzker; 3. Ron Wyles.

Senior Yearlings: 1. John Fos-

Interest 'Reins' In Draft Horse Show

VERNON HOCKENBERRY
New York Correspondent

TROY, N.Y. — In the past few years, there has been a surge of interest in the draft horse. While there was much involvement in the cattle show, the larger crowd was enjoying the draft horse show, in front of the grandstand. The show is sponsored by the Endless Mountains Draft Horse Club.

There are two different phases to a draft horse show the halter class and the driving class. The supreme horse is a mare, over three-years, Koncarlaets June, owned by John and Linda Harrington of Groton, New York. The driving competition, was dominated by fellow New Yorker, Kerm Marquis of Freeville, New York.

An unusual aspect to this show is that there were two 1990 draft horse queens present the Pennsylvania draft horse queen, Jennifer Biddle of Boalsburg, and the New York state draft horse queen, Chastity Howe of Groton.

There were three nominees for the Showmanship Award: Becky Wolf, Athens; Linda Harrington, Groton, New York; and Kerm Marquis, Freeville, New York. Becky won the award. Judge, Lew Biddle said, "Becky did a good job showing her colt this morning and did a good job on the obstacle course, especially on the backing. Mr. Marquis did an excellent job on the hitching today and was out there in the halter class. This is a very hard decision, because I feel all three did a great job."

Biddle talked about his impressions. "I've been here for three years watching this show. Last year I was here as an exhibitor and I think every year it gets better. There are good horses, the people did a good job and the people who put the show together did a good job. I enjoyed it!"

soil, pesticide, and nutrient loss.

• Corn. A weed control study shows the buildup of weeds based on differences in weed control strategies.

• Alfalfa. The potential of alfalfa and grass hay mixtures are being studied, to see what equivalent of nitrogen application that the crop will leave on the corn rotation.

• Alfalfa. A variety testing program including 91 different alfalfa entries is included at the center.

• Corn. A variety evaluation for silage and for grain is being conducted.

• Grass. Six different grass species are being evaluated, including 30 different cultivars, to determine the best feed cultivar.

• Grass. Fifty-three different grass varieites are being examined under Pennsylvania's growing conditions. Entries come from as far away as Holland.

• Sudan and switchgrass. Various warm-season grasses are being evaluated that may be used to extend the grazing season.

• Potatoes. Resistance to Colorada potatoe beetles and how much and when to apply pesticide are being studied. How insects develop resistance to pesticides is also being examined.

• Alfalfa germplasm testing. Nutrient quality of new and better varieties are being conducted.

• Potato fields. Seeing how biological control of Colorado potato beetles is working, in addition to resistance of the plant to the insects, is under way.

• Broccoli and cabbage. Biological and conventional insect control on the cabbage worm, luper, and diamond-backed moth is being conducted.

• Sweet corn, sunflower. These plants are being grown to determine the interaction between floral chemicals and corn root worm. The sunflower contains a potential feeding deterrant for western corn root worm, while squash has a strong feeding stimulant, according to the guide. These chemicals are being isolated and characterized.

TMR/HAY
PROCESSORS

These Oswalt Mixers do a better job of mixing and carry the industry's only five-year mixer warranty!

Mix and process your rations and hay... the Oswalt way

Better design and more know-how have made Oswalt the leader in mixing

Oswalt TMR/Hay Processors are clearly superior in their ability to mix all types of ration ingredients including dry hay A reel type mixer, particularly when fully loaded retains a quantity of the dry hay in the center of the reel which then simply turns over with the reel and receives little mixing Your hay just gets a free ride and your final mix is uneven at best In an Oswalt TMR/Hay Processor, the hay is processed and evenly and aggressively mixed throughout the ration It has no place to hide

A key element of mixing dry hay into a ration is processing the hay while all ration ingredients are being mixed That means tearing the hay apart and reducing fiber length during the mixing process

In an Oswalt the notched bottom auger working against the shear shelf does the primary job of tearing the hay slabs apart and reducing the length of long hay stems

The aggressive square top augers (a patented Oswalt exclusive) grab the hay slabs and finish the processing job

Family Pride Shows In Dairy Show

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — Many of the names were familiar as the ribbons and trophies were awarded at the Junior Dairy Show at the Bedford County Fair.

Mark Baker of New Enterprise took the grand champion award with his two-year-old Holstein, the same cow which took the top award last year. "It was my very first 4-H cow," Baker said, smiling.

Janelle Koontz repeated her grand champion trophy from last year, but with a different cow. Her two-year-old was selected by Judge Creedin Comman for its "dairyness." Koontz also took the reserve champion award.

Aaron Gable took the grand champion trophy in the Guernsey division. The cow came from Snider's Homestead Farms. Reserve champion was Kristi Snider.

Judge Cornman commented on the excellence of both animals.

Lynda Sweinhart was the only entrant in the Ayrshire division and took the grand champion.

Bryan Ickes of Osterburg was back to take the grand champion award in red and whites with his four-year-old cow, Ickes Nancy.

Master fitter was Amanda Cessna of Everett and Mark Baker was back to claim the master fitting trophy.

Other awards were Holstein: reserve senior champion, Jodi Hite; reserve grand champion, Jeff Yoder.

Junior calves: Jeffrey Yoder, first; Greta Jo Snider, second; and Jennifer Hite, third.

Intermediate calves: Ronnie Morse, first; Nicole Over, second; and Angie Morse, third.

Senior calves: James Over, first; Matt Knee, second; and Angie Morse, third. Daughter/dam: Jennifer Hite, first; Jodi Hite, second.

Jeff Yoder took the junior champion trophy with a senior yearling and Ronnie Morse was reserve junior champion with an intermediate calf.

Junior two-year-olds, Mark Baker. Senior two-year-olds, Jodi Hite, first and Fred McCready, second.

Jennifer Hite took all awards in the three-year-olds.

Summer yearlings: Jennifer Hite, first; Sara Deputy, second; and Doug Gates, third. Junior yearlings: Ron Snider, first and Carrie Deputy. Intermediate yearlings: Matt Knee, first; Ron Wyles, second; Jennifer Hite, third. Senior yearlings: Jeff Yoder, first; Jodi Hite, second; and Mary Jo Deputy, third.

Guernseys: Junior calves: Beth Clark, first; Amber Clark, second; and Galen McDonald, third. Intermediate calves: Alicia McDonald, first; Beth Clark, second. Senior calves: Angelique McDonald, first; Melissa McDonald, second; Alicia McDonald, third.

Summer yearlings, Beth Clark, first and second; Angelique McDonald, third. Junior yearlings, Galen McDonald, first; Beth Clark, second; and Jan Snider, third. Intermediate yearlings: Brandon Snider, first; Aaron Gable, second; and Galen McDonald, third. Senior yearlings: Galen McDonald, first and Aaron Gable, second.

Beth Clark was junior champion with a summer yearling and Brandon Snider was reserve junior champion.

Junior two-year-olds: Melissa McDonald, first and Angie McDonald, second. Senior two-year-olds, Galen McDonald.

Three-year-olds: Kristi Snider, first; Aaron Gable, second; and Galen McDonald, third. Four-year-olds: Aaron Gable, first and Brandon Snider, second.

Two year and over dry cows: Brandon Snider, first and second; and Melissa McDonald, third.

Daughter/dam: Galen McDonald, first and Melissa McDonald, second.

Jerseys: Junior two-year-old: Mark McCready, first and second. Senior two-year-old: Janelle Koontz, first; Mark McCready, second; Four-year-old: Janelle Koontz, first.

Senior champ, reserve senior champ, grand champ, and reserve grand champ all went to Janelle Koontz.

The Truax family was strong in the red and whites with Julie Truax placing first in junior calves; Landon Truax, second; Kimberly Truax, third.

Senior calves, Spring Truax. Spring Truax was junior champion and reserve champion with a junior yearling.

Bryan Ickes was first in four-year-olds. Five-year-olds, Julie Truax, first and second. Summer yearlings: Landon Truax. Junior yearlings: Spring Truax, first; Julie Truax, second; and Landon Truax, third. Intermediate yearlings: Julie Truax and Landon Truax.

Mark Baker and his grand champion Holstein in the Junior Dairy Show at the Bedford Fair. Baker also won the fitting trophy.

Matt Knee of the A-K Mohr Holstein Farm exhibits the grand champion Holstein at the Bedford Fair, while Linette Diehl of the Allenor Farms shows the reserve champion.

PA All American To Offer Newspaper Bedding

HARRISBURG — Newspaper bedding should be the big hit of the 1990 Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show at Farm Show Complex here September 24-27.

"It's ten times more absorbent than straw and cheaper than straw," said show manager Charlie Itle who will be providing bed and board for 2,500 of the nation's finest cattle.

Itle said research shows that cattle keep just as clean on newspaper bedding as the more traditional beddings.

Only one problem.

"It's like providing flannel sheets to the royal family," Itle said. "Exhibitors want bedding that looks good and shows off their top cattle."

In the 27-year-old history of the Pennsylvania All-American, that's always been straw, shavings and sawdust.

This year, the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy show will have newspaper bedding available for all dairymen who want it.

At the 1989 show, Itle says, three or four exhibitors tried a layer of shredded newspaper, then covered it with straw.

The growing popularity of newspaper bedding makes the PA All-American manager more optimistic about its acceptance at this year's show.

He cites a 58-county herd check by extension agents this last spring that indicates 45,310 dairy cows in the Keystone State bed down on newspaper.

Also, there is less buildup of bacteria in newspaper bedding than either sawdust or straw, reports Dr. John Comerford, assistant professor of dairy and animal science at Penn State.

Heavy metals or toxicity is not a problem, according to Penn State researchers after extensive testing.

Cattle will start arriving at the Farm Show Complex September 21 and "we'll be ready," Itle says. Before cattle are released Thursday evening, September 27, PA All-American will have hosted six national dairy shows, four breed sales and ten junior events.

Overall, Itle estimated "well over 100 tons," of bedding will be used including those shredded and chopped newspapers.

For more information, premium lists and entry forms, write Charles Itle, Manager, Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, Farm Show Complex, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, 17110-9408. Or call 717-787-2905.

Valuable Crop Information Part Of Penn-Jersey Days

MANCHESTER (York Co.) — Small, large, and contour plowing contest matches will begin on Friday, Aug. 24 at 10:30 a.m. on the Blaine Rentzel Farm as part of the Pennsylvania state plowing contest.

The plowing contest is held in conjunction with the 1990 Olde Tyme Days in Manchester, said Robert Miller, chairman of the state plowing contest committee.

First, second, and third place trophies and cash prizes will be awarded.

Contestants are needed for the contest. Contact Robert Rentzel, head of the Olde Tyme Days, at (717) 266-4884 or Robert Miller at (717) 692-2443.

This year's plowing contest winner will advance to the national competition next year, with the date and location to be announced. For 1990, the national competition will be held in South Dakota.

Olde Tyme Days are open to the public, but the plowing contest costs $2 per person and children under 10 are free. An antique contest follows at 1 p.m.

Outstanding Prices Paid At Bedford County Fair

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — It was a happy day for the holders of the champion animals at the Bedford County Fair as new records were set in bidding.

Much of the thanks goes to Bob Turkovich of the American Outfitter Stores located in Bedford, Somerset, and a dozen other locations and William Campbell, owner of Hoss' Steak and Seafood House and Bedford Ford/Lincoln/Mercury. There were also some brand new bidders who kept the prices climbing at the Saturday morning event.

Mike Beutman of Alum Bank saw his 116-pound, grand champion market lamb go for $11.50 a pound. Turkovich, the new owner of the lamb, quickly asked that it be resold with the proceeds going to the Bedford County Special Olympics.

Bob Turkovich is surrounded by grandchildren after purchasing the grand champion steer at the Bedford County Fair. Holding the reins is Nathan Claycomb, who also exhibited the reserve champion.

Ginger Kegg turns her grand champion over to William Campbell, who smashed all records by paying $13.75 for the 218-pound hog.

Three generations of the Ralph Stone family are shown here standing in their spring seeded Pro-Cut alfalfa. This Williamsburg Pa. family grows over 100 acres of alfalfa and has planted Pro-Cut for the last two years.

Seeding alfalfa this August?

If so, look to our PRO•CUT Alfalfa for those acres. Maybe its fast startability, winter hardiness and a 23 disease resistance rating could add a little extra "umpf" to your summer seeding effort. And, if everything clicks along the way, you could have an exceptional field of alfalfa when first crop rolls around next spring.

We have a good supply of PRO•CUT on hand and can deliver it fast. Just give us the word. Pricing is the same as last Spring and discounts are available.

Check out PRO•CUT for your summer seeding needs or get a head start on next spring's planning. Whichever your situation we think you'll like what you find out about PRO•CUT, our Company and our way of doing business.

Sunny Skies For Northeast Black&White Show

VERNON HOCKENBERRY
NY Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) — Under sunny skies with pleasant temperatures, the Northeastern Pennsylvania B&W Champion came to the Troy Fairgrounds.

Three NE Pennsylvania Dairy Princesses attended. From host, Bradford County was Amy Allis; from Sullivan County, Sally Beibson of Forksville; and from Tioga County, Julie Jelliff of Elkland.

Judge James Burdette of Mercersburg said of the Junior Champion, "It was real good to come in here and find the kind of cows you want in the junior calves. She is tall and angular and looks like there is a good future ahead. She has open rib and dairyness that I look for. The second place calf is a good angular calf, maybe not quite growthy enough to go on as she should down the road. Today, I'm going with summer yearling for reserve junior champion."

Lynn Miller of Towanda talked about his Intermediate Calf and Junior Champion Royal Haven Inspire Babs ET. Lynn has a small Holstein herd of 40 milkers and, with his wife, Bonnie, is a regular at showing. "This is one of the earlier shows of the summer and the animals that do well at this show, we take to the state championship, September 7th at the Ag Arena, in State College."

The reserve junior champion, a senior yearling, C. Muskateer Jethro Lesly, is owned by Michael Hart and Carolyn Gow of New Milford. Mike is also a Holstein cattle judge.

Donald Thompson, Westfield, Potter County is owner of the Grand Champion Jim Slocums Triple Charo, bred by Jim Slocum. This cow is a six-year-old. Don says, "I get a lot of help from my family; my wife Cathy, father-in-law Ralph Snyder, and children Jenelle, Sherri, and Nicki. I've grown up showing cows as a 4-H member and having show Grand Champion is a dream come true.

"A fellow very seldom has an opportunity to do this well. I'd like to encourage all younger 4-H members to never quit. It's a joy to get this far."

He has been showing for 13 years and is in the process of buying the farm from his father-in-law. Triple Charo has been doing well this summer for Don and he plans to take her to State College to show.

Simalot Holsteins took the Reserve Junior Champion with Simalot Christina, a senior 3-year-old. According to Kress Simpson of Mansfield; the Simpson's have a 350-acre farm near Mansfield. Now they milk 50 and have a 110 head of purebred Holsteins. They maintain a herd average of about 18,000 pounds milk. Simalot has an active showstring. They show at State College, NYS Fair, and the major shows in Harrisburg and Wisconsin.

Gor-Wood D Farms of Roseville was named the premier breeder and exhibitor. Gordon Wood said, "We have two herds totaling milking roughly 260 head of grade and registered holsteins. We try to do our local fair, the three major state shows, and we did go back to the Farm Show this year after a 20-year absence and we did very well. I imagine we will continue to show at the Farm Show for awhile."

James Burdette of Mercersburg judged.

"The NE Show is a good quality show, certainly everyone could see that they didn't have the quantity, but there was quality. I think, particularly, my champion cow is going to go on and do well in state competition. I'd be willing to bet on that.

"The animals that won in the Junior Show had extreme quality. I'm sure they will be top placing heifers in the state show. The best three females impressed me. All were strong. Probably one of the strongest classes of the day was the aged cow and the 4-year-old class. There was a good 2-year-old class with a lot of animals in it. I was impressed with the quality."

committed to making national volunteerism a way of life. The president urged all of us to take the initiative and help our fellow man and was quickly on his way, but his presence left a lasting impression on the room.

Our final speaker was C. Gregg Petersmeyer, deputy assistant to the president and director, Office of National Service. This man summed everything up and really gave the call for action. He encouraged the group to go back and multiply what is working and discover leaders, not necessarily develop them.

Throughout the day you could see the urgency the Bush Administration felt to get National Service off the ground. President Bush has stated that a successful life must include serving others. It is becoming expected of Americans to go beyond the call of duty and help their fellow man.

The Grange has been involved in these types of projects for the past 100 years and is adding new programs right now. If you feel you would like to become involved, now definitely is the time.

To join the Grange contact the local grange in your area or get more information by contacting the Pennsylvania State Grange, 1604 North Second Street, Harrisburg, PA 17102 or call toll free: 1-800-552-3865.

Local Dairy Producers Elected To National Post

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — During its July meeting, the board of directors of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council (ADADC) elected four of its members to represent the organization on the national level.

The four members will serve as directors on the board of the United Dairy Industry Association (UDIA).

Elected members are: Raymond Johnson, Schaghticoke, N.Y.; Ronald Harris, Stanley, N.Y.; Allen Roszel, Montrose, Pa.; and David Hardie, Lansing, N.Y. They will represent ADADC at the upcoming meeting of UDIA taking place in Salt Lake City, Utah, September 18-20.

UDIA is a federation which develops dairy advertising and promotion programs on behalf of its member units. ADADC is one of 26 regional promotion units serviced by UDIA.

Campbell broke the reserve champion recorded by bidding $8 a pound for Suzanne Dollar's 134-pound lamb.

Dick LeTrent bought the lightweight champ for $4 a pound and then donated it to a local rest home. LeTrent bought a total of 10 animals throughout the sale, all of which he donated to local rest homes or schools.

Kevin Miller's reserve lightweight champ brought $2.75 and the reserve middle class champ owned by Candace Crawford brought $1.50 per pound. Both were purchased by Giant Eagle, a local grocery store.

The reserve heavy champ owned by Nanette Whitfield went for $2; Shawn Miller's grand champ carcass was bought for $8.25 a pound by Thomas Chevrolet; and Bedford Farm Bureau paid $8.50 a pound for the reserve grand champ carcass.

The lamb prices remained high. The lowest price paid was $1.25.

"Would the bidding hold throughout the hog sale?" was the concern of a number of parents as the junior livestock sale continued.

It did, with William Campbell bidding Ginger Kegg's 218-pound grand champ hog to $13.75. American Outfitters quickly came back with a $6.75 bid for the reserve champ, breaking all previously set records.

A smiling, Angie Gates picked up $7.50 for her 152-pound champion carcass when it was bought by Bedford Farm Bureau. Her brother Adam received $3.25 for the reserve carcass from Ben Kendall, a Bedford CPA.

The price of pork did not drop. The lowest price was $1.05. Hogs were donated to local fire departments, charitable organizations, nursing homes, children and youth, United Way, and Special Olympics.

Young 4-H member Nathan Claycomb showed a stunning 1,229-pound grand champion black Angus to the crowd of anxious bidders and didn't hear it stop until it reached $8.50. For the third year in a row, the champ was bought by Bob Turkovich.

Claycomb will remain the owner of the steer until the end of the show road this summer, when he will turn over the reins to the Bedford Lions Club. The donation was made by Turkovich.

Claycomb also owned the 1,051-pound reserve grand, which had all records smashed when it was purchased by Jay Claycomb of Water's Edge Farm near Everett for another $8.50. Claycomb donated the steer to the Morrison's Cove Church of the Brethren Home.

A 1,214-pound home bred champion, owned by Kevin Miller of Bedford, was bought by Fay Leydig for the Dinner Bell Restaurant in Hyndman for $3.10. The county bred champ owned by John Claycomb, Osterburg, was bought by William Campbell for $2.10.

Emerick's Meat Market bought the middle weight champ from Jennifer Callihan for $0.85. Jay Ryan's reserve heavy weight brought $0.83: Adam Talbert's, reserve middle weight, $0.85; Angela Manges' reserve light weight, $0.85; Brandi Shaw's reserve home bred, $0.86; and Ginger Kegg's, reserve county bred, $0.88.

The bidding on the rest of the steers remained about $0.85 throughout the sale.

Clayton Winebark, Indiana auctioneer, saw a total of $127,467.34 paid for 53 lambs, 77 hogs, and 65 steers.

Snider Homestead Farms Takes Top Guernsey Awards

Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.)— Brandon Snider of Snider Homestead Farms took the grand and reserve grand awards at the open class Guernsey Show held at the Bedford County Fair.

The Sniders entered 20 cows in competition and added 13 blue ribbons to their collection.

"It was the mammary system that determined the champion," Judge John Howard said of the 16,000-pound milker. She also took the reserve grand award at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show.

Sniders also had the reserve champion as well as the junior champion at the Junior Dairy Show.

The grand champion Holstein award went to the A.K. Mohr farm of Baker Summit. "She's a good-looking cow and the high udder is why I'm giving her the top award," Howard said.

Reserve grand went to Bill Snider of the Allenor Farms.

The Stan-El Koontz farm was proud to show the grand champion Jersey, a cow who beat their last year's champ. The reserve champion was owned by Rolaine

Chupp Has Champion Steer Again

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.)—The grand champion steer at the County 4-H round-up held in the fair grounds last week, was shown by Kristin Chupp, New Holland. Chupp, a veteran in the show ring, has had several previous champions in the Southeast District Beef Show and has won showmanship awards including first place in the graduate class last Thursday night.

The champion, a Chiania-Angus crossbred named Wayne, topped the heavyweight class and was credited by ring-side observers as the best steer Chupp has shown. Judge Brian Fitzgerald, Kennett-Square, described the winner as having "expression of loin and spring of rib with overall balance, capacity and natural muscling."

The reserve grand champion was shown by Casey High, Lititz. This Angus crossbred was second in the heavyweight class.

In the showmanship class, only those who had never won in a previous contest were eligible to compete. Brad Linton, Kirkwood, was the winner and receives the Intelligencer Journal steer award.

Kristin Chupp has the grand champion. Mylin Good, long-time 4-H leader, makes the award presentation.

Reserve champion in the showmanship contest was Dwain Livengood, Lancaster. Livengood received a $300 check from Lancaster Farming for his efforts.

Placings are as follows:

Western Maryland Holstein Show Results

Maryland Correspondent

HAGERSTOWN, MD. — The Western Maryland Holstein Field Day was held at the Hagerstown Speedway. The exhibitors were grateful to have a tent this year for their show and are hoping next year the barns and show ring at the new Ag Complex will be completed.

Judging the show was Robert Knutsen, past president of the Maryland Holstein Association. He and his wife Ginger travelled from Rising Sun, Md. Judge Knutsen appreciated the quality of animals that were exhibited and felt the champions could handle the tough competition at the Maryland State Fair.

From left, Douglas Boop stands with the top animal of the Union County West End Fair, a Jersey that was named both supreme champion and grand champion of its breed. Stewart Shoemaker shows his own Jersey that took FFA champion.

LAURELTON (Union Co.) — The 1990 County West End Fair was held in Laurelton, earlier this month. One hundred and nineteen Union County animals were cataloged for the week-long fair.

Dean Daubert, of McElhattan, judged. The supreme grand champion of the show was a junior 2-year-old Jersey owned by Douglas S. Boop of Millmont RD1. The grand champion Jersey was sired by Bridon Master Admiral-ET and was both the open and 4-H Jersey champion.

The reserve champion of the Jersey show was owned by San-Be Farms of Millmont RD 1. The 3-year-old Jersey was sired by Highland Magic Duncan.

The 4-H reserve champion Jersey was a 5-year-old cow owned by Amy Jo Sanders of Millmont RD 1. The champion FFA Jersey was owned by Stewart Shoemaker of Mifflinburg RD 1. The Mifflinburg High School senior's 2-year-old cow was sired by Mayfield Volunteer.

A 3-year-old cow sired by Shadewell Fascinator was the reserve champion FFA Jersey. She was owned by Kevin Roush of Mifflinburg RD 1.

The only entry in the get-of-sire class in the Jersey breed was sired by Rocky Hill SIlver Saint.

The grand champion of the Holstein show was owned by Zi-We's Dairy Farm of Mifflinburg, RD 2. The 3-year-old dry cow was sired by Joyland Forcaster Starlite.

A 3-year-old owned by John Rishel of RD 1 Mifflinburg was the grand champion of the FFA show and reserve champion Holstein. Rishel's cow, sired by Dietrichs Frankie, was also given the owner/breeder award for the show.

The reserve champion FFA Holstein was owned by Jonathan Boop of RD 1 Millmont. Boop's 5-year-old cow was sired by Breezyview Job Royal Stewart.

The Holstein 4-H champions were both senior 2-year-olds. The champion was owned by Branden K. Heimbach of Millmont RD1 and the reserve champion was owned by Douglas Boop, also of Millmont.

The first place senior get was sired by Modik Valiant Count-ET. The 2-year-olds were owned by Zi-We's Dairy Farm, Dan A. Kuhns, and Douglas Boop. The first place produce of dam was shown by Doug Boop. In the best three females Boop's Farm was first and Zi-We's Dairy Farm second. In the dairy herd competition, first place was awarded to Zi-We's Dairy Farm and second to Boop's Farm.

others were set aside.

Vough said visual comparisons were difficult to make. He said the hay was all close-looking and top quality. Smell, and checking the inside of the bale sections were necessary to determine which was truly better.

A final analysis was performed on each. They were tested for nutritive and chemical content by staff members working the portable forage testing van, the same one that tours the state offering its services to farmers.

The top hay bale sections tested out just under 20 percent protein on a total dry matter basis.

Harnish said he a little shocked that he came away with two titles.

"I was suprised. I knew my hay was pretty good, but there's always somebody with something better.

"Last year I took third or fourth place," he said.

As for the Farm Show, "I was entered last year and didn't place. I think I just ... well on the field cured hay I happend to hit better weather this year," Harnish said.

He said he is happy with the results of the is reason for competing arrives out of curiosity and a desire to compete.

"I'm pleased. It seemed like these hay shows, like the central counties they're usually the winners and there are never too many people from Lancaster County who enter. And we ought to let them know that we grow alfalfa too."

He said another driving force came into play in his entering the contest. "It was curiosity and fascination to see if yours is better than the next guy's. I always like a little competition.

"For a couple years I was in the state's corn growing contest and the state forage and grassland council has an alafala growing contest and I had been in it a couple of times. I never placed too high. I think last year I was second or third in the county."

According to Al Dugan, retired director of research for Milton Hershey School Farms who was helping with the hay show in a consulting position, the key to growing top quality alfalfa is potash — perhaps more than several hundred pounds of it.

Harnish said that his applications of the nutrient have been heavy and that his soil is naturally high in potassium hydroxide.

"We put a good bit of potash on," Harnish said. "We put on about 350 pounds of 0-0-60 twice, so that figures out to around 350 pounds of potash a year.

"My soil is pretty high in potash naturally, and I guess I don't have to put on as much as most people."

According to Harnish, who produces alfalfa first to feed his milking herd of 40 registered Holsteins (that averge 18,500 pounds milk, 735 pounds fat.), he often tests his hay out at about 20 percent protein.

This year he has about 55 acres in alfalfa and what he doesn't keep to feed, he sells. His first cutting usually goes into the silo. The second and third cuttings are baled and half of that is sold. The fourth cutting, depending on storage space and wetness, is either put into the silo or baled.

He said he tries to stress leafiness above color and has developed some harvesting techniques that help maintain a good harvest.

"I use a drying agent when I cut the hay and I think that gets a better quality hay," he said. "It takes a day off drying time."

Of his two winning entries, "The field cured was cut one morning and raked the following morning and by one or two o'clock, it was too dry to bale. And then I had to wait until the afternoon for it to gather some moisture in order to bale — that way you can keep all the leaves.

"That was baled at the begining of the the month, about two weeks ago. It was a third cutting."

The entry that won the heat dried section was a surprise. It was a second cutting off of a new seeding.w nseeding.

Two years ago hay yeild ed better or as good as last year. It's ben a good all around year. we haven't had the etemeren of the past tow or three years.

He said that at auctions, however, different people want to see other things in alfalfa.

"The color is the easiest to see. I saw some hay at tha auctions and different buyers want different things. Some want leaves and they don't care what color it is and of course that varies as to what they're going to use the hay for, of course.

"As far as keeping leafy hay, when we cut it, we spray the drying agent on and I keep the hay in a narrow swath and with the tractor tires are wide and we avoid driving over the hay. I don't even have a teetter. As long as you have reasonably good weather you don't need a tetter. And when I rake, I rake into one windrow and bale when the hay is still damp, but dry enough to make a good windrow. Timing is critical."

ue of an acre foot of water at $700 to $1100 when used other than for agriculture and $40 when used for agriculture. Thus a case was built for cities to get their share of water. In addition, the American Indians believe they are entrusted with protection of fish, so you may not pull down the water levels.

In food safety, publicity is quick to point the finger as where we think the problem originates. But the real problem is how we can measure things we could not measure in the past. Two parts per billion is looked at with alarm because health may be in danger. But two parts per billion is equivalent to 10 seconds in 32 years. Perhaps the problems seem worse than it sometimes is.

—Fat: We have made great progress to reduce fat in the meat we eat, but a new report from the meat advisory council calls for a six percent increase in lean meat and a reduction by 20 percent the fat levels in beef over the next six years. We have made great improvement, meat from other countries has much more fat, but we must make more progress if the meat industry is to remain competitive in the US market.

—Animal welfare/rights: This problem will not go away. These groups are well financed and committed. USDA is now sued becaused they have not properly included mice, rats and birds in the animal welfare act.

—Less ag payments: Lower government payments to farmers will not happen overnight, but will happen. Government regulations will increase, but we will have fewer direct payments to agriculture.

—Biotechnology: We have all heard that bio-tech has kept tomatoes from rotting, strawberries from freezing, has produced more milk and less fat in animals, many things that we see as great things we can obtain from bio-tech. But it will be a long row to hoe because we have people who think this is not the way to go. We can make great strides for humanity down the road with bio-tech.

—Eastern Europe: We will face two aspects of this situation. We will help these people with donated food, and we will have a tremendous opportunity to sell food behind the old Iron Curtain.

—Energy: For the third time since 1970 we now see the need for an energy policy. Whether it's alcohol from corn or whatever it might be, we must do something about energy.

Board Approves New County Programs

ROCK SPRINGS (Centre Co.)— The Pennsylvania Agricultural Land Preservation Board recently approved farmland preservation programs for Adams, Centre and York counties.

State Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff, who serves as chairman of the preservation board, said the action brings to 10 the total number of counties with approved plans under the state's $100 million farmland preservation program.

"The county programs approved recently protect a vanishing resource in three important agricultural areas of the commonwealth," Wolff said.

York County has $3,366,219 -- from state allocations and matching county funds -- for easement purchases. Adams County has $2,970,447, and Centre County has $551,536. Under the program, counties buy easement rights from owners of prime farmland who agree to maintain it for agricultural production.

Other counties with programs in operation are Berks, Bucks, Chester, Lancaster, Lehigh, Montgomery and Schuylkill.

Northumberland Will Hold Twilight Meeting

SUNBURY (Northumberland Co.)— The Northumberland County Conservation District and Penn State Cooperative Extension will sponsor a twilight meeting on Thursday, August 23 from 6:30 p.m.- 9:10 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the Don and Glenn Kauffman farm, one mile north of Greenbrier. Signs will be posted to the farm from the Rebuck-Leck Kill Road.

The meeting has been approved by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture as an update training session for pesticide certification renewal for private applicators. Private applicators will receive two credits (1 core and 1 catefory) toward certificaton renewal.

The program will start with a tour of no-till corn demonstration plots planted by Don and Glenn Kauffman. After the tour, the rest of the program will be held indoors, starting at 7:00 p.m.

Pat Wolfe, Pennsylvania Farmers Association, will speak on the 1990 Farm Bill. County agent David Bradley will present a program on the animal rights and animal welfare movement.

County agents Norman Conrad and Vernon Brose will discuss chemical carryover problems from herbicides and the safe handling, use, and disposal of farm chemicals.

Vacuum Cleaner Loses Out To Milking Machine

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE, (Somerset Co.) — Anne Jenkins of Meyersdale, admits with unabashed candor that she'll choose to do the milking any day rather than to deal with housework, which she detests.

She and husband, Dave Jenkins, own and operate a Jersey dairy farm and are the parents of five children, one of whom is Karen, the current Somerset County dairy princess.

For the last year, Anne has become more of a career woman, farm wife than when she worked outside the home two days a week. She is the Western PA Area Claims Specialist for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. Her region of coverage is comprised of all the counties in the western third of the state plus two counties in Western Maryland.

The independent agents who sell the crop insurance to farmers report to Anne. If a local adjuster is not available for Anne to send, she goes, herself. The same holds true in unusual cases. She says the claimants of crop damage must be contacted within twenty-four hours of filing a claim. However, Anne says she often has made contact within twelve hours.

"The beauty of this job," says Anne, "is I can plan my job." She says she adjusts her own schedule according to those of the other family members so that someone is always home to do the milking, and, so the time-honored Jenkins household rule can be upheld. That is, everybody gets one free morning, and preferably two mornings off during the week from the milking chore. All of them pitch in and carry the seesaw load to accommodate the various individual outside activities the children have.

Anne says it's a rare week when she doesn't spend at least, one night away from home in some motel. With an office in Harrisburg, she might commute to the state capitol one or two days a week. She must keep abreast of changing regulations continually.

Motel time, however, can still be valuable time for Anne. She says she keeps busy by telephoning clients and eliminating the ever-present stacks of paper work. Any spare time she has is spent relaxing with a good book. "The very worst thing about this job," says Anne, "is having to eat alone in a restaurant." Stressing the importance of meal conversation, she adds, "You would think that with a household of kids you would enjoy a quiet meal out. It's just awful!"

Still, Anne says she considers herself fortunate to have the job. "It's really more flexible than jobs other farm wives hold." Additionally, she has the added benefit of seeing much of her state and meeting many wonderful people. Primarily though, it is the ideal career for Anne because it is ag-related.

In fact, when she applied for it, Anne says that 20 years of farm experience was the deciding factor when the civil service requirements of the applicants were evaluated, rather than her former civil service work done for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (now Health and Human Services) during the early part of their 23-year marriage.

"The most important thing is the children," says Anne about her off-spring. Both parents, in her opinion, should have a solid presence in the daily lives of home and family. Wisely, she says, "Most of us are not going to discover a Salk vaccine doing what we do. Otherwise, leaving the children in some cases might result in some great accomplishment which would change the world and make it better." She holds both the father and mother responsible for being with their children during their many years of growing up. "I don't feel that men should barge off either and then say 'this is my job'."

There were times, according to Anne, when even the mending of fences was a family affair. She says Dave called that kind of togetherness, "family quality time." Chuckling, she recalls the kids finally got sick of their father's "quality time."

"The wonderful thing about farming is the flexibility in establishing milking times. You can adjust the schedule to the needs of the family," she says. Kate and Karen, now 20 and 18, respectively, are college matriculates. David, a high school senior, is president of his FFA club. Andy, 10, belongs to a 4-H club. The fellows are also in sports. Anne Marie, the eldest, is serving in the U.S. Navy, San Diego.

Assignment of chores generally falls on Dave. "Most important is the person who does the milking," says Anne. Out of the 54 Jersey herd of cattle, 37 cows are milked. The produce goes to Milk Marketing, Inc., to become cheese at a factory in New Wilmington. So the pricing quotient is based on the protein count rather than butterfat content.

In the beginning, Dave and Anne milked Holsteins. That was in 1970 when they first moved onto the old farm with its two big houses. For 12 years it continued before they switched to raising beef cattle for the next five years. Dissatisfaction prompted them to return to dairy farming.

They traveled to Bradford County to purchase a Jersey herd of 32 head. Anne confesses that she was badly tricked at the time by her husband, who with a carefree air, maneuvered her into signing the payment check. She discovered soon enough his reason. Anytime there was a glitch with the Jerseys, Dave would simply state, "Well, you bought 'em." Anne says, "I have been known to be gullible."

A short time later they purchased 10 more head of cattle that came from South Carolina to Pennsylvania following the severe drought there several years ago. "They were pretty lean at the time," says Anne, "but they have turned out to be good cows."

It was definitely more from necessity than from desire that Anne got her 20 years of farming experience. When the children were young and hired help necessary, none could be found. A thriving and well paying coal industry lured away any potential hired help. Dave suggested they get a babysitter so Anne could help him in the fields. But Anne says she never developed a rapport with the machinery and working the fields like she did with milking the cows.

Daughter Anne Marie, however, fit a tractor like a hand in a glove. Somebody once mistook her gender while she was on the tractor and commented to Dave, "Your boy sure looks good on a tractor." Her swelled ego spurred her forward to keep one step ahead of the guys in handling the machinery.

Anne says that like humans, animals react to weather changes. On rare occasions when the Jerseys misbehave, Anne declares they quiet down and listen when, in a low and threatening voice, she

An important tool for her job that Anne carries in her car trunk is the acreage measuring wheel.

Anne Jenkins, right, and daughter, Karen, are trying to satisfy the hunger of Smallwood Babette Royal, a week-old Jersey calf, whose sole interest seems to be to suck and slobber all over their fingers.

Homestead Notes

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

The farmer covered the phone receiver with his hand, looked quizzically in my direction and asked something seemingly irrelevant.

"How many newspapers do we have on hand at home?"

What?

"How many newspapers do we have on hand at home?"

Why in the world would you want to know that?

Strange things happen around here sometimes when I'm away. But this time we were both away, well over a thousand miles away, attending a cooperative meeting. What could the amount of newspaper flying around at home possibly be of any significance at an Atlantic hotel room?

"We just inherited a bedding chopper to try out."

Seemed that, for an experimental program on recycling, the Extension Service and an area bedding chopper dealer were putting these machines out on a couple of farms to try. We had been fortunate enough to be close to where they wanted to leave one.

But where to get enough paper? The stack I had at home probably wouldn't feed the machine much more than one good bite.

Back home, we began scrounging up newspaper to try out the machine. In my head, I had pictured this to be a shredder, and had visions of long, narrow strips of paper emerging from this machine. Not so. What this chopper produces are more like "rounds" of paper with ragged edges, perhaps up to a couple of square inches in size.

And the animals love it. It's soft, warm, and seems to soak up plenty of moisture. To say nothing of how much fun it is for a couple of rowdy heifers to kick into the air as they romp through a pile of it.

A friend in the next county notes that they have a cow which hangs around the barnyard and waits for her to open bales of shredded paper, just so this cow can tear apart the compacted bedding. Who says animals don't have fun?

Unable to accumulate much of a supply at first, we acquired the accumulation of a church's youth group paper drive. Then, almost overnight, word got around of this very small recycling project.

And the response has been overwhelming. We have paper in abundance.

And that is my whole point.

People are willing, eager, to recycle. They readily separate out the glossy, slick stuff which can get sharp edges that might damage cows tender udders, the colored ads with dyes that might be questionable for this use, and publications with staples, which could do serious harm to delicate teats. They tie, bundle, and deliver neat packages of paper, because they do not believe in burying it.

A young adult class at Sunday School has undertaken a recycling program at church, not because they gain any sort of profit, but because they care. Their concern and willingness to give up time to help a little corner of this earth stirred my consciousness enough that I now separate cans and bottles.

Recycling is not new to farming. Manure is returned to enrich and improve the soil. Crop residues are tilled back into the ground, or left on as a mulch to protect the next emerging crop in no-till methods.

Bedding with newspaper and returning it to the soil is just another method of recycling. Relatives and friends who carefully separate, tie, and even deliver — because they care about conserving resources — just make it so much easier.

Under Pennsylvania mandatory recycling laws, we understand that grants may someday be available to municipalities to purchase equipment like choppers, then make them available to farmers at greatly reduced cost as a way to handle municipalities' papers. When we checked for more details, they apparently weren't all worked out. But, the bedding is cost effective, so the chopper has acquired permanent status.

One thing for sure. It keeps a writer humble knowing that the ultimate use of their "creativity" will be for paper-training a bunch of bovines.

With the county fair on the very near horizon, Anne has high hopes that son, David, will do well in the show ring with his Jersey entries. He recently did so at Martinsburg with his champion winner. Of course, Karen, representative ambassador of the county dairy industry as dairy princess, is in demand for appearances and has many duties to perform as a promoter of such. So the Jenkins family schedule may threaten to go topsy-turvy unless they can hang on to the all-for-one, one-for-all balance that always somehow works itself out and keeps this family ever smiling.

Loses Out

The trunk of Anne's white Ford Tempo is jammed with the tools of her trade. There are stacks of official forms, maps, a moisture tester, an acreage measuring wheel, her briefcase, handbooks, high heeled shoes for important meetings, her novel. It's a portable office, but one few women undoubtably would choose to work from. But the knowledgable Anne seems to be right in her element.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Did you know the word zucchini comes from the Italian "zucchino," meaning little squash or little gourd?

Those little mild-flavored squash (or the big ones too!) go well with just about any food to make a delicious main dish. Today's recipes combine zucchini with chicken. One calls for serving-size pieces of bone-in chicken and chunks of zucchini. It cooks in about 30 minutes. The second uses strips of chicken and thin rounds (or small pieces, if you use a large zucchini), so it's done in about 15 minutes.

Chicken "Zucchino" calls for pieces of chicken and three-quarter-inch-thick chunks of zucchini in a zesty Italian seasoned sauce. It's important to arrange chicken with the thickest parts or biggest pieces toward the outside edges of the dish. Then, halfway through cooking, turn over and rearrange chicken pieces so they cook evenly. You'll see that the parts of chicken toward dish edges are more done than parts toward the center. Taking the time to turn the pieces over and rearrange them means faster cooking in the long run. It also means knowing that the chicken will be fully cooked.

An attractive "done" appearance comes from sprinkling the chicken with microwave browning powder or brushing chicken with microwave browning sauce. If you can't find a microwave browning powder or sauce in your supermarket, sprinkle lightly with paprika before and after cooking.

Zucchini Chicken Casserole originally was an oven recipe made with layers of zucchini, chicken and rice.

The original baked, covered, at 350 degrees for 25 minutes and another 25 minutes, uncovered. Cheese was added and the casserole returned to the oven to melt cheese. Microwaving takes 15 to 20 minutes with additional standing time to melt the cheese.

The original called for quarter-inch-thick slices of large zucchini layered with other ingredients in a buttered 9x13 dish. Soup and water were heated together and poured over the layers. In the microwave version, the dish doesn't need buttering. Soup and water need no heating. Ingredients are stirred together in a large casserole. Be sure to stir twice during cooking to promote even doneness. Cheese is added after cooking and the casserole allowed to stand to melt the cheese and also finish cooking ingredients.

Ingredients were changed slightly in the changeover to microwaving. I sliced zucchini in small even-sized pieces and used a quick-cooking (also called "instant") seasoned rice mix instead of a regular mix. I used the same amount of water as in the original in order to get the right consistency.

Chicken "Zucchino"

2½-3 pounds bone-in chicken pieces, skin removed Microwave browning powder or sauce, or paprika
¾ pound (about 3 small) zucchini
6-8 green onions, sliced in ½-inch lengths
1 can (4 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces, drained
1 envelope (0.7 ounces) Italian salad dressing mix
½ cup white wine or water
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons oil
Cooked noodles or rice (optional)

Arrange chicken with thickest parts to outside edges in a microwavable 8x12 inch dish. (If using skin-on chicken, place skin-side down.) Sprinkle chicken with browning powder or paprika or brush with sauce. Cut zucchini in ¾-inch-thick rounds. (If zucchini is larger than about an inch in diameter, cut in 1-inch widths; then slice ¾-inch-thick.) Place zucchini rounds around chicken. Sprinkle with green onions and mushrooms. Combine dry salad dressing mix, wine, oil and water; pour around chicken and vegetables. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave (High) 12 minutes, rotating dish once. Turn chicken pieces over, rearrange, and top chicken with more browning powder, sauce or paprika. Re-cover and continue microwaving (High) 10 to 18 minutes (depending on amount of chicken). Let stand 5 minutes before serving. Serve over noodles or rice. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Each serving — ⅕ of recipe without noodles or rice; 233 calories, 25g protein, 10g fat, 9g carbohydrate, 623mg sodium, 76mg cholesterol.

Hint: For more flavor, add ¼ teaspoon garlic powder and ¼ teaspoon dried oregano to wine mixture.

Zucchini Chicken Casserole

1½ pounds unpeeled zucchini
1 box (6¼-6¾ ounces) instant long grain and wild rice mix
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed cream of onion, mushroom, or chicken mushroom soup
1 soup can water
1 jar (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms, undrained
1 pound uncooked boneless chicken breasts, sliced into strips
¾-1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Slice zucchini lengthwise, into halves or quarters, depending on size of zucchini; then cut into ¼-inch-thick slices (yields about 4 cups). (With a very large zucchini, remove seeds.) If using small zucchini, slice them into ¼-inch-thick slices.

In a 3-quart microwavable casserole with lid, stir together all ingredients (including raw rice and seasoning packet) except cheese. Cover with lid. Microwave (High) 15 to 20 minutes, stirring twice, or until rice is tender. Sprinkle with cheese, recover, let stand until cheese melts. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Each serving - ⅙ of recipe; 213 calories, 18g protein, 7g fat, 18g carbohydrate, 673mg sodium, 45mg cholesterol.

Variation: Substitute cooked smoked ham, cut in strips, or 6 to 8 strips cooked, crumbled bacon for chicken.

Questions and answers —

Q. Someone told me that putting a cup of water in the microwave with popcorn would prevent the bowl from breaking. Is that right?

A. No. That will not prevent a regular microwave-safe bowl from breaking. All the water does is slow down popping, so you'd have to microwave longer to get all the corn popped.

Do not use a regular microwave-safe bowl or casserole for popping popcorn. The container gets very hot from the hot popcorn and can shatter. The only safe way to microwave popcorn is in an accessory called a microwave popcorn popper, or by using microwave popcorn, which comes in its own disposable popping bag.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

After traveling on a large ferry through beautiful fjords with magnificent waterfalls, we arrived in Sweden. Here only ten percent of the land can be farmed and we see oats and barley growing beside the red barns. Most of the country is forested and we spy some deer.

We traveled by bus to a fancy hotel in Stockholm where a 15-ton glistening, crystal railing led to our dining area. On the way we stopped at a glass factory and saw a craftsman blowing glass. He made a rabbit, a dolphin and a deer while we watched. We purchased some souvenirs here.

Nightfall did not arrive until 10:30 and in northern Sweden they have 24 hours of light or 24 hours of darkness depending on the season. Stockholm is built on 14 islands. We toured City Hall and saw where the Nobel Prize winners have their banquet.

Sometimes our lunch was bought in a small grocery store. It was interesting to see their produce and the way their things were packaged. One day after touring Carl Milles Gardens we ate at an outdoor restaurant where 50 sparrows gathered at our feet for crumbs.

It was rainy one day and so Allen decided to stay in our hotel room and rest and watch television. He was surprised to see our own Lancaster Central Market pictured with a local restaurant owner as narrator. I set out by myself to see an outdoor flower and vegetable market several blocks away. I got lost but finally found someone who understood English and could direct me.

The Wasa Museum was outstanding as it displayed a 1628 ship that had sunk in the harbor on its maiden voyage. More than 300 years later it was raised and restored. This 230-foot long sailing ship with over 700 pieces of sculpture intricately carved out of oak and pine was awesome.

Gasoline in Sweden was over four dollars per gallon. Our bus dropped us at Carolus Linnaeus' home where we saw gardens in the rain. Next came a stop at Goran Pettersson's farm where he raised 280 bulls each year. Their house had two living rooms downstairs and two living rooms upstairs and it was lavishly furnished. That night we took a walk in a woods near our hotel and picked some wild blueberries.

Start Next Year's Perennials Now

NEWARK, DE — August is a good time to start perennials from seed to set out in flower beds this fall or next spring. It is a less expensive alternative to buying nursery-raised plants and you are not as limited in your choice of varieties.

"A few short rows in a coldframe or at the edge of your vegetable plot will provide all the plants you'll need, plus some to share with neighbors," says University of Delaware Cooperative Extension agent Dave Tatnall.

Choose a spot that gets shade from the hot afternoon sun. Sow the seeds thinly in shallow rows, then cover them lightly with sand or shredded sphagnum moss. Most perennial seeds will germinate in one to two weeks and emerge easily through the sand or moss. After planting, water carefully with a fine-sprinkling nozzle and keep the seedbed moist to ensure rapid germination and growth, the agent says.

When seedlings have developed their second set of leaves, thin them to about 6 inches in between plants and in rows 2 feet apart. Sidedress them with 5-10-5 fertilizer, and keep the soil moist during late summer to promote sturdy growth.

"Perennials started now should be ready for moving to flower beds and borders at about the time of the first frost this fall," Tatnall says. "Transplant them with a good ball of soil around the roots."

For spring transplanting Tatnall says that early to mid-April is the best time to move young perennials in Delaware.

After transplanting, apply a 1-inch mulch of dried grass clippings, compost or similar material around each plant to conserve soil moisture and help control weeds. For winter protection, the garden agent advises using several inches of coarse mulch such as stiff straw, salt hay or evergreen boughs around the young plants.

"Pansies are easy to grow for next year's bloom," says Tatnall. "Many large-flowered varieties produce gorgeous blooms. The tufted viola (Viola cornuta) with its solid colors and medium-sized flowers is another excellent edging plant."

Other perennials that can be started now from seed include pinks, with their spicy fragrance, and baby's breath, an excellent filler plant in borders and flower arrangements.

The graceful columbine comes in many forms, ranging from 18-inch dwarf strains to giant types that reach a height of 36 inches and produce 4-inch blooms.

For daisy-type flowers, plant Shasta daisy and rudbeckia or coneflower. These provide a striking color contrast and sturdy, long-lasting blooms for arrangements.

For plants with a more erect habit, consider foxgloves, whose spikes reach three to four feet, or a few hollyhocks to plant at the back of the border. Also consider growing some showy Pacific hybrid delphiniums.

"Many other perennials can also be raised from seeds planted at this time of the year," says Tatnall. If you haven't already ordered seed from your favorite garden catalog, check local garden center seed racks. When deciding which plants to start, be sure to consider the growing conditions in your garden.

Satisfying Salads For Every Occasion

Light and healthy — that's the way more and more Americans are choosing to eat these days, at mealtime and snacktime.

Whether your garden is in the back yard, at the nearest farmer's market or in the produce department of your local supermarket, summertime means fresh fruits and vegetales. Of course, they're succulent and tasty all on their own when ther're at their peak, but to enhance the flavors and round-out nutritional values, combine summer's best garden pick with meat and dairy products.

Everyone has a different vision of the ideal salad. To some, it's a simple bed of lettuce tossed with tomato wedges, cucumber slices and a creamy dressing. For others, nothing will do but a medley of as many different garden delights as they can fit in a bowl. And others must have fruit and gelatin for the perfect salad.

Whatever your choice, whether it is for a side dish or for a full meal, company or family, you're sure to find a satisfying salad recipe in this collection.

LICKING GOOD SALAD

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
8-ounces yogurt
1 container "real" whipped topping
½ cup chopped nuts
10 maraschino cherries
1 cup fruit cocktail, drained

Drain yogurt overnight in a stainer lined with a coffee filter or a cheese cloth. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add drained yogurt. Stir until yogurt cheese is dissolved. When starting to gel, add whipped topping, nuts, and fruit cocktail. Place cherries on top for decoration or mix them into salad. Mold and chill.

Note: Fruit cocktail can be changed to fruit of your choice. For a richer salad change yogurt cheese to cream cheese and whipped topping to 1 cup whipping cream.

PINEAPPLE COTTAGE CHEESE BOAT

Blue Cheese Dressing:
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup (4 ounces) well-crumbled Blue cheese
¼ cup chopped pecans
1 to 2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Sauce:
1 whole fresh pineapple
2 cups cottage cheese
12 slices kiwifruit
12 medium-size cooked shrimp
OR 1 cup small cooked shrimp

For dressing, combine all ingredients; mix well. Chill, covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend. For salad, cut whole pineapple (including top) into quarters. Carefully remove fruit from pineapple; reserve pineapple shells. Cut pineapple into wedges; set aside. Place a scoop of cottage cheese in center of each pineapple shell. "If you're trying to cut down on salt and fat, use a lot seasonings so you don't miss the salt and fat," said Maryanne Sapp. Sapp demonstrated low-fat cooking at the Ag Progress meeting place on Tuesday.

The hourly classes instructed consumers on buying and selecting lean cuts of pork, and in grilling or microwaving these cuts. Participants received recipes and an oven cooking bag.

The audience enjoyed a taste of numerous pork dishes prepared while they watched. One of the favorites was Porketta.

PORKETTA

Remove netting from 3½ to 4 pound boneless pork shoulder
Remove any inside pockets of fat and fill with mixture of the following:
½ cup snipped fresh parsley
2 teaspoons minced garlic
2 teaspoons dried dill weed
1 teaspoon fennel seed
1 teaspoon dried rosemary leaves, crushed
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Roll roast jelly roll fashion. Replace netting or tie with string. Rub roast with a mixture of the following:
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon coarsely ground pepper
¼ teaspoon dill weed

Skewer on spit and roast for 35 to 45 minutes per pound or to an internal temperature of 170 degrees. (Oven roast in 350 degree oven allowing 35 to 45 minutes per pound).

Allow roast to stand for 15 minutes for easier carving. Slice and serve on hard rolls. For spicier pork, fill as directed. Refrigerate overnight and rub coating on surface just before cooking.

ANSWER — A Bird-in-Hand reader requested a recipe for green pepper jelly and for broccoli soup to can in which the milk can be added when ready to use. Thanks to a Lititz reader and to Sherry Rainville, Norwich, Ct., and to Mary Byler of Phoenix, Ariz., for answering.

Green Pepper Jelly

3 green peppers, seeded and cut up
1½ cups white vinegar
6½ cups sugar
2 tablespoons crushed red pepper
1 bottle Certo
3 squirts green food coloring

Put peppers in blender with a little vinegar to blend. In large kettle, put in peppers, sugar, and remaining vinegar. Bring to a rolling boil. Add Certo. Stir one minute, skim foam off mixture, and boil another minute. Add food coloring. Pour into hot sterilized jars. Seal and freeze. Good with crackers and cream cheese.

Green Pepper Jelly

7 sweet green peppers
1 jalapeno pepper
1½ cups vinegar
½ cups apple juice
½ teaspoon salt
5 cups sugar
1 package powdered pectin
Green food coloring

Wash peppers and remove stems and seeds. Cut into half-inch squares.

Puree half of pepper and ¾ cup vinegar in blender or food processor. Puree remaining pepper and vinegar. Pour into a large bowl and apple juice. Cover and refrigerate overnight.

Strain pureed mixture through several thicknesses of damp cheesecloth. Measure 4 cups juice into a large saucepan. If necessary, add water to make 4 cups. Stir slat and pectin into juice. Bring to a rolling boil over high heat, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat. Skim foam if necessary. Add a few drops of green food coloring. Pour hot into sterilized jars leaving ¼ -inch head space. Adjust lids. Process 5 minutes in boiling water bath. Yields 6 pints.

Broccoli Soup

2 cups cooked broccoli, flowerets and stems
1 cup brown rice, cooked
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 cup cooked chicken
Sharp cheese

Mix together. Add sharp cheese as desired. Freeze or can in boiling water bath for 25 minutes.

ANSWER — Kathleen Haak, Bainbridge, N.Y., requested recipes for liver and for oatmeal. Thanks to Anna Cressman, Slatington; Eva Southard, Glen Rock; and to Abi Kibbe, Monroe, N.H., for sending your recipe.

Liver Ribbons

1 pound calves liver
1 large onion, sliced
2 tablespoons wheat germ
3 tablespoons oil
½ teaspoon salt

Cut calves liver in thin ribbon-like strips. Heat oil in skillet. Saute onions and wheat germ. When onion and wheat germ turn golden brown, add strips of liver and saute 3 minutes. Sprinkle with salt. Cover skillet for 1 minute before removing from fire. Serves 4.

Fried Liver And Onions

3 tablespoons bacon drippings or shortening
3 large onions, sliced
1 pound liver
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Heat the shortening or drippings in a large skillet. Saute onions until tender and yellow, 5 to 10 minutes. Remove from the pan and keep hot. Dip liver in flour. Brown slices on both sides. Place on warm platter; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Surround liver with onions.

Peanut Butter Oatmeal Cookies

Cream:
½ cup shortening
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup white sugar
Add:
1 egg
⅓ cup peanut butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
Mix:
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup oatmeal, cooked

Spread mixture in a 13x9-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Remove from oven and spread 6 ounces chocolate chips. Let stand 5 minutes. Mix ¼ cup peanut butter, ½ cup confectioners' sugar, and 2 to 4 tablespoons milk. Add to chocolate chips and spread in wave patterns over top of cookies.

ANSWER — Florence Ann Carlisle of Pork Deposit, Md., requested a spinach salad recipe. Thanks to Florence Mucha, Mehoopany, for sending one she likes.

Spinach Salad

⅓ cup catsup
¼ cup vinegar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
¾ cup sugar
1 medium onion, chopped
2 teaspoons salt
6 to 8 bunches spinach
1 can bean sprouts, drained
4 hard boiled eggs, chopped
1 can sliced water chestnuts, drained
8 ounces bacon, fried, crumbled

Combine catsup, vinegar, Worcestershire, sugar, onion, and salt in blender container. Process until smooth. Mix remaining ingredients in salad bowl. Pour dressing over top; toss lightly to coat well.

COLESLAW

1 medium head cabbage
3 ribs celery
½ green pepper
1 grated carrot

Chop or shred cabbage; sprinkle with salt; let set one hour; squeeze out liquid and add celery, pepper and carrot.

In a large heavy kettle put:
1 cup white vinegar
½ teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon salt (optional)
½ cup water
2 to 3 cups sugar

Bring to a rolling boil. Boil one minute; set aside to cool. When cool, pour over cabbage, mix and fill containers; freeze.

When you thaw out coleslaw, add ⅔ cup mayonnaise.

STUFFED TOMATOES

6 large ripe firm tomatoes
8 ounces mild Italian sausage, casing removed ¾ cup chopped onion
2 cloves garlic, minced
⅔ cup diced Zucchini
2 tablespoons chopped fresh basil
1 tablespoon EACH: red wine vinegar, chopped fresh oregano
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups cooked rice
½ cup (2 ounces) shredded Provolone cheese
6 tablespoons freshly grated Parmesan cheese, divided
3 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley

Preheat oven to 350° F. Slice tops off tomatoes and discard. Using a small knife, remove pulp from tomatoes leaving shells intact. Discard seeds. Chop pulp; reserve. Invert tomato shells onto paper toweling to drain. Cook sausage, onion and garlic until sausage is brown and crumbly. Drain off excess fat. Stir in reserved tomato pulp, zucchini, basil, vinegar, oregano, salt and pepper. Simmer, uncovered, 10 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in rice, Provolone, 4 tablespoons Parmesan cheese and parsley. Place tomato shells in 2-quart rectangular baking dish. Spoon filling into shells, mounding on top. Sprinkle with remaining 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Bake 25 to 30 minutes, or until hot and bubbly. Serve immediately. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

NATURAL KIWIFRUIT SALAD

2 kiwifruit, pared and sliced
1 banana, peeled and sliced diagonally
1 papaya, pared, seeded and sliced
Honey Lime Dressing

Honey Lime Dressing:

Combine 2 tablespoons oil, 1 tablespoon each honey and lime juice, ¼ teaspoon each grated lime peel and paprika and dash salt; mix well. Makes about ¼ cup.

Combine kiwifruit, banana and papaya; toss gently with Honey Lime Dressing. Makes 4 servings.

Removing Refrigerator And Freezer Odors

Odors in refrigerators and freezers may have many causes. Food stored too long, "strong" odor foods not covered or packaged tightly, a drip pan that needs cleaning, or food that is spoiled. To remove odors try the following suggestions:

1. Remove all the items from the refrigerator or freezer. Throw out any spoiled foods. Take out removable shelves and drawers. Wash them with a mild detergent in warm water, rinse well and wipe dry.

2. Unplug appliance. Wash interior walls, door liner and door gasket with a solution of one to two tablespoons of baking soda to one quart of warm water. Wipe dry. Leave the door open for air circulation. Direct a fan toward the inside of the refrigerator or freezer and open windows if outside temperature permits.

3. If odor remains, try one or all of the following means of odor removal:

a. Spread baking soda on shallow pans and place pans on refrigerator shelves or on the bottom and in baskets of a chest freezer. Leave appliance open and unplugged.

b. Buy activated charcoal (treated to remove odor molecules from the air), from department store housewares sections, appliance store, or pet shop. Spread on shallow pans and place on shelves of empty refrigerator. Turn refrigerator on low setting and run without any food for five to eight days.

c. Spread cat litter in shallow pan. Place pan in an empty appliance, turn on and run without food for five to eight days. If odor had not disappeared, replace old litter with fresh and continue process a few more days.

d. Pour several ounces of imitation vanilla (not pure extract) in a shallow saucer, place on the shelf and run empty appliance for a few days.

e. Place fresh ground coffee in cereal bowls. Place bowls inside empty appliance and allow to run for several days. A slight coffee odor may remain, but will disappear after washing again with baking soda solution.

4. If odor remains after trying the above methods, the odor may have penetrated the insulation. Contact an appliance service company for an estimate to replace the insulation. If the cost is high, a new appliance may be a better alternative.

To add pep to salads, while cutting calories, season an eight ounce container of plain yogurt with a dry salad mix. Spoon lightly over salad greens.

Women Increase Calcium Intake

According to a recent Gallup Poll, sixty percent of women are increasing their calcium intake for better health. The poll found that many women are responding to current dietary recommendations calling for adequate calcium intake. Nutrition educators at Dairy Council, Inc. in Southampton, remind us that people of all ages, especially young and teenage girls and adult women, take preventive steps to keep bones healthy and reduce the risk of bone fractures later in life. Nutritionists state that the recommended dietary allowance for calcium for those over 24 years of age (800 mg) can be met by consuming three servings from the milk group daily, while 11-through 24-year-olds need four servings (1,200 mg), as peak bone mass is developed during this time.

A Day On The Farm

KREAMER (Snyder Co.) — Even though the weather was damp, it didn't seem to dampen the enthusiasm of more than 500 visitors who came to the first annual "Day On The Farm" at the Calvin Fisher farm near Kreamer, Snyder County. Free milk shakes, milk punch, tours, and water testing were offered to all those attending the July 21 event.

The purpose of the event was to educate urban residents on the workings of a farm by hands-on demonstrations and exhibits. Hosted by Calvin and Linda Fisher, the farm day featured a sheep to shawl demonstration, petting zoo, soil conservation practices, farm implement identification, barn tours, and more.

A petting zoo was available to children. Animals included goats, rabbits, and sheep.

Dairy Royalty Holds Seminar For Young Promoters

CLARION (Clarion Co.)—Eight current or former Pennsylvania dairy princesses and alternates recently combined their talents to conduct a mini-training seminar for young dairy promoters.

The one-day session was held in the Ag Arena at Penn State University on July 31. It was designed to provide some very elementary and basic information to young promoters, ages 12 to 16, who are assisting dairy princesses and county promotion committees in the job of promoting the dairy industry and its products.

Forty-two young people assembled to learn more about the do's and don'ts of dairy promotion from these very experienced leaders. Workshops were held on topics including: "The Basics: Cows, products, and the industry"; "My Image: What to wear, what to do and how to do it"; and "Giving Speeches: Easier than YOU think."

Also illustrated were methods a young promoter might use to handle "Tough Questions" facing the industry such as fat and cholesterol, animal rights, BST.

Dairy To Be Profiled As Progressive Grocer

Progressive Grocer's Marjorie Wold recently visited Oregon Dairy in Lititz, to interview Curvin Hurst (right) co-owner and store manager and Harry Krushinsky, dairy department manager, for the magazine's September issue. Wold learned of Krushinsky's consistent wins in the American Dairy Association's display contest through a MAMMA press release and decided to feature the Hurst family-owned store. The article will focus on the Oregon Dairy's unique and effective merchandising techniques throughout the store including the dairy department. Also pictured is Bill Snitcher, (left) MAMMA Marketing Director.

TOWSON, MD — Oregon Dairy of Lititz, Pennsylvania, will be profiled in America's premier food retailing magazine, Progressive Grocer.

This family-owned and operated supermarket in Lancaster County, will be featured along with several other stores, in the September issue. This issue traditionally spotlights stores using effective merchandising techniques at the retail level.

Oregon Dairy averages weekly sales of approximately twice the national average of $160,000. Eleven percent of that weekly average is generated by Oregon Dairy's outstanding dairy department. According to national figures the average dairy department generates only 8 percent of the overall sales.

It was the dairy department which first attracted Progressive Grocer's attention via a press release from the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association on Oregon Dairy's consistent wins in the American Dairy Association's display contest.

Harry Krushinsky, dairy department manager, has won the American Dairy Association's (ADA) display contest, placing fourth or higher, each year since 1985. Krushinsky placed second in ADA's 1990 national display contest. His display featured more than a ton and a half of cheese.

A number of factors go into the success of this store owned by the Hurst family. One is the fresh milk from nearly 200 Holsteins at the Hurst family farm which neighbors the store. Most of the milk is processed, packaged and sold at the store. Some milk is shipped to the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative. Much of the cream is shipped to Muhlenberg Foods in Reading.

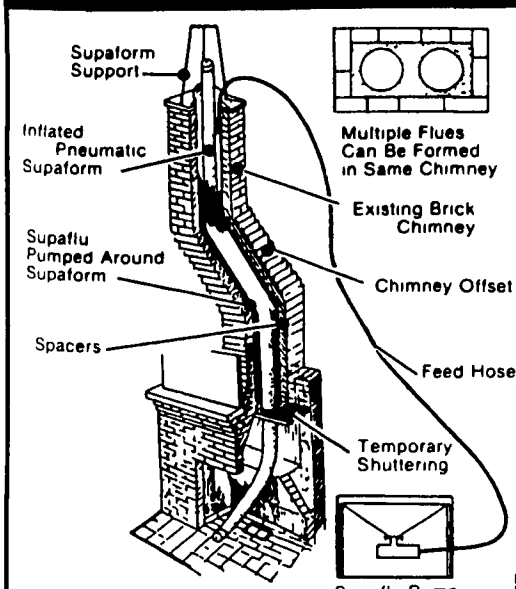
CHIMNEY PROBLEMS?



Supaflu Fights Hot Chimney Fires Before They Begin.

Creosote build-up, cracked chimney tiles, decaying mortar and hog trapped gasses. This is the way dangerous and damaging chimney fires start. A trained Supaflu chimney professional can spot these hazards in a hurry and take care of them almost as fast. A fast cast-in-place Supaflu installation makes your chimney better than new, safer than new. A smooth, strong Supaflu lined chimney fights creosote build-up and eliminates hot trapped gasses, dramatically reducing chimney fire dangers.

These llamas put their best foot forward to the delight of the crowd that gathered to watch the llama show.

Tractor Driving, Llama Competition Highlight 4-H Fair

DAINA SAVAGE
Special to Lancaster Farming

Rain didn't dampen the spirits of the 4-Hers gathered in Manheim for the annual Lancaster County 4-H Fair.

Even the participants in the celebrity tractor driving competition didn't seem to mind it much. The winner, Harrisburg's Channel 27 weekend meterologist Rob Dixon, withstood a lot of joking about his lack of control of Mother Nature.

And finishing second for the second straight year was Everett Newswanger, editor of Lancaster Farming.

The three-day fair was a chance for 4-H members to show off a year's worth of hard work, and they did just that.

The barns were filled with a showcase of baked goods, crafts, woodworking, model rockets, livestock and record books.

Animal projects ranged from the traditional beef, sheep and swine, to the unusual addition of two llamas to this year's fair.

In the county swine round up, two area boys took top honors.

Fourteen-year-old Jason Cox had his first grand champion hog at the fair this year. The 240-pound barrow crossbreed brought $2.85 per pound, a total of $684, in a swine sale Wednesday night.

Cox also had the day's reserve heavyweight champion, bought for $215. Cox is the son of Bill and Sue Cox, 209 E. Elizabethtown Road, Manheim.

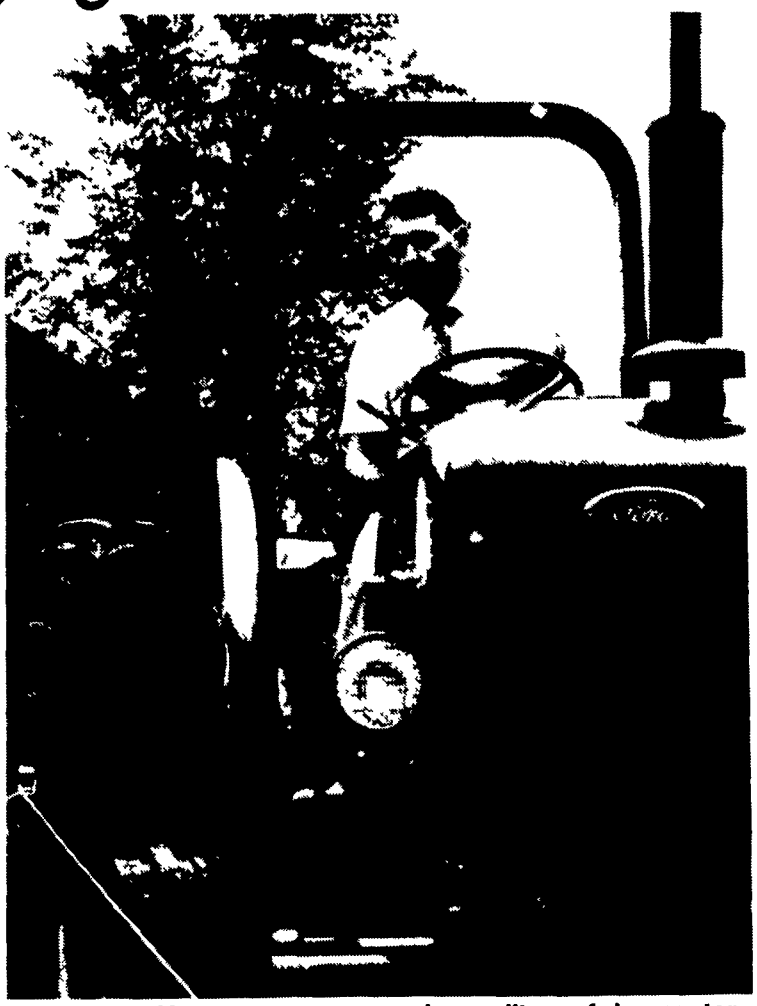
Twelve-year-old Cory Pfautz had his first reserve champion finish with a 230-pound Duroc crossbred gilt that brought $1.60 per pound, a total of $368.

Pfautz also took the reserve title in the roundup's showmanship contest. He is the son of Rick and Sue Pfautz, 110 Pleasant View Drive. The buyer of the hog, Wilmer Kreider, is also from Lititz.

Thursday evening, at the club's county steer roundup, twelve-year-old Casey High of Lititz won reserve champion honors with his 1,265-pound Angus crossbred.

High placed second in the class six heavyweight divison, named heavyweight reserve champion, then continued on to capture the reserve championship.

High is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry High of Lititz.



Everett Newswanger, managing editor of Lancaster Farming, rides high in the celebrity tractor driving contest. He placed second in the competition.

In the lightweight division of the beef show, two Lititz girls placed. In class one, Sharon Harnish took third place and in class two, Lori Harnish placed fourth.

Willie The Butcher of Stauffer's of Kissel Hill also took home a prize. Willie bought the grand champion market lamb at $3 per pound , a total of $360.

The Showman of Showman contest adult first-place winner was Marlin Becker of Manheim. He was the top showman of three animals, a swine, a sheep and a horse. Ed Donough and Kendy Allen, both of Manheim, tied for second place and Lori Holton of Manheim took third place.

The youth winners in the Showman of Showman contest and the other contest winners will be announced at the 4-H achievement award ceremony, which will be held Aug. 17 at the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster.

David Bollinger won the youth division of the tractor driving contest. Bollinger, 13, drives a tractor on his family's dairy farm. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Bollinger of Manheim, he also won first place in last year's contest.

Slip some extra calcium into your diet with cheese on your burger, yogurt on your fruit, or sour cream on your baked potato. Your bones will especially appreciate the boost.

Capacity and efficiency for fast harvesting

When it comes to harvesting, you can't beat the heavy-duty performance that's built into the New Holland Model 790 forage harvester. Performance starts at the cutterhead. The 19 11/16-inch wide, 12-knife cutterhead delivers a fine uniform chop that's just right for most silage feeding operations. And an electric clutch gives instant response and positive control on the reversing gearbox. The Model 790 is available with either 540-rpm or a 1000-rpm PTO drive.

Stop in today and trade for the performance leader in harvesters—the "790" from Ford New Holland.

Crafts, Cooking, Health Featured During Ag Progress

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

Rock Springs (Centre Co.) — Have you always wanted to start your own business?

Then the Home-Based Businesses and Pennsylvania Heritage Crafts Tent was the place to be during Ag Progress Days held Tuesday through Thursdays.

While there, you could take a computer quiz to assess your entrepreneurial skills. The quiz revealed whether or not, the participant could handle risk and if they had the management and marketing skills required to start a business.

Eighteen professional crafts persons, who make a contribution to the economic health of Pennsylvania, demonstrated their skills and their wares during Ag Progress Days.

Visitors could talk with the exhibitors about the orgin of the craft and about starting a home-based business.

Many of the exhibitors such as Joy Gerard and Jane Lippert who operate a handwoven business credit Extension with helping them set up record keeping and marketing plans. The Extension offers seminars to help get businesses off the ground. Workshops cover marketing, legal issues, financing, insurance, risk management and planning.

James Stuart of Port Matilda demonstrated broom making. He has been in business for six years. His brooms are handmade using broomcorn and palmyra bristles and result in a sturdier broom than those that are factory made. Depending on the size and type of broom made, it takes Stuart from 15 to 60 minutes to complete a broom.

The audience watched as Stuart deftly cut the broom corn with a knive than wired it with a broom winder that was made in 1875.

"It takes a lot of back and knee muscles," Stuart said as he demonstrated using the foot pedals to wire the broom around a wooden handle.

Stuart used a broom sewing needle to stitch the bristles in place with colored cording. In addition to household and industrial brooms, Stuart makes decorative hearth brooms, cake testers, and wisk brooms. He can be contacted at R.D.2, Box 444, Port Matilda, PA 16870 or by phone (717) 692-8111.

Exhibitors who have launched successful businesses included demonstrations in wood carving, basket weaving, pysanky, walking stick, chair caning, spinning, dyeing and weaving, quilting, fabricrafts, itinerant talesman, wildlife feeders, pak-chairs, dulcimers, weathervanes, scherenschnitte, smocking, and carving.

If you missed the display but would like to start your own business, contact the extension office in your county for help in establishing your business.

John Tallman of Tallman Aerial Spraying in Dauphin took the lung test offered by Mediq Healthcare during Ag Progress Days. Tallman, who has been spraying pesticides for 29 years and aerial spraying for 15 years, found out that his lung capacity and expiration fell within normal ranges. But many others who work around pesticides and fertilizers did not receive such good news.

James Stuart, who operates a business called Corn Brooms in Port Matilda, showed visitors at the Heritage Crafts tent how to make corn brooms with an 1875 broom winder.

"If you're trying to cut down on salt and fat, use a lot of seasonings so you don't miss salt and fat," said Maryanne Sapp who represented the Pennsylvania Pork Producers at Ag Progress.

Hourly demonstrations on selecting and preparing lean cuts of meat were well attended at the Meating Place during Ag Progress days.

The Meating Place featured pork on Tuesday, beef on Wednesday, and veal on Thursday.

Visitors received numerous recipes and instructions for methods of cooking meat for the tastiest results.

Meats were often prepared with marinating to make the meat tender and delicious. Partial cooking in a microwave and then transferring to a grill showed participants how to prepare tasty dishes in a fraction of the time required with traditional methods.

Joy Gerard of Handwovens in Gordon, spun wool while answering visitors' questions during Ag Progress Days. Gerard was one of 18 craftspersons who participated in the Pennsylvania Heritage Crafts display.

Lungs Tested For Toxic Damage

"Take a deep breath," a representative from Mediq Healthcare instructed the young farmer. "Then blow it out rapidly."

The farmer did as instructed. The test results showed that for his age, the volume of air expelled in one second during a forced expiration was below normal.

This finding reveals that damage has been done to the lungs. "We are finding many farmers who have breathed in too much toxic dust have a lung capacity well below normal," said Dr. Dennis Murphy, Penn State asociate professor of agricultural engineering. Murphy taught visitors at the Ag Progress display about the risk and prevention of respiratory diseases.

"From silos to swine houses, farmers are exposed to nuisance and toxic dust that can result in permanent breathing impairment or death," Murphy said. "Even though the air may look clean, a farmer should wear a respirator to filter toxic dust when working with moldy hay or silage, cleaning out grain bins or working in chicken and swine houses.

During hourly sessions, Murphy and his assistants demonstrated four types of respirators and the dust-filtering ability of each.

Air contaminants in the home and how painting and wood sanding affects air quality was also addressed.

Care For Migrants

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Keystone Migrant Health Corporation has for the second year joined forces with 17 acrea dentists and oral surgeons to offer free dental services to the migrant farmworkers and their families in Franklin, Cumberland and Adams Counties.

A grant from the Alexander Stewart, M.D. Foundation of Philadelphia, founded by a Shippensburg physician, will cover the cost of supplies for dental clinics on August 21, September 4 and 18, October 9 and 23. Three free vision screening clinics will be held on August 30, and September 6 and 13. Follow-up eye care will be provided by local opthamologists.

For additional information, please contact Joanne Cochran at (717) 263-4313 or (717) 352-2447.

Kids Favorite Foods

What do kids like to eat more than any other food for lunch and dinner? Pizza! According to a Gallup poll sponsored by ConAgra, kids ages 3 to 11 chose pizza 82 percent of the time as their favorite mealtime food. Cheeseburgers and macaroni and cheese placed fourth and fifth, both being chosen 42 percent of the time.

Nutritionists at Dairy Council, Inc. in Southampton, want parents to know that besides the great taste the kids enjoy from foods with cheese, they receive much more. For instance, 1/4 of a 12-inch cheese pizza provides 27 percent of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance (U.S.RDA) for protein and 18 percent of the U.S.RDA for calcium. A cheeseburger with all the fixin's provides 40 percent of the U.S.RDA for protein and 18 percent of the U.S.RDA for calcium. One cup of homemade macaroni and cheese offers 38 percent of the U.S.RDA for protein and 36 percent of the U.S.RDA for calcium.

FFA HAPPENINGS

FFA Student Leaders Meet Secretary Yeutter

FFA state leaders from across the nation were welcomed by Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter on July 27 during the FFA State Presidents' Conference in Washington, D.C. Yeutter's remarks focused on international changes and agriculture.

"You're living in a time that is more historic than any of us realize," Yeutter told the officers. "The world is turning upside down right now in a way that hasn't happened for decades, maybe for centuries. Fascinating things are happening around the world and you all are going to be a part of it."

Yeutter added that young people need a solid educational background and an international awareness to compete in a global economy. He urged the officers to learn foreign languages and develop good writing skills. Yeutter also spoke extensively about the impact the 1990 Farm Bill and the GATT Conference will have on agriculture.

On Thursday, a congressional luncheon for the state officers featured remarks from Congressman Fred Grandy of Iowa and from Bill Ames, manager, truck merchandising, Chevrolet Motor Division. Grandy said, "We need leaders. We need people to communicate what agriculture is all about." Grandy noted that many people are uninformed about today's agriculture.

During the conference, July 24-28, the state officers also participated in leadership and informational workshops, met with their congressional representatives, toured Washington, D.C., and attended special presentations about agriculture and the FFA.

Conference sessions were led by the six-member national FFA officer team. Donnell Brown, national FFA president from Throckmorton, TX, said, "The State Presidents' Conference brings together the top student leaders of our organization to cooperate toward our common goal of developing leaders for today's global agriculture."

The State Presidents' Conference is sponsored by Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors Corporation as a special project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc. In conjunction with the youth leaders' conference, national meetings were also held for FFA alumni state leaders. The alumni meetings were funded in part by Philip Morris U.S.A., also as a special project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc. Both groups met with representatives from business, education, and government to discuss issues facing agricultural education.

FFA Names Star Farmers

Four of the FFA's best agricultural producers have been named regional Star Farmers of America for 1990.

Todd Lotter, 21, Monroe, IN; Allen Lewis, 22, Gates, TN, Morgan Ott III, 21, Bealeton, VA; and Weylin Eldred, 21, Bellingham, WA, were chosen as the best of 1,056 American FFA degree candidates. One of them will be awarded the FFA's highest honor, Star Farmer of America, during the 63rd National FFA Convention in Kansas City, MO, November 8-10.

Two officers of the Pennsylvania FFA Association attended the FFA State Presidents' Conference July 24-28 in Washington, D.C.

Each regional winner receives $1,000 from the National FFA Foundation and the national winner is awarded an additional $1,000. All four will participate in the FFA Stars International Experience Tour of Europe, as will the four regional star agribusinessmen. The tour is sponsored by Federal Crop Insurance Corporation of Washington, D.C., as a special project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc.

The regional stars are selected on the management, quality, and growth of their production agriculture enterprises. The candidates' leadership and FFA activities are also considered by the national, state, and local FFA officials who select the regional winners.

FFA Names Star Agribusinessmen

Four FFA members who have started successful careers in agricultural business have been named regional Star Agribusinessmen of America for 1990.

Brian Bingham, 20, Glendale, AZ; Adrian Land, 21, Branford, FL; Chad Luthro, 19, Moorland, IA; and Jody Germann, 20, Bowling Green, OH, were selected as the best of 1,056 American FFA degree candidates. One of them will be awarded the FFA's highest honor, Star Agribusinessman of America, during the 63rd National FFA Convention in Kansas City, MO, November 8-10.

Each regional winner receives $1,000 from the National FFA Foundation and the national winner is awarded an additional $1,000. All four will participate in the FFA Stars International Experience Tour of Europe, as will the four regional star farmers. The tour is sponsored by Federal Crop Insurance Corporation of Washington, D.C, as a special project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc.

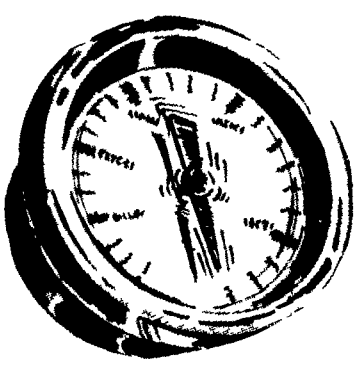
Call if you're under pressure to improve your hydraulic system

If you're under pressure to upgrade your hydraulic system and reduce operating costs, we can help. Our pumps have proven themselves in millions of applications worldwide.



Our variable displacement radial piston pumps can be used in pressure compensated, load sensing, torque limiting and displacement control circuits, as well as numerous variations.

Tolerant to communication, these highly reliable pumps incorporate a unique check valve design that also makes them less sensitive to cavitation than other designs.

After 43 Years, Butcher's Decision To Retire Still Not Easy

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

MT. JOY (Lancaster Co.) — Making a decision to retire is never easy.

It certainly wasn't easy for Velma and John Henry Brubaker. For 43 years — as long as they've been married — they have operated Brubaker's Stonebridge Farm Meats. The family has been a staple of the community for perhaps longer, and their decision early this year to retire, and to become yet another Mom and Pop business to go out of business, has not been easy.

Velma and John Henry Brubaker have closed their popular Brubaker's Stonebridge Farm custom meat processing plant in Mt. Joy. But they don't want to enter retirement without thanking their loyal customers — some of whom were saddened by Brubaker's decision to retire, after being in the business for nearly 43 years.

'I remember about 10 years ago there was a gentleman who said, "Well, I really appreciate what you do. There's one thing — I can come here and be assured that I'll get my meat." And at that time I said to my son, "Did you hear what that man said? Don't ever destroy that. If you destroy it, we're washed up."'

Just 10 years ago, the Brubakers were preparing 1,000 hogs per year and the same number of steers. The family-owned and operated business not only made custom-prepared meats, including some of the finest sausaga and bologna in Lancaster County, but included a small food mart stocked with dairy products and a deli counter.

But now, thanks to a decline in home meat storage (and the increasing amount of stir-fry, ready meals, and "hand-to-mouth" meats for the two-worker households), many mom and pop butchering businesses have been forced to close. To the Brubakers, the decision took years to make, and has been filled with reluctance.

Hurts inside

"It hurts down inside because we enjoyed every day of our work, and it was the hardest decision we ever made," said John Henry.

"When I was a little shaver, there was a man who came to help my father butcher that was in a steel-tired, buckboard wagon, with a horse," he said.

"And he had the butchering equipment on the back. He'd come and usually kill the steer on a Saturday, let it hang on Sunday, and cut the steer on Monday."

At that time, John Henry's family would kill the pigs Tuesday, cut them up Wednesday, and maybe get involved in the cooking and sausage- and bologna-making. The butchering took almost a whole week.

Dead of winter

Often the butchering was done in the dead of winter — the best time to do it, because of the meat-preserving cold, and when flies weren't around — and all the curing was finished before the hot season. Much of the meat had to be canned. In John Henry's time, the curing was accomplished between Christmas and New Year's — an ideal time, according to John Henry.

Before home freezers were used, a butcher either visited the farm, a farmer did his own butchering, or the farmer brought the pigs and steers to a butcher. If taken into a butcher, the meat would be cut to order and placed in tubs, which were brought back to the farm. Until the advent of the freezers in the late 1930s, a lot of work had to be done to preserve meat. Bit by bit, the good muscle meat was turned into dried beef. The lean meat became so much bologna, and the rest would be deboned and canned.

As the years went by, however, more customers demanded complete preparation, cutting, wrapping, and other specialty meat work.

"Forty-three years ago, Bob Edwards of Landisville retired, and people didn't know where to go," said John Henry. "A couple of people asked my dad, and I was in my late teens, and I enjoyed everything my dad enjoyed, and that's the way farm boys do when they grow up, and so I said, 'Let's do it.' I had a lot of pep at that time."

First year

In the first year, the family killed 77 hogs. Gradually, they butchered steers. At this time, the Brubakers operated a 72-acre dairy farm, where the store still stands, with 38 head of Holstein. The barn burned down 18 years ago, and, instead of using the insurance money to rebuild the barn, John Henry converted a three-car garage into part of the present butcher shop and later added a retail store.

"And we had a 100 percent increase in business from one year to the next," he said. "Don't ask me why, but we did."

John Henry believes the business persisted because people appreciated the work. He believes that butchering is an art form. "A lot of people say, 'Don't you get tired of doing it?'," he said. "No. You don't really get tired of doing it because it's an art.

"So when you're carving beef, it's not just a matter of cutting, it's an artist at work, enjoying what he's doing, creating something. You're creating beautiful steaks, beautiful roasts, and there can be just as much pride in cutting a good side of beef and cutting out a ham very nice and making good sausage and making good scrapple as any other endeavor."

'A lot of people say, 'Don't you get tired of doing it?' No. You don't really get tired of doing it because it's an art.'

Steady decline

But since the recession of the early 1980s, the Brubakers have noticed a steady decline in volume of custom butchering. According to the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture's inspection division, each year there is a 5 percent decline in custom meat plants.

"With all the adverse advertisement on nitrates and red meats and people's eating habits changing," said John Henry, "father and mother passing away, or father and mother in a rest home, the children don't want to bother butchering anymore.

John Henry said that he hoped the business would continue. "But by the next generation, it didn't work out quite that way," he said. So the Brubakers decided to "hang it up."

The Brubakers believe they have served the community "in a very accurate way." They charged prime rates for some of their "Cadillac" work. People came from many different counties to purchase some of the finest meats in the state. "Our customers appreciated the quality workmanship and having their custom work done," said John Henry. "The business has been good to us in the past. The thing about it is that we enjoyed it, we enjoyed our customers, and I enjoyed a day's work," he said.

'Don't destroy that'

"I remember about 10 years ago there was a gentleman who said, 'Well, I really appreciate what you do. There's one thing — I can come here and be assured that I'll get my meat.' And at that time I said to my son, 'Did you hear what that man said? Don't ever destroy that. If you destroy it, we're washed up.'"

A public auction of the butchering equipment was held on August 8 at the shop in Mt. Joy. But the Brubakers are trying to find a suitable tenant to use the space available for, they hope, a butcher-related business.

More than a month ago, the Brubakers moved the last of the meat out of the store to get ready for the auction.

After they retire, John Henry and Velma will have the free time together to travel. John Henry will keep up the shop grounds. He will reorganize his farm shop and catch up with other projects, and will continue to maintain 90,000 layer pullets for Wenger's Feeds.

The family was blessed all the years with 'good help, dedicated help, and I always tried to treat help the way I wanted to be treated myself.'

Enjoyed butchering

John Henry said for 13 years he enjoyed butchering the banquet steer for the 4-H Club and enjoyed working with the FFA.

The Brubakers are secretaries to the Pennsylvania Association of Meat Processors, where they recently attended the national convention. He and Velma work as a team, said John Henry. "I wouldn't have wanted to work anymore without her and she wouldn't have wanted to work anymore without me," he said.

At retirement, John Henry believes strongly in keeping busy. "I don't feel as though I'm just going to sit in a chair." After the barn burned, John Henry spent time watching a neighbor milk. "I'm not sure if I'm going to watch anybody butcher.

"But this is what hurts the most. People say, 'You mean I'll never be able to get your good products?' And they'll name 3 or 4. And then I'll say, 'Don't talk to me like that because that's the part that hurts.'

Trial and error

Brubaker said there are still butchers in the business, but many of his former customers will just have to go by trial and error to see which butchers they like the best.

"In fact, I hated to retire. For years I've heard everybody say that when they retire, they're busier than when they were working. So I say I was busy enough when I worked, and I hate to retire, because I'm afraid that if I'm busier yet, I can't handle it."

Brubaker said the family was blessed all the years with "good help, dedicated help.

"But this is what hurts the most. People say, 'You mean I'll never be able to get your good products?' And they'll name 3 or 4. And then I'll say, 'Don't talk to me like that because that's the part that hurts,'" said Brubaker, who was busy recently packing up the items for the public auction of the equipment for his store. Stonebridge Farm was popular in the area for some of the finest specialty meats.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — A reader from Denver requested a recipe for spaghetti sauce. Thanks to Tanya Ramsburg, Walkersville, Md., for sending your recipe. She writes that she cans the juice during the busy summer months than makes the sauce in the winter.

Spagetti Sauce

Remove stem ends and core ¾ -1 bushel ripe tomatoes. Cut up; let stand in colander for 15-20 minutes. Combine tomatoes, 3 tablespoons brown sugar, 1½ tablespoons salt, and ½ teaspoon pepper. Bring to a boil; stir occasionally. Boil gently 1 hour. Puree through food mill. Add:

3 large chopped onions
¾ cup parsley
6 cloves, minced garlic
1 tablespoon basil
1 tablespoon oregano
1 tablespoon thyme
3 bay leaves

Boil gently 1¼ hours or until desired consistency, uncovered. Pack and process in jars.

ANSWER — A reader from Leetonia, Oh., wanted to know how to make dairy sour cream. Thanks to Patricia Wax, Newville, for sending a recipe.

Sour Cream

2 cups light cream
2 tablespoons buttermilk

Combine cream with buttermilk in a hot, clean glass jar with a screw lid. Cover tightly and shake gently to thoroughly mix. Let stand in a warm place until thickened about 24 to 48 hours. Store, covered in refrigerator. Stir before serving. Use within three weeks. Makes 2 cups.

ANSWER — Jean Aurand, New Bloomfield, wanted a recipe for granola bars that are made with honey and oatmeal. Thanks to E. Good of Port Trevorton for sending her recipe.

Granola Bars

3½ cups oatmeal, uncooked
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped nuts
⅓ cup butter, melted
½ cup brown sugar
⅓ cup honey
1 egg, beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt

Toast oats in ungreased large shallow baking pan in moderate oven, about 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Combine toasted oats with remaining ingredients. Mix well. Press firmly into well-greased jelly roll pan. Bake 20 minutes. Cool and cut into bars.

ANSWER — Verona from Virginia requested recipes for zucchini bread. Thanks to E. Good, Port Trevorton; Mrs. Paul Peachey, Belleville; and Alma Wenger, Manheim.

Zucchini Bread

3 eggs
2 cups peeled, grated zucchini
2 cups white flour
2 teaspoons cinnamon
3 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup whole wheat flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon baking powder
2 cups sugar
1 cup oil
1 teaspoon salt

Mix together all ingredients. Pour into two greased and floured bread pans. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

Zucchini Bread

4 cups zucchini, coarsely shredded
3 cups flour
2½ cups sugar
1¼ cups vegetable oil
4 eggs, beaten
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 cup chopped nuts

Heat oven to 325 degrees. Generously grease bottoms only of two loaf pans. Blend all ingredients on low speed of mixer for 1 minute. Pour into pans. Bake until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean, for 50 minutes to 1 hour. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan. Cool completely.

Men Need Calcium Too

It is a common belief that osteoporosis is a bone disease which strikes women. But one-third of the bone fractures attributed to osteoporosis occur in older men and the number of men with hip fractures is growing each year, according to the University of Connecticut Health Center, Dairy Council, Inc. nutrition educators in Southampton, offer the following tips to reduce men's risk of osteoporosis: Receive the Recommended Dietary Allowance for calcium (800 milligrams per day, easily provided by three glasses of milk), exercise daily, avoid smoking and reduce alcohol consumption.

Home Canned Tomato Juice

EBENSBURG (Cambria Co.) — If you home can tomato juice, chances are the juice usually separates in the jar. This is because it is made by the "cold-break" method, to use the food scientist's terminology. The tomatoes are crushed before they are heated through. As soon as they are crushed, enzymes start to break down the pectin that "cements" tomato cells together.

Commercially, tomato juice is extracted by the "hot break" method. The tomatoes are heated nearly to boiling in a matter of seconds. With the "hot break method", enzymes that break down pectin are destroyed before they have a chance to act. As a result the pectin that holds tomato cells together remain intact, a thick-bodied, homogeneous juice is produce.

Because it is hard to duplicate the "hot-break" method at home, Penn State Cooperative Extension suggest the best that can be done is to heat about one pound of quartered tomatoes to a boiling temperature as fast as possible while stirring. Continue to quarter and add more tomatoes to the pot at a rate that does not slow the boiling. After all the tomatoes are added, cook them another 5 minutes then, put them through a strainer.

The least desirable way to make tomato juice is to put raw tomatoes in a blender or juicer. Blending raw tomatoes encourages the enzymatic breakdown of pectin. It also incorporates air into juice, resulting in oxidative destruction of vitamin C.

Hostetler recommends you pack your tomato juice boiling hot into your jars, add 2 tablespoons lemon juice per quart, leaving 1/4 inch headspace and process 40 minutes for pints and 45 minutes for quarts in a boiling water bath or 15 minutes in a pressure canner at 15 pounds pressure. The lemon juice is necessary to assure the lower acid tomatoes, now available and grown locally, are acidic enough to prevent the growth of botulism.

In The House, Barn, Senate, Spahr Promotes Agriculture

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — Few women in Lancaster County promote agriculture more than Naomi Spahr. Although active in numerous organizations such as the Pennsylvania Farmers' Union, Pennsylvania Agriculture Women, and American Agriculture Women, Spahr named an unlikely source as her greatest contribution to agriculture — Spahr's Century Farm Bed and Breakfast.

"It's the greatest P.R. (public relations) work I've done for agriculture," she said. Guests usually have no idea how intensive farm work is. They ask lots of questions. It really helps them understand the farmer's life."

Understanding the issues that farmers face gives Spahr credibility while lobbying in Washington through the Farmers' Union. It has made her sensitive to the need to promote the dairy industry through the Dairy of Distinction program of which she was a founding member.

If you have the idea that Spahr is a "white collar" promoter of agriculture, you're wrong. In the barn and in the field, Spahr has done it all.

"My only mistake was to get so attached to the cows that I had to cry when they were sold," she said.

Even when she started her bed and breakfast operation about six years ago, she didn't slow down with her hands-on farm involvement. Instead, she got up at 6:00 a.m., set the table for the guests, hurried to the barn, milked cows until 8:30, then returned to the house to shower, dress, and serve breakfast to her guests.

"I told them, 'If I'm not in the kitchen, I'm in the barn, just come to the barn if you need me.'"

Intrigued, the guests often watched her milk the cows. "We never really had a bad experience," Spahr said of her guests. "They always respected our rules and did not cause a disturbance with the animals. It's gotten to the point that several of the families that return each year are now more like friends than guests."

Last year, the Spahrs sold their dairy cows, and they now rent their land to a neighboring farmer, but they still live on the 70-acre century farm that has been passed down through Bob's family.

Although the Spahrs sold their cows, they have no intention of forgetting farming.

"All my interests have always been ag related," Spahr said. "My life has been so entertwined with farming that I couldn't drop it off even in retirement."

The white-haired Spahr has dark, expressive eyes that shine with enthusiasm as she talks on farm life, politics, and involvement.

A lively conversationalist, Spahr said that she is interested in many things because life fascinates her.

That enthusiasm serves her well with her bed and breakfast operation. She said, "It takes a special personality to keep a bed and breakfast operation going. You must like people."

Last year, Spahr received special recognition as the Dairy of Distinction person of the year. As a founding member and former state treasurer of the organization she said, "There are many pretty farms that have not been recognized. More farmers should apply for the honor."

Spahr has served on the county dairy princess committee for about 10 years, as a 4-H leader for many years, and she's been a farm women society member ever since she can remember.

Voted in as the county president of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Union, Spahr said her purpose is to work for the family farm.

She enjoys lobbying in Washington for the 1990 Farm Bill. While in Washington with 150 other Union members, Spahr contacted the legislators and aides to give them packets of information on the bill.

"It's my estimation that aides are as important as representatives," Spahr said. "They decipher what is important. She has found the legislators receptive and willing to listen. "The more we can answer their questions, the more informed they are. Since we have farm experience, they listen and take it into consideration."

Spahr would like to see more people join the Farmers' Union.

"Membership is more prevalent in the Midwest than in the East," she said. "The word "union" has a bad connotation in this area among the conservative groups because they think of labor unions, but we really are just an organization for the small farmer. We stand for cooperation, education and legislation."

Of the Union, she said, "I've always liked it because women are considered full-fledged members. We go to the convention as delegates. There is no separate women's organization."

Of the women's movement, Spahr said, "I've been liberated all my life. Although I worked right along with my husband, I still like ammendities like having the door opened for me."

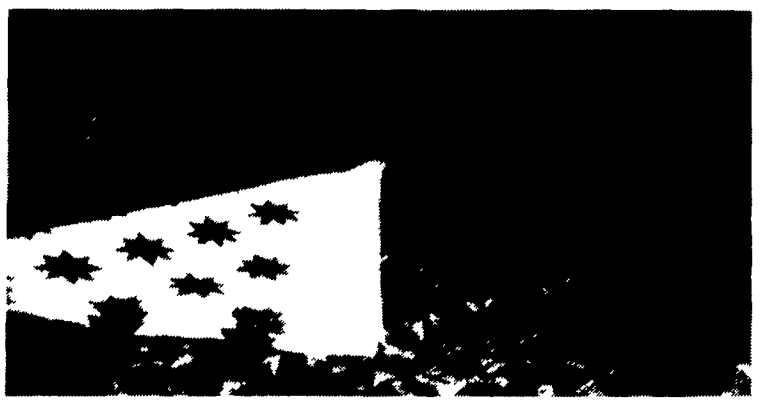
The Spahr's farm was purchased in 1855 by Bob's mother's family, the Benders. The original deed is framed and displayed in the dining room.

The century log house has many antique treasures, such as the rope bed, dry sink and some items that Spahr continues to discover in the attic and other hiding places on the farm. One of the beds has an 1897 crazy quilt made by Bob's great grandmother; and pillow cases stitched in 1887.

With all her activities, there is one thing that Spahr aspires to do. She said, "I've never had a hot air balloon ride. It's one thing I really hope to do someday."

The Spahr's have two children, now married and living elsewhere but still involved in agriculture. Jim works for Pennfield Feeds and Joanne is an editor for Farm Journal.

Whether she is in the barn or in the house or heading up one of the many committees to which she belongs, Spahr's one purpose is to work for the family farm.



Not only has the farm been passed down during the last century, but much of the furniture and accessories as well. A bedroom in the Spahr household has a rope bed covered with an antique crazy quilt comforter made in 1897 and pillowcases stitched with an 1887 date.

A framed deed with William Penn's signature denotes that the Spahr family farm is a century farm that has been passed down through her husband's mother's family (Bender) since 1855.

These pink hollyhocks, the Farm Women's Society's flower, that tower above Naomi Spahr remind her of the special memories associated with Society 19. "I've been a member ever since I can remember," Spahr said. "It's an organization that provides a social outlet and the members share the same ideals and thoughts as I."

4-H HAPPENINGS

4-H'ers Sweep Titles

The Delaware State Fair Junior Livestock Show and auction were the culmination of months-long livestock projects for many 4-H'ers.

For a fortunate few, it proved to be a financial boon as well. Competing against individual youths from other groups, six hardworking 4-H'ers had the satisfaction of taking home either a champion or reserve champion ribbon, plus a tidy sum for their exhibits.

Kevin Evans, Bridgeville, won the feeder hog champion with his exhibit. The hog was purchased by Little Richards Concessions for $4 per pound. Reserve champion hog was won by Will Carlisle, Greenwood, who sold his hog to Hatfield Quality Meats for $3.10 per pound.

Champion steer was won by Shelly Winkler, Harrington. Peoples Bank of Harrington bought the steer for $1.75 per pound. Steve Pieshala, Wyoming, raised the reserve champion steer, which was purchased by Draper King Cole of Milton for $1.10 per pound.

4-H'er Shelly Winkler, Harrington, stands with her project steer, which won the champion steer title at the Delaware State Fair. It was purchased by the Peoples Bank of Harrington for $1.75 per pound.

Amy Webb, Wyoming, won the champion market lamb title. Southern States bought the lamb for $3.50 per pound. Reserve champion market lamb was won by Jennifer Callaway, Felton, and purchased by Martin Limestone of Viola for $3.50 per pound.

Fashion Revue

Tuesday, July 24, Moravian College in Bethlehem, hosted the southeast 4-H Regional Fashion Revue. Fifty-five teens, ranging from eight to 19 years old, represented area counties.

Stepping to the rhythm of contemporary music, these teens modeled sports wear, suits, and prom gowns they had sewn for the competition. The following regional finalists received ribbons:

Top Eight Gold Award - Senior Division (13 and older):

- Sarah Donegan; Bucks County
- Julie Ann Longenbach; Northampton
- Deanna Barthlow; Lehigh County
- Stephanie Heimer; Northampton County
- Jennifer Johnson; Schuylkill County
- Kristen Schickling; Montgomery County
- Laura Dassler; Lehigh County
- Lisa Geschwindt; Berks County

Top Four Honor Group Awards - Senior Division:

- Laura Leiby; Schuylkill County
- Kristen Yarnell; Chester County;
- Jennifer Dunleavy; Chester County
- Michele Wojszwillo; Berks County

Top Four Honor Group Awards - Junior Division (8 to 12 years):

- Melissa Werley; Berks County
- Nora Miller; Montgomery County
- Leah Algier; Chester County
- Jodi Benner; Montgomery County

4-H HAPPENINGS

Chester County 4-H Dairy Goat Roundup

The Chester County 4-H Dairy Goat Roundup was held at the Kimberton Fairgrounds on Wednesday, July 26, 1990. A total of 14 project goats were shown.

Paul Plummer, from Bucks County, did a fine job not only in placing the animals, but also instructing the 4-H'ers in how to improve their showing and fitting techniques. Kathleen Anderson, Landenberg is both senior and grand champion with her 3 to 5 yr. old doe, Fleurette. Kathleen was the big winner for the day as she also captured the reserve senior and reserve grand champion award with Mellow, her yearling doe.

Junior champion honors went to Jami Hanna, Nottingham with her 4 to 12 month old kid named Ebony. Kevin Abbondi, Landenberg showed his under 4 month old kid, Penelope for reserve junior champion.

In the fitting competition, Laura Anderson, Landenberg was named champion while her sister, Kathleen Anderson took the reserve champion award. The showmanship class was won by Kathleen Anderson, Landenberg and Dominic Hanna, Nottingham was the reserve champion showman. Kevin Abbondi, Landenberg won both ribbons for first year showman and fitter.

a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 18. Of special interest to children of all ages is the Fun Olympics on Friday at 3:00 p.m. Youngsters will be able to participate in all types of competitive and non-competitive games, such as the parachute and relay races. Prizes will be awarded to everyone. The event is free.

On Saturday, kids are invited to participate in two special events: the Horseless Horse Show at 3 p.m., and the Pet Show at 2 p.m. At the Horseless Horse Show kids pretend that they are a horse from the waist down and a rider from the waist up. They compete in many different events, much as in a real horse show. Kids entering the Pet Show may bring one of their pets and compete in classes such as the largest or smallest animal, most unusual, looks most like owner, best trick, and animal dress-up (if it's not too hot). No livestock or poultry can compete in the pet show. All dogs and cats must have current rabies and distemper shots.

Other family events include a performance by the Daisy Jug Band, Cross Country Band, a flea market, and games booths. The game booths are open from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. on Thursday, 2:00 to 9:00 on Friday, and from 10:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Saturday. The flea market will be open on Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

For additional information or a Fair Schedule, Call (215) 489-4315.

Cumberland County Goat Club

The Cumberland County Goat Club met July 8 at the home of Bill Leib.

After a covered dish supper, members held a showmanship and fitting clinic conducted by Ginger Myers of Littlestown. After the clinic, Bill Leib gave a demonstration on "Approved Methods of Castration."

Joel Vandaslen and Jeremy Kramer presented a demonstration on buyer's letters and thank-you letters for meat goats. Entry forms for the Carlisle fair were given out.

For more information on joining the goat club, call Red Allen at (717) 776-5097 or Suzie Leib at (717) 697-5374.

World's Largest Hamburger And Sausage Patties

Last year the Montgomery County 4-H Fair made the Guiness Book of World Records for its largest sausage patty. This year the world's largest hamburger patty has been added to the menu. On Thursday, August 16 at 7 p.m. the hamburger patty will be done over an open charcoal pit and served along with drinks. Friday, August 17 at 6 p.m. the sausage patty will be cooked and sold.

The sausage and hamburger patties, which are 115 pounds and five to six feet in diameter, have been donated by Hatfield Quality Meats and Baum Meats, respectively. Proceeds will be donated to the 4-H Livestock Club.

The Montgomery County 4-H Fair will be held at the 4-H Center located on Route 113 between Routes 73 and 29 near Skippack. For more information or to request a copy of the Fair Schedule, please call (215) 489-4315.

Montgomery County 4-H Fair

Montgomery County 4-H members are getting ready for their big event of the year - the 4-H fair. The public is invited to participate in the many planned activities.

The fair will be held at the Creamery 4-H Center located on Route 113, one mile south of Route 73, near Skippack. It will be open to the public on Thursday, August 16 from 6 - 9:30 p.m.; Friday, August 17 from 1 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. and Saturday, August 19 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Special events for this year include the world's largest hamburger and sausage patties, flea market, chicken bar-b-que, pet show, celebrity goat milking contest, and the presentation of the outstanding 4-H boy and girl. On display will be 4-H displays, crafts, and livestock.

4-H Speaks Out

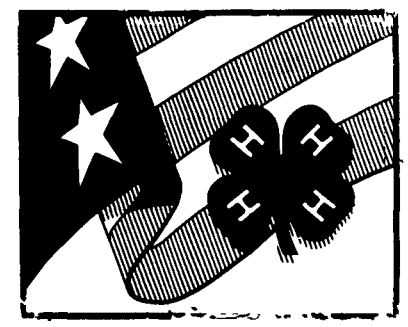
Twenty-eight 4-H members participated in the York County 4-H presentation and public speaking contest. The competition was held on June 25, 1990 at the 4-H Center. 4-H members were judged on their public speaking and presenting abilities with hopes of going on to represent York County at the Regional 4-H Speak Out Night. The regional competition was held on July 12 at the Cumberland Valley High School.

Junior 4-H members who presented a 5-7 minute presentation in the Animal Science category were Dixie Doll, Jefferson; Hannah Stauffer, Wellsville Boots and Saddles; Brett Frey, Davidsburg; Karen Reed, Wellsville Boots and Saddles; Kelly Jo Myers, South West Dairy; and Todd Shultz, Wellsville Boots and Saddles. In the senior division, Vanessa Debnam and Lisa Dehoff represented the Hanover and Glen Rock 4-H clubs, respectively.

This year, Buffy Dehoff represented Glen Rock 4-H in the Home Ec and General presentation cloverbud division. The Junior division included Philip Baer, Glen Rock; Emily Bankert, Winterstown; Denise Lauer, Stoverstown; Benjamin Leese, Stoverstown; Rachael Price, Davidsburg; and Jay Rishel, Glen Rock. Cindy Dehoff and Chrissie Bosley represented Glen Rock with a team demonstration in the Junior category. The two senior competitors, Mark Lauer and Oona Horn, both represented Thomasville 4-H.

In the public speaking junior division Jodi and Kelly Dutrey of the Sheep Club gave speeches. The senior division included Wendy Debnam, Hanover; Carly Kelly, Wellsville; Gail Rishel, Glen Rock; Jessica Price, Davidsburg; and Kendra Miller, Wellsville Boots and Saddles. This year, Jason Baer of Glen Rock and Jeff Itle of Redland competed in the impromptu speaking division.

Judges for the contest were Pat Larusa, York; Mark Kimmel, Dillsburg; Kathy Eshbach, Dover; Diane Moyer, York; Leo Saylor, Shrewsbury; and Guy Naugle from Felton.



State 4-H Judging Contests

Delaware 4-H sponsored eight categories of judging for 4-H'ers at this year's Delaware State Fair.

In addition to teaching the 4-H'ers a set of criteria by which to judge, the contests also are designed to train youth in public speaking and defense of their decisions.

Three of the subject areas were divided into junior and senior divisions. Winners in the senior division of the clothing and textiles area were first place, Dawn Melson (Bridgeville); second place, Gayle Cleaver (Middletown); third place, Andrea Passarelli (Hockessin). First place in the junior division went to Melinda Failing (Wyoming), second place winner was Shana Ricketts (Clayton), and third place was Kelly Elliott (Smyrna).

In the senior division of field crops/horticulture Chad Nelson (Newark) took first place, Will Carlisle (Greenwood) placed second and Amy Ross (Bear) placed third. Heather Shank (Felton) took first in the junior division, Lisa Martin (Dover) took second and Sam Argo (Milford) placed third.

Sherry Sharpe (Wyoming) took first place in the senior division of the food and nutrition contest. Diana Melson (Bridgeville) placed second, followed by Heather Argo (Milford) in third. In the junior division, Kristy Failing (Wyoming) placed first, followed by Joy Weber (Wilmington) in second and Jan O'Day (Seaford) in third.

The horse judging contest was won by Teresa Felker (Bear). Karen Hudson (Harrington) placed second and Becky Embert (Newark) took third.

Jack Fitzgerald (Harrington) won the poultry judging contest. Taking second place was Richie Smith (Farmington). Troy Yoder (Harrington) placed third.

Conservation was won by Karen Martin (Cheswold). Tammy Rust (Harrington) placed second. Howard Argo (Milford) placed third.

Kim Dulin (Clayton) took first place in the dairy judging contest, followed by Amanda Wolfer (Newark), second, and Breck Vanderwende (Greenwood), third.

First place in photography went to Theodore Kittila (Seaford). Eric Zippe (Smyrna) placed second and Shannon Davis (Dover) took third.

Steve Pieshala (Wyoming) placed first in the woodworking area. Chris Melson (Wilmington) was second. Corey Whaley (Seaford) placed third.

Public Invited To Show At 4-H Fair

Do you enjoy crafts, sewing, cooking, growing, or canning your own foods? Residents of Montgomery County are invited to show off their skills by participating in the Open Class divisions of the Montgomery County 4-H Fair, August 16-18 at the Montgomery County 4-H Center in Creamery.

Judging is done on A Danish system, so each entry receives a ribbon. Not only is showing fun, it is educational too. Judges comment on the job you have done and offer suggestions for improvement. The fair will have open classes in clothing and textiles, quilting, crafts, foods and nutrition, home-grown vebetables, and canned foods.

For a complete listing of 4-H open classes, contact Nancy Stevens, county extension director, at (215) 489-4315, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

RYE SEED
New Danko Rye Seed offers many advantages including yields approximately as high as wheat (up to 80 bu/acre) plus high resistance to winter injury, lodging & sprouting.
Danko is a fine-seeded rye variety & Davey-Joan's of Williamstown, New York is a major propagator and source of Danko rye seed in the U.S. They report that even with this year's above normal (25") rainfall in their area in May, June & July they have experienced no lodging or sprouting.
Danko can be planted from the 2nd week in September to November 1st. The ideal time is the first week of October. It grows later in the fall & starts earlier in the Spring.
Davey-Joan's has clean seed available in both bulk truck or trailer loads and in bushel bags at $6.00 bagged or $5.50 bulk per bushel - FOB Williamstown, N.Y. Please call for quotes on tractor trailer load quantities.

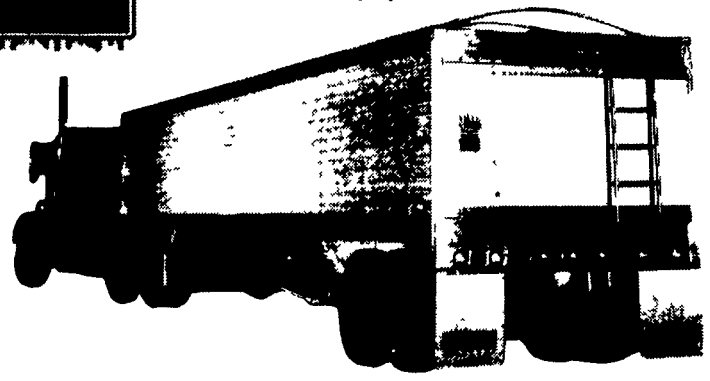
SUPER HOPPER

GOT GRAIN & FREIGHT TO HAUL? SEE THE NEW 1991 SUPER C CONVERTIBLE HOPPER



Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough...the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wing drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

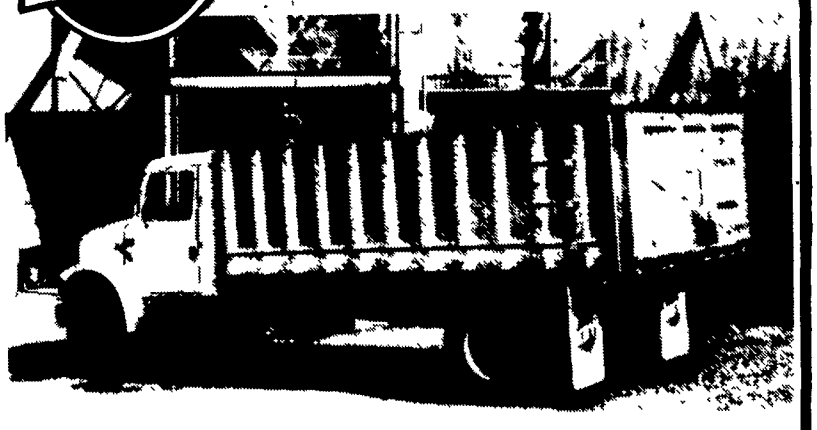
EBY

ALUMINUM GRAIN BODY



CONSTRUCTED FOR YEARS OF MAINTENANCE-FREE SERVICE.

Look over these outstanding features.

- Less weight. Eby aluminum bodies weigh up to 30% less than comparable steel and wood construction.
- Less maintenance. Aluminum construction won't rust or rot - never needs painting.
- Long-life durability. Heavy-duty structural components and hollow-tube frame combine with aluminum floor and sides to stand up to years of hard work.

EBY BLUE BALL, PA

INTRODUCING THE REDESIGNED WRANGLER

OUR BEST VALUE TRAILER JUST GOT BETTER.

The new Wrangler. More aerodynamic. Better looking. And the strongest Wrangler yet. With top-quality components and rugged construction, this Wrangler is the best trailer value you can find.

- LIGHTWEIGHT- Eby stock trailers are 25-35% lighter than comparable steel trailers. Less weight means better fuel mileage or increased payload.
- MAINTENANCE- Eby aluminum trailers won't rust. Welding and painting can cost you dollars in down time and repairs.
- DURABILITY- Eby trailers are built tough. Quality components and 6061 alloy aluminum provide the ruggedness required in a livestock trailer.

Susquehanna County Holds 4-H Dairy Camp

MONTORSE (Susquehanna Co.) — The first annual Susquehanna County Dairy Camp was recently held at the Harford Fairgrounds and over 60 youth participated. The two-day event was full of demonstrations, presentations, activities and hands-on learning.

When youth arrived at the fairgrounds they were paired off and put into one of four teams. Each pair was responsible for taking care of a calf or heifer for the two days and teams competed for first place awards.

After registration, all youth participated in a series of four workshops which were conducted by local volunteers. The workshops included: a fitting demonstration by Mike Hart; a showmanship demonstration by Roger Sherwood; hoof trimming was demonstrated by Preston Sprout; and measuring calves and heifers was demonstrated by Nick Place and Tara Naylor.

The afternoon was spent assisting the youth with fitting their calves and heifers in preparation for the next day's mock show. The evening resumed team competitions through various games and activities. There were discussions on project books, show boxes, and animal rights. The evening activities ended with an ice cream social at which everyone made their own sundaes. The ice cream and toppings were donated by Dairylea Milk Cooperative.

The fitting and showmanship show took place on the second day and time was spent with everyone discussing their strengths and weaknesses. Prizes were awarded for first and second place in each division. Winners in the showmanship contest included: Mark Supancik & Cathy Pavelski, seniors; Josh Curley & Steve Pavelski, juniors; and Matt Pavelski and Elizabeth Seamans, rookies. The fitting awards went to the teams of Cathy Pavelski and Elizabeth Seamans for first place and Rob Gustin and Charlie Spickerman for second. The prizes were brushes and combs donated by Atlantic Dairy Cooperative and the Bill & Sam Smith dairy farm.

4-H Dairy Camp was developed to give youth experience in areas other than just showing and fitting. It was an opportunity for the first year members to get to know others and learn.

For future years many things are being looked into for the dairy camp such as tours, dairy judging, dairy nutrition, and dairy management.

Lloyd and Denise Pease, Joe and Sandy Pavelski, Mark and Judy Sartell and Mike Hart donated the calves and heifers that were used for the two-day camp. Also thanks to all of the 4-H dairy leaders that helped to make it such a big success.

Make Sure Your Next Mixer Feeder Has TMR

T = Total
M = Mix
R = Ration

Does A Much Faster Job Of Mixing Bale Hay!

Mix and Feed with the Finest

If you're looking for a faster, more efficient way to mix feed and deliver it to your herd look no further than the complete lineup of TMR mixer feeders available from Gehl

Ideal for Total Mixed Rations (TMR), Gehl's efficient four-auger design quickly and completely mixes all feed ingredients, including square baled alfalfa hay. A planetary drive system eliminates extra chains and lowers horsepower requirements. And its patented star couplers allow the bottom augers to flex, without shearing pins or damaging the driveline. Trailer-type, truck-mounted or stationary units are available, with capacities ranging from 210 to 500 cubic feet.

Stop by your Gehl dealer today to find out how a new Gehl mixer feeder could profit your farming operation.

Is Your Corn Picker Engine In Shape To Handle This Year's Heavy Crop?

This twin 20 hp is becoming very popular for hay balers and other applications traditionally equipped with 2 cylinder Wisc. engines and can also replace the older 4 cylinder engines on some applications.

Works very well to run corn pickers, crimpers and mower crimper units. We can mount your Wisc. clutch reduction for $1495 or sell the engine with used Wisc. reduction for $1995. Price includes picking up your clutch and delivery of completed unit for you. (Lancaster County Only)

We Only Have A Limited Amount Of These Engines Available w/Reduction
Also Available:
20 HP (Same model) With STD Shaft To Run Hay Balers

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS & CLUTCHES

★ New Wider Heavy Duty Super Sprag 1-1/32" Wide
★ 5 Yr. Warranty Against Sprag Failure
★ Introductory Price $695.00
★ Will Be Introduced At Ag Progress Days

We are pleased to announce a major improvement in TA strength & performance backed up by a warranty that is unmatched in the industry. The 5/8" width Dana sprag which we have used over the past 10 years has proven its ability to perform under the most adverse of conditions and has achieved results that have sent our competitors scrambling to keep up. By increasing the width of the sprag to 1-1/32" and caging it in a heavier frame, we now have an unmatched shock load capacity and dramatically raised our load carrying ability. Our studies have shown that 90% of TA problems are directly related to sprag failure. We feel that we now have the strongest sprag & best rebuilt TA available and it will be warranted as follows:

*5 yr. - 100% parts & labor against sprag
*2 yr. - 100% parts & labor on remainder of unit

Our standard heavy duty TA is still available at $645.00 and carries a *2 yr. - 100% parts & labor warranty.

*Certain restrictions apply and there will be a maximum labor pay-out of $450.00.

We also have units & parts available to rebuild old style TA's, including ramp & carrier sets.

NEW price on ramps & carries - $200.00

LESS FUEL PER ACRE... WITH A CASE IH xpe AXIAL FLOW COMBINE

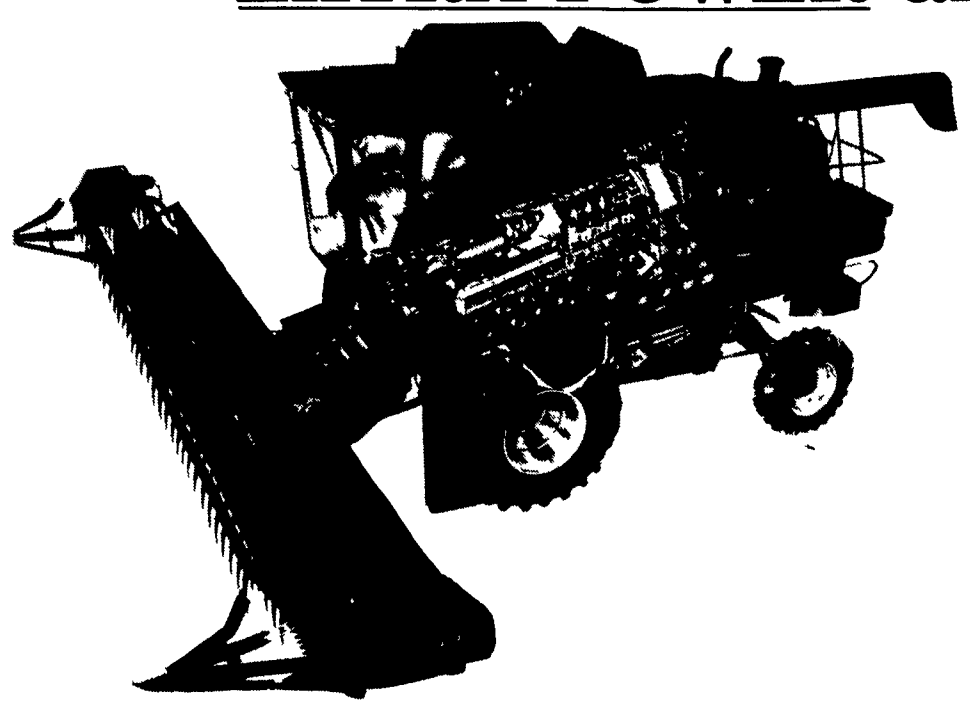
For Over 10 Years the Words AXIAL FLOW have meant two things: BETTER GRAIN & MORE OF IT. But now, you can add something else to that list: EXTRA POWER and ECONOMY



AXIAL FLOW combines are now powered by the CASE IH NCE engines. These all new "state of the art" engines are designed with more torque reserve and even better fuel efficiency. And that spells more acres and more bushels of grain from every gallon of fuel.

There is a model to match your needs...	MODEL	ENGINE
	1640	160 HP, 359 cu. in.
	1660	190 HP, 505 cu. in.
	1680	235 HP, 505 cu. in.

MAKE YOUR NEXT COMBINE A CASE IH axial flow COMBINE FROM THE EAST'S LARGEST axial flow COMBINE DEALER...

Trailer Type & 3 Pt. Machines Available

An Economical Efficient Method Of Making Silage

This is the Agripac System:

- The lift-arm places the bale on the turn table.
- Film is then attached to one of the bale strings.
- As the turn table is rotating, the rollers will slowly turn the bale.
- The film is cut, film end secured and bale tipped off.

POLY SILO LINERS
for Upright Silos
If Your Silo Needs New Life...

Try Our Poly Silo Liners

-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-

- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

Ruff-Tuff Poly Silo Liners Come In Standard Lengths Of 40, 50, 60 and 70 Feet. The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

HOME OF THE FICKES & MADISON SILOS!

Have you inspected your silo door system lately?

WARNING! DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!

Failure to perform routine regular maintenance may cause a fall resulting in serious injury of death to you and your employees.
The highly corrosive environment present in a silo chute will result over time in the deterioration of wood, metal and concrete.
A proper safety inspection must include the following

- Wood doors for rot and damage
- Bolts and bolt heads for corrosion and tightness
- Door steps for corrosion and damage
- Latches for corrosion and damage
- Cast-iron hinge eyes for tightness and corrosion
- Concrete door frames for deterioration and physical damage

(Doors must seat properly in door frames for latch systems to work effectively.)

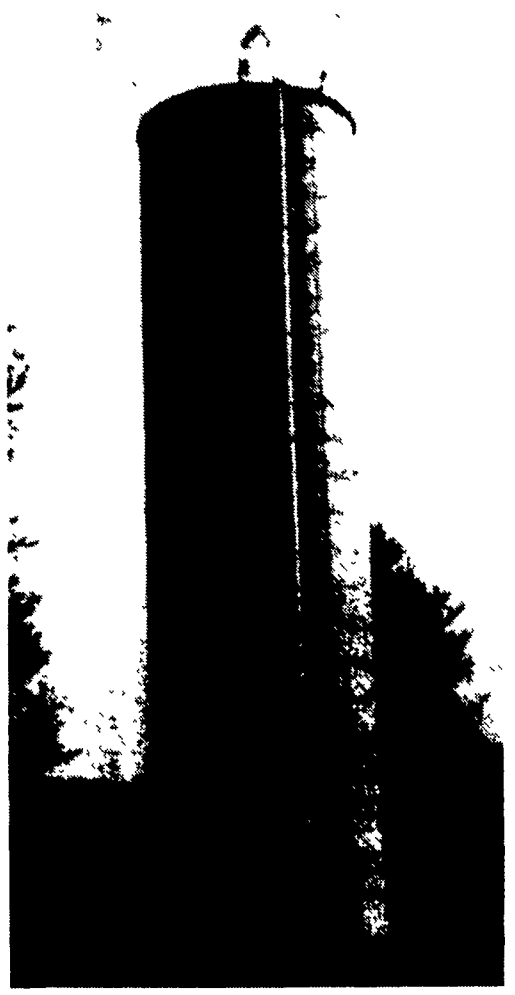
- Circular Tanks Poured-In-Place Above Ground - In Ground - Or Uneven Backfill.
- Pre-Cast Concrete panels Delivered And Set On Your Prepared Site.



The best storage system for high moisture cob corn is a poured concrete SOLLENBERGER SILO, with bottom unloading. The feed can be safely stored at less than 30% moisture, air is effectively excluded limiting mold growth, the silo is equipped with a distributor to keep separation to a minimum which means more efficient unloading and consistent ration. The 6" solid concrete wall reflects heat meaning that heat damage is minimized and feed is kept cooler. Now Is "Decision Time". Make Plans Now To Have Your Sollenberger Silo Erected In Time To Store Your High Moisture Ground Ear Corn.

PRE-CAST BUNKER SILOS
"THE ECONOMICAL CHOICE"
STORAGE FOR ANY FORAGE
Also Suitable For Grain Storage, And Practically Any Other Bulk Material.

The Sollenberger Pre-Cast Bunker Silo Panel Is Designed To Be Free-Standing. With The Tongue and Groove Edges. It Can Be Coated With Mastic & Bolted Together To Give An Air-Tight Smooth Wall That's Easy To Pack And "Keeps Feed Good." Delivered And Set On Your Prepared Gravel Base.

Junior Merit Winners Chosen In Polled Hereford Competition

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Dan Moser of Effingham, Kansas, arrived at the 17th Junior National Polled Hereford Show and Forum with a great deal of hard work and experience behind him. When he headed home, he also had the highest award that is presented to a junior member of the American Polled Hereford Association.

Moser is the winner of the National Junior Merit Award, and was awarded a $1,000 scholarship from the American Polled Hereford Association (APHA) Foundation. In addition, he will receive a trip to the Polled Hereford operation of his choice in the United States courtesy of Harding and Harding Livestock Insurance.

Moser, 21, is the son of Lowell and Mary Jane Moser. This fall he will be a senior at Kansas State University (KSU), where he is majoring in animal science.

Moser believes in striving for personal and professional improvement at all times. He has utilized practices such as pregnancy checking, artificial insemination, heat synchronization, EPDS, and creative marketing to make his herd as profitable as possible. His concern for the beef industry goes beyond self interest, however.

"A goal of mine is to make a significant contribution to the beef cattle industry. This is a reason why I want to attend graduate school. Although my accomplishments to date can hardly be termed greatly significant, I feel I have the potential and drive to make our industry better," Moser wrote. His involvement in the APHA, other youth organizations, and KSU testify to his commitment to this goal. While at KSU, Moser has been active in Block and Bridle and Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity. He has also competed on the KSU meats judging team and is currently competing on the livestock judging team.

After Moser completes his undergraduate degree, he plans to attend graduate school in pursuit of an advanced degree in animal breeding or genetics. He hopes for a career as a professional animal scientist in teaching or research.

Glen Waters first runner-up

The first runner-up for the Junior Merit Award and recipient of $750 is Glen Waters of Stet, Mo. Glen, 21, is the son of James and Judy Waters. He is a junior majoring in animal science and agricultural economics at the University of Missouri (UMC), Columbia, and plans to pursue a career in production agriculture.

Glen's interest in Polled Hereford cattle began early and evolved throughout his years in 4-H and FFA. He manages his own herd and depends upon artificial insemination, embryo transfer, rotational grazing, and production testing to make his herd efficient and profitable. One thing about Glen that has not changed over the years is his enthusiasm and optimism about the beef industry and his chosen breed.

"I feel that as time passes the perception of red meat will improve and beef consumption will again be on the rise. I wish to do my part to help that cause," Glen wrote.

During his years at the UMC, Glen has been active in Block and Bridle, Collegiate Farm Bureau, Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, the UMC horse judging team, and the UMC meats judging team.

Leigh Ann Penn second runner-up

Leigh Ann Penn, Holly Pond, Ala., is the 19-year-old second runner-up and the $500 winner for the Junior Merit Award. She is the daughter of Carl and Betsy Penn. By stressing and improving upon basic herd selection and management practices, Leigh Ann's herd has evolved into a productive and efficient unit. This, combined with her personal convictions, has been the formula for her success.

"I believe in God, I have the greatest family in the world, and I love showing steers and heifers, all of which helped to instill in me some very worthwhile values and to set some important goals for the future," wrote Leigh Ann.

Leigh Ann will be a senior in agricultural business/economics and agricultural journalism at Auburn University, Auburn, Ala., this fall. She has been involved in 4-H, FFA, and the Auburn University Ag Economics Club. Leigh Ann plans to work in agricultural economics and journalism after graduation.

Beam Clinches Grand, Reserve FFA Champs

VAL VAN TASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — Brian Beam had two good reasons to be happy at the FFA Hog Show and Sale winning the grand and reserve champions. The 240-pound champion was sold for $2 a pound to Hatfield Quality Meats. Keystone Farm Credit purchased the 245-pound reserve for $1.20 a pound.

"I knew I had a good pen of hogs but I wasn't sure I would have the champion. The competition is always so tough here," the Twin Valley graduate said. Beam had the champion hog two years ago but this was his first double victory. The last grand and reserve exhibitor was Steve Rohrbach in 1986.

A veteran showman with 11 years of pig raising experience, Beam has a knack for recognizing top quality hogs. His pen included first, second, third, and ninth place hogs in addition to the champs. Buyers gave Beam 70 cents a pound for the four pen mates, one of the highest prices for group lots at the sale.

Beam got his pigs from his cousin, Nelson. Nelson, a former FFAer, has been a long time supporter of the pig show and sponsors the junior fitting and showman trophies. "My pigs were Hamp, Duroc, Yorkshire crosses. There were some litter mates but the grand and reserve were not."

Beam is presently working on his brother William's hog farm. In the fall he will be attending Penn State Berks Campus and will major in ag production. Beam is the son of Titus and Violet Beam, Elverson R.D. 2.

Mike States, the manager of Penn Valley Pork in Bernville, judged the show. The entire group of weight class winners followed a very similar pattern with lots of meat and muscle. States said that the champion was the most complete hog at the show, exhibiting the three dimensions of length, width, and height.

Tammy Balthaser had the cleanist hog in the senior division, while Brian Beam demonstrated the best way to show a champion. The senior showing and fitting trophies were sponsored by Elton Muth.

Wendi Jesilowski exhibited hogs for Rodger Bashore and received the trophy for fitting. Bashore returned from an FFA work experience aboard program in Japan in time to see his pigs sold. Jesilowski enjoyed her first trip to the show ring but didn't expect the trophy. "Rodger keeps his hogs in a clean environment. It wasn't hard to get them clean," she said. Showing was more difficult but Wendy placed third.

Jason Balthaser topped the junior showmanship division.

Overall pigs averaged 69 cents a pound. A total of 15 different buyers purchased pigs and Hatfield bought 33 hogs. Keystone Farm Credit was another big support, picking up eight hogs and reselling them using the buyback system. Buyback price was 60 cents a pound.

The Eastern Pork Producers and Hillside Farms sponsored the grand and reserve trophies, respectively.

Angus Breeders Parade 88 At Show

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — The 29th Virginia Angus Breeders Show was held July 21, 1990, at Harrisonburg. Virginia Angus exhibitors paraded 88 entries before judge Jim Linthicum, Welch, Oklahoma. Judge Linthicum evaluated classes in the divisions of heifers, bulls, and cow-calf pairs.

In the heifer division, Springfield Angela 9208 was named the grand champion. The June 1989 heifer is sired by Leachman Prompter and was exhibited by Whitestone Farm of Aldie; Springfield Angus Farm of Louisburg, North Carolina; and Hale O Farm of Bland.

The reserve grand champion heifer was Northcote American Maid, owned by Northcote Farm and Creswell Farm Inc., both of Forest. The April 1989 heifer is sired by R&J Taurus 1186.

Grand champion bull honors were given to Pioneer Associates, Aldie, for their entry 4 S Pioneer. The bull is a March 1989 son of G V Cornhusker 584.

Hill Crest Thistle won the reserve grand champion bull laurels for G.T. Ward, Marshall, and Susan Rucker, Delaplane. The April 1989 bull is a son of S A F Power Shaft 6021.

Northcote Farm, Forest, and Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Oklahoma, own the grand champion cow-calf pair entry. The cow is T C Peggy Sophia 5140. The January bull calf at her side is sired by Nortcote Excitement.

The reserve grand champion cow-calf entry was displayed by Darrell Bowman, Waynesboro. The cow is Renatas Miss Liberty R601, and the April heifer calf is sired by Grubbs MacKenzie.

LOST PIGEONS AND OTHER BANDED BIRDS

Robert J. Rugaber
Senior Extension Agent
Dept. of Poultry Science

Escaped ornamental, utility, or performing pigeons and lost young racing homers are often reported during the summer and early fall months.

The finder sincerely wants to return the bird to its rightful owner but may not appreciate how difficult it can be to do so. If the bird does not have a seamless aluminum or plastic covered seamless aluminum band attached to its leg, the task will probably prove to be impossible. Tame, unbanded birds probably belong to a nearby child.

Seamless bands will be stamped with the initials of the issuing body, the year, a serial number, and in the case of racing homers, the local club abbreviation. Examples might be AU for The American Racing Pigeon Union, Inc.; IF for International Federation of Homing Pigeon Fanciers, Inc.; NPA for the National Pigeon Association; and so on. There are dozens of other clubs sponsoring specific breeds of pigeons.

Because most fancy and utility breeds are relatively poor fliers, their owners can usually be located in the immediate neighborhood. The fancy varieties are often much larger or smaller than the common street or barn pigeon. They come in colorful patterns, unusual shapes, and a wide variety of feather arrangements. Utility or so-called squab producers are large and heavy muscled like a small broiler chicken.

Racing homers — and to some extent the flying performers such as tumblers, rollers, and tipplers — make up more than 95 percent of all stray domestic pigeons. Most will be young homers lost in training or on a race.

The usual young bird race season in Pennsylvania runs from August through October. A dead giveaway that you are dealing with a racer is the presence of a latex or rubber leg band. These are called countermarks and are the means of establishing a bird's arrival time at home.

Countermarks are numbered and/or lettered on both sides. An AU or IF will usually be found on the permanent seamless band as well. For example, a bird banded AU90BUT609 would have been issued in 1990 by the American Racing Pigeon Union to their affiliate club in Butler, Pennsylvania. The club secretary would know to what member that band had been issued. Band lists are distributed each year for reference.

Most of these lost race birds are only tired or confused and if unhurt may be successfully returned home by providing water, a grain such as wheat, whole or cracked corn, and a place to rest quietly for a day or two. More time will be needed for very thin, exhausted travelers.

Once the pigeon has recovered sufficiently, pick a morning when the weather report is favorable and release it five or more miles from where it was first found. This usually triggers the homing instinct and the pigeon heads for home.

An open area free of high tension wires, trees, and tall buildings makes an ideal release site. If this fails, contact a pigeon feed dealer and ask for the names of local pigeon fanciers who may be willing to take the bird off your hands. Another solution is to have the pigeon released by someone going 50 to 100 miles or more so that the homing instinct might be shocked into action.

Costs of express mail, air express, or other means of returning a bird to the rightful owner are usually several times more expensive than the bird's value. Some owners will, however, travel a long distance to recover a particularly valuable specimen or offer to pay shipping.

Wild song birds, ducks and geese, etc. banded by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service or licensed private bird banders should be reported to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Bird Banding Laboratory, Office of Migratory Bird Mgt., Laurel, MD 20811. If other directions are on the band, follow them.

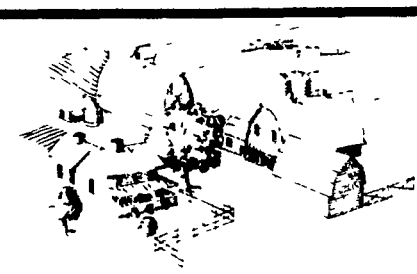
FARM MANAGEMENT



PASTURE RENTAL RATES

Alan W. Strock
Farm Management Agent

Pasture quality varies widely across the state and rental values are figured numerous ways, often based on tradition rather than logic.

For example, Lancaster County pastureland often rents, regardless of quality, for $25 per year. Pasture rental rates may also vary widely even in a small community.

Ultimately the rental rate should reflect the value of the forage or the value of nutrients to the livestock being pastured. Rental rates should also be acceptable to the landlord and the tenant.

The local supply and demand conditions for both forage and pastureland play an important role in determining pasture rental rates. This article provides several methods to calculate pasture rental rates to be used as a standard against which to set your rates.

Using historical relationships

Fair pasture rental rates can be established using the historical relationship between pasture rental rates and selected farm commodities, according to Dave Petritz, Purdue University ag economist.

Petritz said that pasture rent per beef cow per month has traditionally been equal to these two formulas:

(1) 2.2 times the per-bushel price of corn. (For example, 2.2 x $3.15/Bu = $6.93/head/month or $0.23 head/day.)

(2) The price per hundredweight of fed cattle divided by 11. (For example, $77.00/cwt./11 = $7.00/head/month or $0.23 head/day.)

Annual rent calculation

To calculate the annual per-acre rental rate, multiply the number of months the animals will be on pasture by the per-head estimates, then divide this value by the number of acres of pasture needed to carry a cow during the grazing season. (For example, 6 months x $6.95/head/month /0.85A/cow = $49.06/year/acre = $0.27/day/cow.)

This is assuming a grass alfalfa mix that would provide forage for 1.18 cows per acre (annual yield of 3 ton of hay/year), a 1,200-pound cow consuming 29.41 pounds of dry matter per day, and 70 percent pasture utilization.

Another way to calculate pasture rent is basing the rent on animal unit equivalents and pasture quality, according to William E. McReynods, extension animal scientist from Washington State University.

Pasture consumption is highly related to animal weight. An animal unit (AU) is defined as a 1,000-pound mature cow. Thus, a 1,200-pound cow would constitute 1.2 animal units. To calculate animal units for growing dairy or beef animals, calculate the average weight of the animals while on pasture and divide that by 1,000 to get the portion of an animal unit.

Pasture quality values

EXCELLENT (0.30 factor). Seeded grass or grass legume pastures, abundant growth, tender with no blooms or seed heads showing.

GOOD (0.25 factor). Abundant growth of seeded or native grasses or legumes, but less palatable grasses than the "excellent" class or with a high proportion of plants in the early to late bloom or seed stage.

FAIR (0.20 factor). Grasses which are less abundant but adequate. Pastures are either weedy or of lower quality because of lack of moisture or advancing maturity.

POOR (0.15 factor). Short or overgrazed, droughty, or heavily infested with weeds.

Value of standing pasture

The charge for standing pasture should reflect the current market value of the hay, less the harvesting and marketing costs.

Selling forage as pasture rather than hay removes most of the weather damage associated with hay production.

Using the Pennsylvania 1990 machinery custom rate schedule and assuming 40 pound bales are cut, raked, baled and stored, use $36 to $40 as the per-ton cost of harvesting hay. The risk of weather damage will vary from area to area, but 20 percent of the selling price of hay during the pasture season seems to be a fair average.

Calculation of rent per cow per month

Monthly charge per animal (regardless of acreage taken) = average animal weight during the pasture season in 1,000 pound units, times average per ton value of standing alfalfa during the pasture season, times the pasture quality factor (above).

The average value of standing alfalfa is equal to average price of stacked hay during the pasture season, less the cost to mow, rake, bail, and store the hay, less the weather risk factor (20 percent), and less the marketing costs.

Example: Assume 800 pound dairy heifers being pastured. Grass hay is selling for $75/ton, $36 per ton cost of harvesting hay, 20 percent weather risk factor, $4/ton marketing costs, and "good" quality pasture.

Animal Units = 800/1000 = 0.8
Value of standing pasture = $85 (hay price) - $36 (harvesting charge) - $15 (weather risk) - $4 (marketing costs) = $30/ton.

Pasture charge per 800-pound heifer: 0.8 (animal units) x $30 (value of standing pasture) x 0.25 (pasture quality factor) = $6.00 per month or $0.20/heifer/day. This formula reflects the value of the standing forage and doesn't take into consideration other factors associated with pasture rental, such as provision for water and fencing maintenance.

These expenses are necessary if the feed is to be utilized as pasture. Just as mowing, raking, bailing, and marketing are part of the selling baled hay, so it would not be appropriate to pass these costs on as part of pasture rental.

Tenant's considerations

In estimating what is affordable, the tenant needs to consider the profit potential from using the pasture. He should consider the feed and medication costs, plus labor and possibly travel expenses, against return for the cattle when they're sold or the value of the heifer when she leaves the pasture.

Landlord considerations

The landlord will want to recover some return toward his cost of pasture ownership. The cost of fertilizer and lime, fence upkeep, and water supply may be borne by either party. The amount of rent should reflect these costs.

Grinder Chews Up Different Material

JAMESTOWN, ND — Haybuster, a leading manufacturer of farm equipment for more than 25 years, has broadened its lineup of products with a new industrial grinder.

A round tub unit, the grinder offers high capacity grinding for a variety of recyclable products, including waste wood, tree clippings, paper, leaves, grass, plastics, tree bark, and residential yard waste, converting them into valuable end products.

The grinder is suited for municipalities interested in recycling to extend the life of their sanitary landfills or for nurserymen interested in converting waste wood into valuable wood chips or compost. Other uses include grinding paper for bedding for poultry and livestock barns or for manufacturing cellulose insulation or a fuel pallet.

The Haybuster industrial grinder features a variety of screens from 3/16" to 4", to allow for changes in the size of the end product.

The industrial grinder is available in PTO, electric or diesel powered units, with tub sizes from 10 to 12 feet in diameter. An electrohydraulic sensor varies the tub speed rotation, depending upon grinding conditions and load.

For full details and specifications, contact Haybuster Mfg. Inc., Box 1940, Jamestown, MD 58402, (701) 252-4601.

A round tub unit, the Haybuster industrial grinder offers high capacity grinding for a variety of recyclable products, including waste wood, tree clippings, paper, leaves, grass, plastics, tree bark, and residential yard waste, converting them into valuable end products.

Cargill Offers Seed Order Incentives

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Farmers who now book and pay for seed for spring planting from Cargill Hybrid Seeds are protected from possible price increases when 1991 prices are announced.

In addition, they can take advantage of an 11 percent early pay discount if they pay for their seed by Sept. 15.

"We won't announce our new seed-corn prices for 1991 for several months, but farmers who order and pay for their seed now based on last year's price can't go wrong," said Dick Johnson, director of sales for Cargill Hybrid Seeds.

"If the price of any of our 1991 corn hybrids or our alfalfa, sorghum, or sunflower seed increases, farmers who pay now are protected since they will not have to pay the price increase," said Johnson. "And if the new seed price is lower, they will receive the lower price. The program applies only until 1991 prices are announced."

Farmers also will be more assured of getting the hybrids they want by ordering early, and they can get quantity discounts.

He said those who pay for their seed by the following dates will get these respective early pay discounts: by Sept. 15, 11 percent; by Nov. 1, 10 percent; by Jan. 15, 7 percent; and by March 31, 6 percent. The discount schedule applies regardless of when 1991 seed prices are announced.

Milk Cooperative Holds Meeting

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — The Cumberland Valley local of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Association Inc., held its local annual meeting recently to elect new representative officers.

Elected were R.C. Shoemaker, president; Douglas Reinhart, vice president; Kenneth Lehman, treasurer; Robert Helman Jr., delegate; J. Eldon Crider, delegate.

In other business, members heard a business report from director Robert Gabel and staff member Jon Stewart.

The local association also presented a trophy to Curtis Reichard, son of Edgar and Francis Reichard, for being the outstanding first year 4-H member in Franklin County.

Hawk Series Gleaners Redesigned

ATLANTA, Ga. — Four new 1990 Gleaner combine models are being introduced by Deutz-Allis Corporation.

The new "Hawk Series" Gleaners — which include the R-40, R-50, R-60, and R-70 models — feature the new P-3 rotary processor, a new cab, new electronic controls, and other innovations, in addition to the air-cooled Deutz diesel engine.

"The introduction of the Hawk Series represents the completion of a total redesign of the R-Series combines," said Dan Wahl, manager, combine products for Deutz-Allis. "The engineering effort began with the redesign of the R-40 and R-50, and has just been completed with the introduction of the new R-60 and R-70."

Like their predecessors, the key to the new Hawk Series technology is their natural flow rotary harvesting system. The transverse-mounted processor is perforated around the entire 360 degrees of the cage area for more complete separating and cleaning, with minimal grain damage.

"Two open concaves extend 105 degrees for extra initial threshing," said John Hyer, Gleaner combine product manager.

The new line includes machines ranging from Class IV to Class VII combines. For example:

• The Class IV R-40 rotary Gleaner offers a 150-bushel grain tank and 155-horsepower Deutz air-diesel engine. It is designed for rigid headers from 15 to 24 feet; flex headers from 13 to 20 feet; and either four, five, or six-row Hugger corn heads.

• The Class V R-50 rotary Gleaner features a 200-bushel grain tank and 190-horsepower Deutz air-diesel engine. The R-50 will handle rigid headers up to 27 feet, flex headers up to 24 feet, and Hugger corn heads up to eight rows.

• The Class VI R-60 rotary Gleaner offers an 817 cubic inch, 228-horsepower Deutz air-diesel engine and a 225-bushel grain tank. A 240-bushel tank and heavy-duty final drives are available.

• The Class VII R-70, the largest Gleaner Hawk model, features a 270-horsepower, dual-turbocharged engine and 310-bushel grain tank. Both the R-60 and R-70 will handle up to 30-foot rigid headers, 15- to 24-foot flex headers, and Hugger corn heads up to 12 rows.

The new Hawk Series Gleaners feature the new P-3 rotary processor, a new cab, new electronic controls, and the air-cooled Deutz diesel engine. The transverse-mounted processor is perforated around the entire 360 degrees of cage area for complete separating and cleaning with minimal grain damage.

Seven-Foot Rotary Cutter From Deere

MOLINE, Ill. — John Deere has introduced its new 717 general purpose rotary cutter, which has a seven-foot cutting width and several design features that contribute to long-term durability and ease of maintenance.

"The design of the new 717 is completely customer driven," said Neil Lane, product specialist at Deere's Welland, Ontario, Canada, factory. "We interviewed John Deere and competitive owners and engineered this rotary cutter with the features they told us they needed and wanted in a cutter of this size."

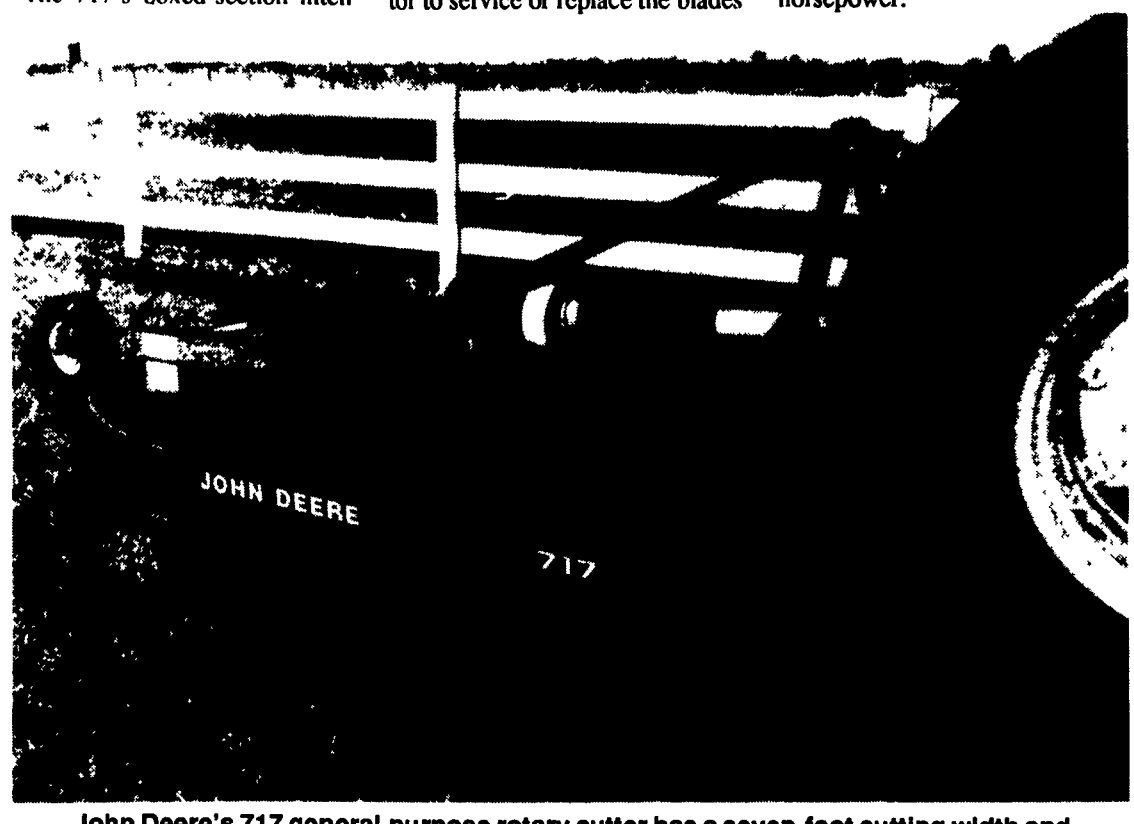
The 717's boxed-section hitch supports are welded to the external frame of the cutter for strength and durability. The unibody, full-frame deck construction with continuous welds provides strength and minimizes trash buildup.

Flanges on the bottom of the side and rear skirts help prevent the skirts from bending when maneuvering in brush. Extra-long, replaceable wear shoes provide added life and strength. The 5-inch laminated tire delivers better flotation than 4-inch designs for a more uniform cut.

A shielded access hole on the top of the deck enables the operator to service or replace the blades without crawling under the machine. A four-plate slip clutch, which directs power from the category IV driveline to the 80-hp gear case, is present at the factory and is self-adjusting. The driveline is fully shielded for operator safety.

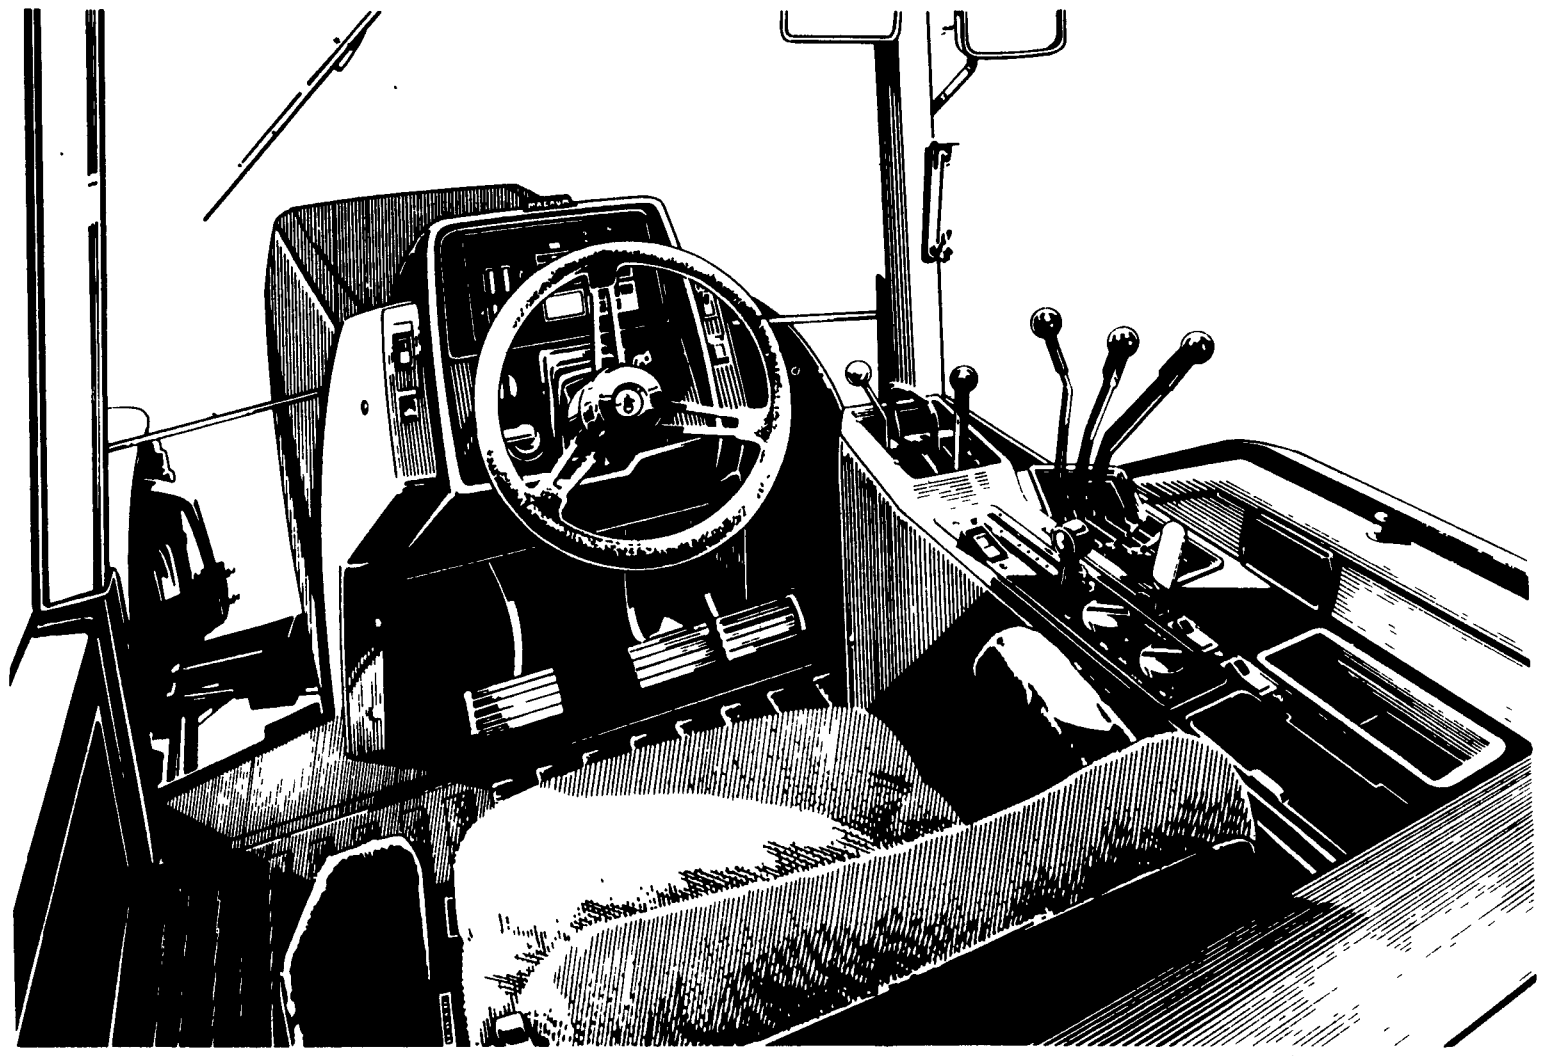
Front rubber and rear solid safety shields are standard on the 717. Front and rear chain shielding is available.

The 717 develops a blade tip speed at rated rpm of 165 mph and can cut brush two inches in diameter. The cutter is designed for tractors with at least 50 PTO horsepower.



John Deere's 717 general-purpose rotary cutter has a seven-foot cutting width and develops a blade tip speed at a rated rpm of 165 mph. The 717 can cut brush two inches in diameter.

MAGNUM COMFORT



See more. Feel better.

MAGNUM comfort means more comfort and operator efficiency. There's 48 square feet of visibility. And the tractor's sloping hood and hidden exhaust provide unobstructed visibility ahead. This cab is bigger, with more head room, and a wide, fully adjustable swivel seat. All controls are conveniently located, and designed for comfortable low-effort operation.

The new MAGNUM Tractor cab will keep you going strong and feeling good. And it's standard on all Case IH MAGNUM Tractors. Four all-new models. 130-195 PTO hp. See us for details.

MAGNUM means more.

Conference Kicks Off Seed Sales

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. — To kick off the new 1991 seed sales season, Northrup King Co. held its national sales conference July 9-12 at the Northland Inn in Minneapolis, MN.

Attending from the company's Northeast sales region were district sales managers Tim Wren, DeGraff, OH; Martin Stites, Sandusky, OH; Bill True, Covington, OH: Darrel McKenzie, Lynchburg, OH; Curtiss Newell, Lisbon, OH; Ron Brown, Gorham, NY; Al Cox, Cato, NY; Allan Tillapaugh, Sprakers, NY; Steve Shipman, Mill Hall, PA; regional agronomist Mark Mattingly, Lancaster, PA; and regional sales manager Jack Gaudette, Doylestown, PA.

The conference was built around the theme "Northrup King... Because You're in Business to Grow." A highlight of the conference was the address by Northrup King's new president Kent Schulze. Schulze, formerly president of DeKalb-Pfizer Genetics, brings 24 years of seed industry experience to Northrup King. His message focused on the contribution which every individual can make to serve farmers better.

A major portion of the meeting was devoted to discussing the company's new sales and marketing programs. In addition, crop production managers informed the group that 1990 seed production was on target for all crops. Quality assurance managers discussed new technologies that the company is adopting to enhance seed quality. Also addressing the group was national business consultant and speaker Dave Yoho.

Northrup King will again be a partner in the American Soybean Association's (ASA) national membership drive. Every new and renewing ASA member will receive a certificate good for a free bag of Northrup King soybean seed. This is Northrup King's third year of sponsorship.

"There is no better way to bring the farmer the value he expects than to work with him closely and see firsthand what challenges, problems, and hurdles he faces in his enterprise," said Schulze. "Our success at Northrup King is based on how closely we stay in touch with the farmer.

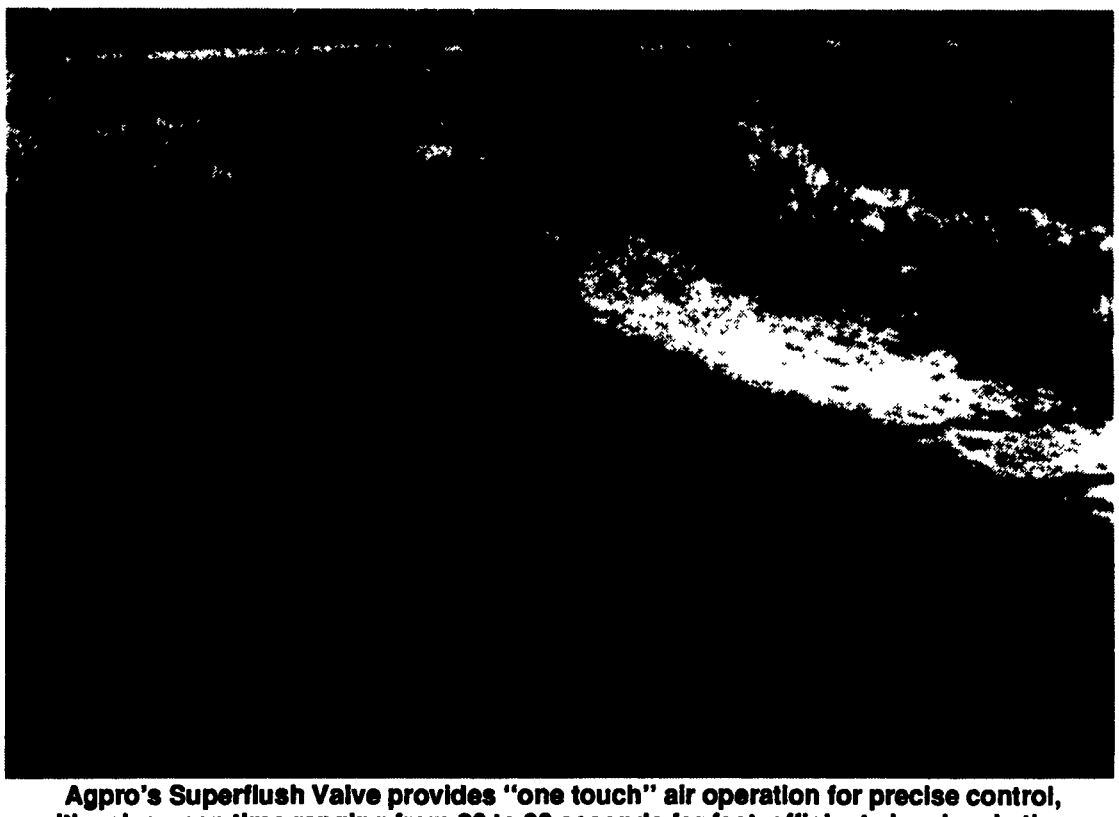
Precise Flush System Cleans Dairy



Agpro's Superflush Valve provides "one touch" air operation for precise control, with valve open time ranging from 20 to 30 seconds for fast, efficient cleaning. In the "flush" position, the valve rises from the floor to provide total cleaning with the capability of delivering 4,000-6,000 gpm in a uniform sheet of water.

PARIS, Texas — Planning to construct a new dairy facility, freestall barn, or add new feed lanes to your existing dairy facility? Agpro's Superflush Valve provides one of the best flush cleaning systems available.

"One-touch" air operation provides precise control, with valve open times ranging from 20 to 30 seconds for fast, efficient cleaning. There were no exposed plumbing or tanks always in the way.

When the unit is not in use, the valve sets flush with the floor to allow cattle and vehicle passage (operators can even scrape over it in adverse weather conditions).

In the "flush" position, the valve rises from the floor to provide total cleaning with the capability of delivering 4,000-6,000 gallons per minute in a uniform sheet of water.

Egg Producers Demand More SE Research

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Northeast United Egg Producers (NUEP) recently released a list of "suggested research topics" and asked all private and public researchers and those controlling funding to put Salmonella Enteritidis (SE) at the top of their priorities.

From NUEP's headquarters in Washington, D.C., Al Wenger, SE spokesperson, said, "Although the incidence of SE outbreaks is low and usually involves handling abuse, producers don't want anyone to get sick from eating our product. We are willing to go to great lengths to control SE, but there are too many unknowns preventing us from getting ahead of the problem".

The producers strongly believe that the industry needs a better grasp of what's causing the disease and what the effects of measures such as refrigeration and competitive exclusion are. Many proposals brought forth are expensive to carry out and their effectiveness arguable.

For further information, contact Mac McLaurin, general manager, at (202) 296-8248.

Virginia Angus Breeders Compete At Show

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — The Rockingham County Fairgrounds in Harrisonburg was the site of the 29th Annual Virginia Angus Breeders Show, where exhibitors brought out 68 cattle to compete for championship honors.

Judge Cheryl Fulkerson, Sand Springs, Oklahoma, evaluated classes and picked champions in the divisions of bred-and-owned heifers, "owned" heifers, bred-and-owned bulls, steers, "owned" cow-calf pairs, and bred-and-owned cow-calf pairs.

D S Miss Victory 906 was his grand winner in the bred-and-owned heifer division. The heifer is a March 1989 daughter of R&J Taurus 1186.

Renatas Miss Liberty R601 was Bowman's champion mother in the cow-calf pair category. The March 1986 cow had an April calf sired by Grubbs MacKenzie at her side.

His third winner was in the "owned" heifer division. DS Miss Victory 906 was named the reserve grand champion. The March 1989 heifer is a daughter of R&J Taurus 1186.

The reserve grand champion bred-and-owned heifer was exhibited by Scott Updike, Washington, Virginia. His reserve winner was Pride Gal of Skyway Hill, an April 1989 daughter of Skyway Hills Big Time.

Updike also showed the grand champion "owned" cow-calf entry. The April 1987 cow is Pride of Skyway Hills, and she had twin April calves at her side.

Whitney Dalton, Altavista, paraded the grand champion "owned" heifer. The winner was Kruegers Bellona, a May 1989 daughter of Grubbs MacKenzie.

Among the bred-and-owned bull entries, Randolph Clary III, of Brodnax, walked away with the grand champion entry. A November 1989 son of Springfield Leadway 7246, the bull is A C Leading Man.

Paul Coleman Jr., Scottsville, displayed the reserve grand champion bred-and-owned bull. The bull is named P M C Albemarle 1540 and is a February 1990 son of Piedmont.

Andy McIntire, White Post, showed the grand champion steer. The steer was an Angus-cross and was calved March 1989. The reserve grand championship went to a registered Angus steer exhibited by Bryson Michael, Mt. Solon. The steer is a March 1989 son of Director W K 104K and is named Box L Director 9700.

Swine Salmonella Increases

WAYNE, N.J.— Salmonella-linked disease problems continue to surface in swine herds throughout major hog-producing states. Over the last several years, diagnostic labs in Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, and Minnesota have reported a significant number of salmonella cases.

Specialists in those states say most positive tests are linked to Salmonella choleraesuis, one of two forms of salmonella host-adapted to swine.

The first indication of on-farm presence of the systemic bacterial infection is often a sudden and high death loss in young pigs at or just past weaning age. Skin on the ears and abdomen may be discolored as well, but those visual signs are also typical of a number of other diseases. Therefore, diagnostic labs often play a key role in determining the presence of Salmonella choleraesuis.

The organism has plagued pork producers for more than a century. Mention of Salmonella choleraesuis can be traced back to 1885, when it was isolated during early studies of hog cholera in the U.S. Experts are somewhat baffled by the recent resurgence of the acute, systemic salmonella form.

"Ten years go, we usually saw enteric salmonella caused by Salmonella typhimurium," said Iowa State Extension veterinarian Dr. Jim McKean. "Now, the respiratory or systemic form, caused by Salmonella choleraesuis, is usually isolated. Unfortunately, the systemic form is more difficult to treat and more often fatal as well."

Paying close attention to certain management practices will help reduce the incidence of salmonella in hogs, said McKean. "Lowering the level of stress on hogs and providing proper nutrition, a clean environment, and adequate ventilation are all factors which reduce the susceptibility of herds to salemonella," McKean said.

Dr. George Beran, professor of veterinary preventive medicine at Iowa State University, agreed. "While no single factor is solely responsible for the increase of salmonella in hogs, environmental conditions and nutrition play a major role in the spread of the disease," he said.

Proper use of medicated feed may also help keep salmonella in check, said Beran. "Sulfa-containing feeds have been effectively used in the past to control bacterial diseases in swine," he said. "While the use of sulfas has declined because of concerns over residues, there is sufficient scientific evidence that this decrease closely parallels the increase in salmonella.

"When licensed, medicated feeds are used properly, they can be very effective in controlling diseases such as salmonella," he said. "However, producers should note that medicated feeds should only be used in conjunction with other preventive measures and not be viewed as a substitute for adequate sanitation and other methods of disease control. A combination of treatment plus the use of management practices is the best method to prevent the spread of salmonella.

Salmonella choleraesuis is transmitted primarily by host animals. Often, these animals appear healthy but will shed large quantities of the bacteria. When the disease is spread from sow to baby pigs, it is called "carrier sow syndrome." John Bush, veterinarian from Flora, IN, thinks carrier sows have caused problems for his clients.

"Sows who have once had salmonellosis and recovered can continue to shed the bacteria, most likely in the manure," said Bush. "The baby pigs pick up the disease from contact with the manure. Often these little pigs can handle the infection until they are stressed. Only after the stress of weaning or moving do you see the effects of the infection. While completely eliminating salmonella is not economically feasible, producers can definitely take steps to prevent the spread of the disease."

The use of a granulated medicated swine premix such as AUREO S•P 250® feed additive from American Cyanamid can aid in both prevention and treatment of diseases linked to Salmonella choleraesuis. Cyanamid recommends using the product, a combination of AUREOMYCIN® chlortetracycline, SULMET® sulfamethazine and penicillin, during the pre-starter and starter phases, when young pigs are most likely to suffer from Salmonella choleraesuis infection.

Md. Approves $2.6 Million To Preserve Farms

ANNAPOLIS, Md.— Governor William Donald Schaefer recently announced Board of Public Works approval of the purchase of agricultural preservation easements by the Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation on 11 parcels of land totaling more than 1,300 acres. The combined cost of the easements is $2.6 million.

Four of the parcels are in Carroll County, three each in Baltimore and Harford counties, and one in St. Mary's.

Chaired by the governor, the Board of Public Works also is comprised of Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer Lucille Maurer. The board is authorized by the General Assembly to approve major construction and consultant contracts, equipment purchases, property transactions, and other procurement actions.

"Our agricultural land preservation program continues to lead the nation. With these purchases today, we continue our commitment to maintain agriculture and a balanced economy in Maryland. The Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation is to be commended for its fine work," Schaefer said.

The Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation was created in 1977 to preserve agricultural land and woodland in order to provide sources of agricultural products within the state for its citizens, to control urban expansion, and to provide open space land.

Entry into the program requires the establishment of agricultural preservation districts. Landowners may volunteer to restrict their lands to agricultural use. Once included in a district, land may be eligible for protection through the sale of development rights to the foundation.

To date, Maryland has recorded 1,293 agricultural preservation districts exceeding a total of 181,076 acres. The state has secured perpetual easements on more than 82,000 of these acres, the highest amount of agricultural acreage protected in any state.

Attached is a listing of the owners of parcels for which agricultural preservation easements were approved for purchase.

Unloaders Have Improved Cutter Chain

DeKALB, Ill. — An improved line of cutter chains for Goliath brand forage unloaders has been announced by A.O. Smith Harvestore Products, Inc.

The new Wide-Side™ brand cutter chain is a significant improvement that increases strength around the critical bushing areas by up to 30 percent, resulting in longer potential bushing link life. This was accomplished by increasing the width of the chain's side bars to a full 1.5 inch.

"As the side bars of any cutter chain ride against the unloader cutter arm, the bars themselves eventually wear," said Don Landphair, product manager. "As the amount of material around the bushing is reduced, that area is weakened. The new Wide-Side bar puts extra material around the bushing, and that means that more wear can take place before strength is significantly affected."

The Wide-Side design is now standard on all cutter chains for the current Goliath II and are available for updating previous Goliath model 70 and 74 forage unloaders. These include the premium Olympic brand chain with stainless steel bushings and the standard chain with alloy steel bushings.

The new generation of Goliath cutter chains also features these additional improvements to enhance service life:

- Besides increased thickness, the side bars are now manufactured from nickel-chromium steel, resulting in more uniform hardness and greater ability to resist wear.
- Dimensional tolerances for bushings and side bar surfaces have been tightened, improving overall fit and yielding greater resistance to metal fatigue.
- On the Olympic brand chains, inside finish of the stainless steel bushing has been improved to reduce wear on both the inside surface of the bushings and the link pins.

AIC Approves Merger With NCFC

ST. PAUL, MN — Delegates attending the National Institute on Cooperative Education (NICE) this week unanimously approved the proposed merger of the American Institute of Cooperation (AIC) with the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives (NCFC).

Established in 1929, the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives is headquartered in Washington, D.C. It represents approximately 100 marketing, supply, and service cooperatives; 32 state councils of cooperatives; and member banks of the cooperative Farm Credit system. Its members, in turn, represent nearly 5,000 local cooperatives with a combined membership of nearly 2 million individual farmers.

The unanimous vote by AIC's delegates follows similar action taken by NCFC's board of directors at its June meeting in Washington, D.C.

As approved, the merger of AIC with NCFC will become effective January 1, 1991. During the interim, however, AIC's operations will be transferred to NCFC effective August 1, 1990.

AIC, which was established in 1925, has conducted education and training programs on behalf of cooperatives for 65 years.

"These programs will be maintained and strengthened," emphasized NCFC President Wayne Boutwell, "with the goal of building upon the success of AIC in meeting the education needs of cooperatives and their members."

To accomplish this goal, Boutwell said, NCFC will continue to work closely with individual members, state councils, universities, and government.

Chester Co. 4-H Dairy Roundup Success

KIMBERTON (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H Dairy Roundup was held at the Kimberton Fair grounds on Saturday, July 21, 1990. Four 4-H dairy clubs participated with 80 animals being shown by 36 members beginning at 10 a.m. This was an increase of 9 animals over last year and six 4-H'ers were first-year participants. 54 animals were selected to go on to the District Show at Kutztown, on August 24, 1990.

Doug Seipt, Holstein breeder from Easton, judged type for both the Ayrshire and Holstein Shows. Senior and Grand Champion Ayrshire honors went to Craig Nolan, Cochranville with his 4-yr.-old cow, Dreamnol Bell Ringing Evalyn. His brother, Brian Nolan captured both Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand Champion Ayrshire awards with a 3-yr.-old named Dreamnol Johnny's Carla. Kelly Lynn Young, West Grove showed a fine intermediate calf, Timberlawn Johnny's Satin, that was selected as Junior Champion and Kevin Nolan had the Reserve Junior Champion, Dreamnol Johnny's Snow, also an intermediate calf.

Senior and Grand Champion Holstein awards went to a Senior 2-yr.-old shown by Craig Nolan, Cochranville named PA-DOT Troy's Melody. Lauri Hicks, West Chester was close behind with the Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand Champion, Maplebound Steady Sherry, a Junior 2-yr.-old. Seipt picked an intermediate yearling heifer, Dreamnol Mandingo Dolly shown by Kevin Nolan, Cochranville as his Junior Champion Holstein and an intermediate calf, Garwood Beautician Pearl exhibited by Lauri Hicks as his Reserve Junior Champion.

Jed Beshore, Holstein breeder from New Cumberland, judged type for the Guernsey and the Jerseys. Leading a large, excellent quality Jersey show was Tiffany Yeager, Spring City with the Senior and Grand Champion, Agape Observer Shmad, a 4-year-old cow. Tonya Kozlowski, Downingtown captured the Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand Champion Jersey award with her Sr. 2-yr.-old, Top-O-Hill Admiral M.G. Valentine. Junior Champion honors went to Owen Bewley, West Chester with his Sr. Calf, Patrick Gemni Summer of SSF. Amy Hewitt was named the Reserve Junior Champion with Hewitts Magic Garnet, an Intermediate Calf.

event, was judged by Don Gable, Elverson Ayrshire breeder and Glenn Shirk, Lancaster County Dairy Agent. Champion First Year showman honors went to Robert Barr, Phoenixville while the Reserve Champion First Year showman was Justin Kurtz of Cochranville. Vicki Hewitt, Spring City captured the Champion First Year Fitter award and Erica Lloyd, Pottstown was named Reserve Champion First Year Fitter.

In the Junior division, under 14 year old, two brothers went head to head with Craig Nolan being named Junior Champion Showman/Fitter and Brian Nolan taking the Reserve ribbon. They are from Cochranville. The Senior Division was very competitive between four young ladies who have been showing for several years. Lauri Hicks, West Chester was selected as Senior Champion and Karen Sanner, Downingtown was Reserve Senior Champion Showman/Fitter. Both Gable and Shirk complimented the 4-H members on the excellent way they prepared and presented their animals in the show ring.

1. PREPARATION - High volume water blasting at 1,000 lb. pressure re-surfaces barn siding into a smooth (like new) appearance!
   a. Performed by professionals quickly at reasonable cost.
   b By yourself with your own or rented equipment.
   c. Or other more conventional methods.
2. APPLICATION - To insure better adherence to this super prepared surface, use the best fine bristle brush in four directions to evenly distribute the recommended mil thickness of seal coat coverage.
3. SPECIALIZATION - Every barn is different but generally it's best to use a high quality mildew resistant product, specially formulated to meet the requirements of this partially weathered wood that was and will be weather stressed.
4. WARNING - The modified oil latex is less effective as a wood preserver and actually increases nail & metal deterioration. Deal with home people. At their rates, I could double mine. Estimates Evaluations Latest Equip.

In-field tests during the White Challenge Days showed that White tractors had higher productivity and better fuel economy than competitors' models.

White Challenge Days Held At Manheim Farm

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — White Challenge Days were held at the Noah Kreider Dairy farm for two days, August 1 and 2.

The purpose was to show off the capabilities of new equipment that has been released by the White-New Idea Farm Equipment Company, Ohio.

Part of the company's display of new equipment included a contest between White's machinery and competitors' equipment.

Tom Mentzler, a manager of the company's technical training, said that the in-field tests introduce new equipment to their dealers, enable the dealers to test drive and see the results of the tests with their own eyes.

The company makes a major introduction of new equipment every two to three years. This year, White introduced a complete line designed for conservation tillage.

In one field test the White Model 160/160 was pitted against a Case 7130/172 and a John Deere 4755/172. With the same 11-foot disk chisel attached to each tractor, the same amount of gas, and the same distance to cover, the test showed that the White tractor outdistanced the competitors tractors in productivity and in fuel economy.

To complete the same amount of work, it would take a White 8 days using 48.40 gallons of fuel a day; a Case 9 days using 58.20 gallons of fuel daily, and a Deere 11 days using 56.10 gallons of fuel daily.

White Challenge Days have been held in five sites across the states. "We look for leading farmers in the area. Sites need acreage to carry on the tests.

At the Manheim farm, tests were carried out in 30 acres of the 40 acre plot allowable for the tests. About 60 dealers from Maine to Virginia participated in the two-day event.

Control Sediment Pollution

DANVILLE (Montour Co.) — What is sediment pollution? Sediment pollution is mud out of place. It is a product of earthmoving activities by man which lead to accelerated erosion and soil loss. When this moving soil enters our waters, sediment pollution occurs.

Excessive quantities of soil in our water causes damage to aquatic species of fish and vegetation. The delicate breathing mechanisms of fish are clogged by the fine silt suspended in the water.

Montour County landowners must have an Erosion and Sedimentation Pollution Control Plan approved by the conservation district prior to any earth-moving. This plan must be prepared by someone knowledgeable in the implementation of erosion control measures and devices. The publication, "Small Project: Erosion Control Guide," is available at the Montour Conservation District Office to assist in the E&S preparation.

Clean, safe water is everyone's responsibility. If you notice sediment pollution occuring somewhere, please call us at (717) 271-1140 so that we may help in resolving the problem.

National FFA Convention Set For November

ALEXANDRIA, VA — Plans are under way for the 63rd national FFA convention Nov. 8-10, in Kansas City, Missouri.

More than 23,000 FFA members, advisors, supporters, and guests representing 50 states, Washington D.C., Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands are expected to attend.

The convention culminates the FFA year. Those in attendance will witness the recognition of the organization's outstanding members and supporters. State delegates representing 386,832 members will consider items of business affecting the future of the organization.

Outstanding members will be recognized in 29 agricultural proficiency award areas and in 10 judging and skill competitions. During the Friday afternoon session, 1,056 members will receive the organization's highest degree, the American FFA degree. Two of those degree recipients will be named the Star Farmer and the Star Agribusinessman of America. Top chapters will be recognized for excellence in safety, community development, and chapter activities. Winners will also be named in the computers in agriculture, agriscience teacher of the year, and agriscience student recognition programs.

"The national convention is a time for 23,000 excited, young people to come to Kansas City and take part in a learning-by-doing educational process with agricultural leaders," said Donnell Brown, national FFA president. "Agriculture today offers young people more career opportunities than ever, and FFA members can learn about many of them right here."

Larry D. Case, national FFA advisor, said, "The national FFA convention is one of the best teaching tools we have. FFA members go to Kansas City and learn about the hundreds of opportunities available to them. They come home with new goals in mind, ready to take on the world."

Keynote speakers include high school principal Joe Clark, subject of the film "Lean on Me," and Fred McClure, special assistant to President George Bush. Also scheduled to appear at this year's convention are Amway President Rich DeVos and motivational speakers Zig Ziglar and W. Mitchell.

Six student agricultural leaders elected at the 1989 convention will direct the week's activities. They are Donnell Brown, national president, Throckmorton, Texas; Scott Crouch, national secretary, Cicero, Indiana; Bill Henricksen, central region vice president, DeWitt, Iowa; Casey Isom, western region vice president, Fruitland, Idaho; Brad Lewis, southern region vice president, Elkmont, Alabama; and Dan Schroer, eastern region vice president, New Bremen, Ohio.

The 1991 theme, "FFA—Leadership for a Growing Planet" will be premiered at the convention. The new theme focuses on FFA's role in preparing young people to face the agricultural and environmental challenges of a growing population.

The National FFA Alumni Convention and the National Agricultural Career Show are scheduled in conjunction with the FFA convention. They are held in H. Roe Bartle Hall, located adjacent to the Municipal Auditorium.

Poultry Health, Condemnations Meeting Set

OCEAN CITY, Md. — The 25th national meeting on poultry health and condemnations, sponsored by the Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. (DPI), will be held here October 18-19, 1990.

This nationally acclaimed meeting is expected to attract more than 600 poultry industry leaders from throughgout America. There are concurrent sessions on live production topics and processing subjects.

The general session's theme is food safety, with presentations on "The Consumer and Food Safety," Ann Collins Chadwick, office of the consumer advisor, United States Department of Agriculture; "Broiler and Breeder Responsibility In Food Safety," Dr. Frank T. Jones, department of poultry science, North Carolina State University; and "Processor Responsibility in Food Safety," Dr. James H. Whitmore, vice president, research and quality assurance, Tyson Foods, Inc.

Topics during the grow-out session are varied. They are "Breeder Vaccination for Newcastle Disease and It's Impact on Broiler Performance," "Newcastle Disease Virus Vaccination of Broilers," "Use of Enterovax in Broilers," "IBD-CAA Update," "Fingerprinting IBD in Delmarva Broiler Flocks," "Environmental Factors Affecting Enteropathogens in Feed and Feed Mills," "Salmonella Enteritidis Control in the Northern Ireland Poultry Industry," "Salmonella Control in Grow-Out," "Salmonella Monitoring of Poultry Growing Facilities," "The Big Challenge Remains: Disease," "Interaction of Coccidiosis with Other Diseases," "Coccidiostat Toxicities," "Computer-Assisted Image Analysis: Current and Future Applications in Poultry Health," and "Recent Investigations of Delmarva Disease Problems."

Again this year, the processing session will take place on both days of the meeting. The session will begin with a panel discussion on water reuse followed by presentations on "Evaluation of Coops, Compartmentalized Cages and The Drawer Method on Downgrading and Condemnation Factors," "Foreign and Domestic New Equipment Concepts," "Plant Procedures for Extending Shelf Life," "Potential of Irradiation for Domestic and Foreign Sales," "FSIS Two-Year HACCP Study Update," "Identifying Occupational Hazards in Poultry Plants," a three-member panel discussion on "Best Methods of Prevention and Treatent of Repetitive Motion Disorders," "Poultry Plant Waste Management Guidelines," and a five-member USDA inspection panel presentation.

Speakers will come from 11 states, the District of Columbia, and Northern Ireland. They were selected by DPI's Poultry Health Committee and Processing Committee. The meeting is chaired by Dr. Edwin M. Odor, chairman of DPI's Poultry Health Committee, and poultry pathologist/senior scientist at the University of Delaware Research and Education Center near Georgetown, Delaware.

Further information can be obtained by contacting DPI at (302) 856-9037 or R.D. 2, Box 47, Georgetown, DE 19947-9622.

LVNB Holds Beef Roast For Customers

These farm women and children enjoy a desert of ice cream after finishing a meal of roast beef sandwhich, corn on the cob, and macaroni salad or coleslaw at the Lebanon Valley National Bank Beef Roast, held at Green Dragon Farmers Market last week. The bank held the picnic-style event for their customers and prospective customers. More than 300 farmers and agri-business people were in attendance. The beef was prepared by Fred Frey, an Angus cattle breeder from Quarryville. Albert B. Murry, president and C.E.O. of LVNB addressed the crowd, announcing the upcoming opening of their 16th branch in Elizabethtown on August 20. Murry also said that LVNB is committed to agricultural lending and will continue to be. To illustrate that committment, Mike Firestine, senior agriculture lending officer, told the crowd about a new program the bank created for first-time farmers. Called "Farm Start," the program is designed to give the young farmer a break when he really needs it, such as for crops needs, livestock or farm machinery. Under the program, the young farmer will receive an interest rate of ½ percent below the lowest rate offered for agricultural lending. The program also allows a 6-month deferment on payment of loan principal on a loan for more than five years.

Get Involved In Chesapeake Bay Program

DANVILLE (Montour Co.) — With the awareness of conservation practices and their importance to our environment, more and more farmers are becoming involved with the programs made available to them.

One program is the Chesapeake Bay Program. This program offers the farmer a chance to reduce excessive nutrient problems on their farms and to also better manage their fertilizer applications, which then results in savings to the farmer in fertilizer bills.

The Chesapeake Bay Program offers 80 percent cost-share on best management practices. These are conservation practices used to help reduce soil erosion and excessive nutrient flow into the waters of the commonwealth. Also included are manure storage structures and nutrient management plans, which utilize the available manure on the farm and spread it when most needed.

Currently in Montour County there are 13 sign-ups and seven signed contracts. There are three manure structures in operation which were cost-shared through the Chesapeake Bay Program and two in design stage. We also have an Intensive Grazing System Project in the final stages of design.

Baseball, Ice Cream, Chocolate Milk And Cow Milking

TOWSON, MD — "Take me out to the ballgame. Take me out to the crowd. Buy me some ice cream and chocolate milk. . ."

For one night in the 1990 baseball season the words to that song were changed thanks to the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association, local dairy promotion groups, Pennsylvania and Maryland Dairy Princesses, and four minor league baseball teams in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

This is the fourth year that MAMMA has joined with minor league teams to promote the dairy industry and enhance the sale of all dairy products. MAMMA's minor league marketing events featured free cold chocolate milk and samples of giant banana splits and sundaes built at the stadiums. Also, youngsters and adults received 7,000 high-quality equipment bags imprinted with the team logo, the MAMMA logo, and "Milk. It Does A Body Good." The popular celebrity cow-milking contests entertained more than 20,000 baseball fans via dairy nights with the Reading Phillies Harrisburg Senators, Frederick Keys and the Hagerstown Suns.

Minor league baseball is proving to be an excellent promotional vehicle for milk and other dairy products as it is a growing sport gaining popularity as a family attraction. Although minor league players may not be making headlines, minor league baseball is, among the fans anyway. These farm teams are way ahead of the big leagues when it comes to the growth in attendance figures.

Sports Illustrated, devoted a recent issue to minor league baseball calling it a "staple of Americana for many years."

"The minors . . . are offering good, clean, relatively inexpensive fun and food for the whole family. They are giving towns a sense of civic pride and providing them with their own piece of Americana. They are giving fans an opportunity to spend some time with their neighbors . . ."

The Reading Phillies nearly doubled their attendance from 99,000 in 1987 to 182,000 in 1989. Attendance at the Harrisburg Senators games hit 200,000 last year. In Maryland, the Hagerstown Suns and Frederick Keys have experienced similar growth.

Stretching the dairy farmer's dollar is what marketing events are all about. The minor league promotions take dairy products directly to consumers and show them that dairy products, in addition to be nutrient rich, are the foods to eat when having a good time. The equipment bags serve as a constant reminder that drinking milk builds strong bones and healthy bodies.

Invitations for repeat performances have already been extended to MAMMA from the four minor league teams. In response to the July 27, Dairy Promotion night with Harrisburg Senators, Rick Redd, Senators General Manager says, "The fans

At MAMMA's recent dairy night with the Harrisburg Senators, first in line for samples of some of Pennsylvania's finest dairy products is the Commonwealth's Secretary of Agriculture, Boyd Wolff. State Dairy Princess Anna Marie Mitchell, of Berks County, scoops up samples of the giant banana split built by the local dairy promotion groups and Pennsylvania's Dairy Princesses.

Look For The Dots, Then Spray

DAUPHIN (Dauphin Co.) — "If it builds a dirty white silk tent, don't expect to be part of next spring's Gypsy Moth Suppression Program," said Duayne Forsberg of the Dauphin County Conservation District.

Forsberg coordinates the Department of Environmental Resources Gypsy Moth Suppression Program for the county of Dauphin as a cooperative effort of state and county governments. A short course on entomology is presented here by Forsberg to assist homeowners to control the insect order Lepidoptera, butterflies, and moths during their leaf-eating caterpillar, larvae stage. He emphasizes that the gypsy moth is the only leaf-eating insect that is the target of a state-administered spraying program.

The gypsy moth has its own distinctive coloration. Hatching in late April, they are ⅛ inch of black hairy fuzz. A full grown larva is 1½ to 2½ inches long with a sooty black body under its long tufts of hair. "Look for the dots" on their back is a double row of five pairs of dark blue spots followed by a double row of six pairs of brick red dots. Gypsy moths do not construct silk tents in trees.

Hatching about the same time as the gypsy moth but with a faster rate of growth is the forest tent caterpillar. "Unlike its name, this critter does not build a tent. They lay down a path way. It's more of an open silken mat on tree branches where they congregate to rest." Reaching a mature length of 2 to 2½ inches, these almost hairless caterpillars are a slate blue color with footprint shaped white spots along their backs. The foliage of aspen, sugar maple, gum, and oak are their preferred sources of food.

"The clowns of the Lepidoptera order are the eastern tent caterpillar and the fall webworm. Both of these caterpillars can turn trees into a circus by constructing large white silk tents in them."

Eastern tent caterpillars hatch almost simultaneously with the gypsy moth and the forest tent caterpillar. Look for a continuous white stripe down the full length of the back to identify this species. Maturing at 2 to 2½ inches in length, their lightly haired black body is bordered on each side by a broken reddish brown line. Wild cherry and apple foliage are their most sought after food. In most occurrences, their dirty grass-filled tents are more unsightly than harmful to trees. However, in high numbers, they could cause damage to host trees.

Fall webworms are a gypsy moth look-a-like. In August, these caterpillars feed mostly on ash, black walnut, hickory, and oak foliage. At a full growth of 1½ to 2 inches, they are covered with long gray hairs and are a pale yellow, brown, or off-green in body color. Their tents are not as dense as the eastern tent caterpillars, but are larger, sometimes two to three feet in length.

Fall webworms, forest tent and the eastern tent caterpillars can be controlled by the homeowner using insecticides. Forsberg said, "Any lawn and garden center would stock various insecticides, ranging from bacterial to chemical." He suggests reading each product's label for its abilities to control tree leaf eating insects and to follow all directions and safety precautions.

LEADERSHIP AT WORK

Harrisburg's Riverside Stadium hosted the popular cow milking contest recently to honor Pennsylvania's dairy farmers. Sue Beshore (left) and June Boyer (right) of York steady a beautiful Holstein as some rather unsteady hands learn a new way to get milk when it's not in a carton. PA Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff umpired the event. Beshore's 6-year-old daughter, Angie, (background) wonders why cow milking is getting so much attention.

just love this. They love the cow milking contest and the ice cream. It's great."

Chocolate milk for the minor league dairy promotions were provided by Lenkerbrook Farms of Camp Hill, Pa.; Clover Farms of Reading and Dairy Maid Dairies of Frederick, Md. Ice cream for the giant sundaes and banana splits were supplied by Penn Dairies of Lancaster, Hershey Ice Cream of Hershey, and Green's All-Star Dairy of York.

The Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association is the dairy farmer funded and directed agency, responsible for promoting milk and other dairy products in the Mid-Atlantic area through research, education, advertising, merchandising, and publicity.

P.S. Owners Note:

This is a top, top herd of dairy cows. A home raised herd with very good udders and the cattle are extremely dairy. They are of high quality throughout. Herd has been culled very hard, a very low bacteria and C.C. count. Cows have good size and are milking up to 100 pounds daily. This herd is not on official test, they produced over $200,000.00 worth of milk last year. It has been a closed herd for the past several years. Herd has not been pushed for production. It is a herd that has a lot of potential. Mr. farmer if you need a good cow come to this dispersal.
